G. O. P. DODGES ISSUE, CHARGE BY ROOSEVELT

ENTHUSIASTIC 12,000 WELCOME CANDIDATE

Senator Johnson Responds in Kind to Praise by Democratic Leader.

Civic Auditorium, San Francisco, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Speaking in the huge Civic Auditorium in which he was nominated for Vice President twelve years ago, Franklin D. Roosevelt tonight assailed the Republican leadership as one that has failed to cope with the country's problems or to permit the issues of the campaign to be joined.

While 12,000 persons cheered, the Democratic presidential candidate outlined his proposals for dealing with the railroad, farm and public utilities questions. His speech, the second of the day, preceded his departure for Los Angeles on a journey that will take him past the home of President Hoover at Palo Alto.

A little earlier he had said it was the job of government to help business develop an economic declaration of rights.

Praised by Senator Johnson.

His economy message was delivered in a hotel dining room to the members of the Commonwealth Club. The nominee said the responsible heads of finance and industry should work together in the common interest, the Government holding the check-rein "not to hamper individualism, but to protect it."

The afternoon, too, had seen him in many conferences, among his visitors being A. P. Giannini and W. F. Morrish, officials of the Bank of America. Another visitor was Isadore Dockweiler, former Democratic national committeeman for California and a supporter of Alfred E. Smith in the preconvention campaign.

The day also had brought him the reaction of Senator Hiram Johnson, California's outstanding independent Republican, to Mr. Roosevelt's high praise of the senator yesterday at Sacramento. Senator Johnson said the attitude of the Democratic nominee was "in sharp contrast with that Mr. Hoover has maintained toward progressivism and progressives in California."

Auditorium Is Packed.

The crowd had filled virtually every seat in the auditorium an hour before the arrival of Mr. Roosevelt and large groups were clustered about the entrances seeking vainly to gain admittance.

The auditorium seats 12,000. Every seat in the spacious balcony that runs around three sides of the vast hall under the frescoes of the hills, the Santa Clara Valley, clipper ships and the Pacific fleet steaming in through the Golden Gate, was filled. Bleachers had been erected on each side of the stage and these, too, were packed.

Outside a thick fog swirled around Twin Peaks, The Golden Gate,

Mrs. Borah Better; Recovery Is Seen

More Serum Is Ordered in Case Senator's Wife Suffers Relapse.

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Except for possible complications, the chances for Mrs. William E. Borah to recover from the attack of psittacosis or parrot fever were reported today by her physicians as good and increasing.

Her temperature was normal early in the day, but rose slightly later, a condition which the attending physician, Dr. Ralph Falk, said was expected.

Serum sent by air mail from the U. S. Public Health Service in Washington will arrive early tomorrow morning and an additional supply was ordered today for use in case the wife of Idaho's senior senator suffers a relapse.

Tennessee G. O. P. Chief Kills Self in Hotel Room

Plain Dealing, La., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—J. T. Hester, Republican leader of Tennessee and a delegate to the last national convention of the party in Chicago, was shot to death in a hotel room here today and police termed it suicide.

Other guests heard a shot and ran to his room to find him dying with a bullet wound in his forehead. A farewell note bearing his signature said he had decided on suicide because of financial worries. His home was at Huntington, Tenn.

40-HOUR WEEK GETS U. S. CHAMBER HELP

Directors Also Vote Against Paying Soldiers' Bonus Before Maturity.

(Associated Press.)

Approval of the 44-hour week in industry and opposition to payment of the soldiers' bonus before maturity, in 1945, were voted yesterday by the directorate of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Action was taken on the five-day week and eight-hour day soon after President Hoover had sought through Henry Harriman, president of the chamber, to align it squarely behind efforts to decrease unemployment and speed up business momentum.

Harriman said the President had asked the chamber's aid for special business and industrial committees in boosting employment, speeding railroad purchases and otherwise giving impetus to business, which Harriman reported "is picking up."

The chamber's head said, "There are signs of improvement in many sections, but we are not sure how long this sweep will last." He described the Midwest as "the sore spot."

"In New England we have 100,000 textile workers on the job who were not working two months ago," Harriman said. "The electric power business is a good indication, and September will show more business there than in the same period last year.

"Texas is happier and Southern California is doing more business than heretofore.—For the first time in two years sales of real estate are picking up in Southern California. The Midwest is the sore spot, but that will get better, too."

Walter C. Teagle, chairman of the committee formed by representatives of the various Federal Reserve districts to ease credit, sat as a member of the chamber's board.

Approving the shortened work week to increase employment, the board limited the time it would be operative under its plan to "the present emergency of excessive unemployment."

While discussing other means of spreading work among more men, the board made no specific recommenda-

Cutting Quits Post On G.O.P. Committee

Albuquerque, N. Mex., Sept. 23 (U.P.).—United States Senator Bronson Cutting, of New Mexico, resigned tonight as Republican national committeeman from New Mexico.

His resignation came after the faction of the party long led by the senator was defeated at the State convention in seating delegates.

Albert Simms, husband of Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick Simms, was boomed to take Cutting's place.

PINCHOT SAYS LOAN OF R.F.C. IS INADEQUATE

Will Not Accept Advance Unless He Can Spend It as He Wants.

LIMITING CASH TO 3 COUNTIES OPPOSED

Pennsylvania Governor Aims New Attack at Pomerene; Wants $10,000,000.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Gov. Pinchot today branded as "totally inadequate" for the State's relief need the $2,500,000 advanced by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to Philadelphia, Allegheny and Northampton Counties and indicated that, if he accepts the money, he will spend it as he chooses and not be governed "by the dictates" of the board.

He cited the congressional act creating the corporation and declared that it directed payment of relief money to a governor but conferred no powers whatever upon the board to limit him to spending it in particular counties.

The statement marked another step in Pinchot's two-month controversy with the corporation in his effort to get at least $10,000,000 Federal aid at once. He has asserted that the R. F. C. was starving thousands of hungry in Pennsylvania by "needless delay" and demands for "useless statistics."

Charges Exchanged.

During the last two days former Senator Atlee Pomerene and Pinchot have each declared that the other falsely represented their position in relation to the loan.

In announcing the State's first advance last night, Pomerene declared that "if there has been any failure to grant relief to the poor and distressed of Pennsylvania, the fault lies with the governor and the legislature of that great State and not with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation." Other loans, he said, would be forthcoming, "if, when and as the information required is presented," adding, "any statement to the contrary, no matter by whom made, is not true."

Stand of Pinchot.

Pinchot today said: "Senator Pomerene falsely stated the situation as other representatives of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation had previously done."

It is believed at the capital that there is a question in Pinchot's mind whether the legislature's act empowering the State to accept Federal aid gives him the authority to accept money for use in a few counties, when his plea was made for all 67 counties.

The R. F. C. stated it is holding up award of relief money to Pennsylvania because State officials have not forwarded certain specific infor-

Cafeterias in Federal Buildings Are Upheld

Shannon Says He Ate in Baltimore Postoffice, Despite Ban.

(Associated Press.)

Vigorous defense of cafeterias in Federal buildings on the ground they are indispensable to employes, was voiced yesterday before the House committee investigating Government competition.

John W. Philp, Fourth Assistant Postmaster General, told the committee which is after the life of Government restaurants that all cafeterias in Federal buildings were put there as the express request of the employes and involved no Government maintenance whatever.

Cafeterias proposed in new Government buildings, he added, were authorized specifically by Congress. He announced his own department had issued in an order a strict ban against the use of the cafeterias by other than Government employes.

Representative Shannon (Democrat), Missouri, chairman of the committee, called attention to the promise of the Baltimore postmaster to ban outsiders from the cafeteria in the new building in that city, but he said he had gone into the eating place unmolested and without inquiry since that order.

Shannon also called Philp's attention to the complaint of Minnesota retail grocers against a grocery store in the Minneapolis postoffice.

"I have heard nothing of such a complaint," replied Philp. "If the complaint had been sent here it would have been investigated, and if there is a grocery store in the building it would have been closed."

Representative Rich (Republican), Pennsylvania, announced that he and Representative Shannon had taken a pledge to use every influence to block any more appropriations for cafeterias in new Federal buildings.

DRIVE IN KENTUCKY OPENED BY CURTIS

Asks Support of Hoover in Slump Like Help to President in War.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—A plea for the people of the United States to support the President in a time of depression as they do during a war was made here tonight by Vice President Charles Curtis as he and Representative Maurice H. Thatcher made their second speeches of the day in opening the Republican campaign in Kentucky.

Thatcher is the Republican senatorial nominee. Both speakers, addressing a crowd of several thousand, termed the present economic condition a world-wide one and Curtis drew applause when he said that when the Spanish War started men of all parties forgot politics and "in Congress only one man voted against giving President McKinley full authority to carry the war to a successful conclusion. Democrats just as wholeheartedly as Republicans." During the World War, he said, a 72 per cent Republican vote was cast to aid President Wilson's war measures and a 67 per cent Democratic vote.

"In times of war and in times of depression," Curtis continued, "the people of the United States put patriotism above politics, and for this reason we were the last nation to feel the effects of this world-wide depression and will be the first to recover."

Thatcher told the audience the majority of Democrats were "as patriotic as Republicans," but said that "for

Troops Guard Men As Mines Reopen

Strikers Taunt Workers as Digging Resumes in Illinois Fields.

Taylorville, Ill., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Loud-voiced opposition from striking pickets was silenced by tear gas and threatening bayonets of national guardsmen today as coal mining was resumed in Christian County.

Not a shot was fired by the 160 troopers who escorted workers to and from the No. 9 mine of the Peabody Coal Co. at nearby Langleyville. The strikers, opposed to the lowered wage agreement between operators and the United Mine Workers, crowded along the routes to the mine and shouted their dissatisfaction but no violence was encountered.

Capt. Carl Meacham, of Decatur, commanding one machine gun troop and two companies of infantry, said he feared reprisals tonight on the homes of men who worked today and his troops patrolled the streets in readiness to squelch any disorder.

Election Called to Pick Successor to Waterman

Denver, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Gov. W. H. Adams late today called a special election to select a United States senator to succeed the late Charles W. Waterman in connection with the general election November 8.

The Republican State central committee designated Karl C. Schuyler (Republican) candidate for the term starting March 4, as a candidate for the unexpired term of Waterman. The Democratic central committee is expected to name that party's candidate.

RAIL MERGER PLAN IS NEARER REALITY

Executives of Four Eastern Lines Reach Accord; Stocks Rise.

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Executives of the Eastern trunk line railroads announced after a long session today that they had reached an accord on the modified plan recently approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission for consolidating all carriers in this territory into four major systems.

A brief statement issued after the meeting said the heads of the four systems—New York Central, Pennsylvania, Chesapeake & Ohio and Baltimore & Ohio—had "agreed and composed" all differences between themselves arising from the plan. It was added that the plan did not include the New England lines except the Boston & Albany Railroad, leased to New York Central, and that the question was not considered. This referred to the Pennsylvania's directly or indirectly owned holdings of New York, New Haven & Hartford, and Boston & Maine, which the Commerce Commission ruled should be disposed of by the Pennsylvania as a condition to fulfillment of its merger plan.

Despite the failure of the executives to supply details of the "differences" on which agreement was reached, railroad circles were inclined to regard the results of the session as a long step forward in the tortuous path leading to actual unification. The stock market also reflected this opinion, as leading rail stocks, after showing strength through most of the session, closed $1 to $2 a share higher in anticipation of developments at the meeting.

Railroad circles have understood that the differences which were finally ironed out today related principally to the Interstate Commerce Commission's awards of trackage rights among the four trunk lines, and to the divided allocation of some of the smaller roads to the trunk lines.

Gossip in railroad circles had said that each of the trunk lines had some complaint over the trackage rights granted it under the commission's plan, and the executives in the course of their meetings over the past two months had devoted considerable time to a solution of these problems.

Minnesota Bank Robbed of $35,000

Bandits Kidnap Two Employes and Escape; Plane Hunt Fails.

Redwood Falls, Minn., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Bandits who came into the home county of Minnesota's only flying sheriff today kidnaped two bank employes and fled with $35,000. The captives, taken from the State Bank and Trust Co. offices by five men, were freed 2 miles from here, unharmed.

After the money had been stuffed into bags they carried, the bandits ordered Cashier A. F. Hassenstad and his secretary, Miss Mona Leavens, outside. They were forced to stand on the running boards of the fleeing car, to discourage possible gun play by pursuers. Not a shot was fired during the raid.

Sheriff L. J. Kise, immediately ordered his airplane into the search, but the pilot was unable to pick up the trail.

Gandhi Reported Sinking After 82 Hours' Starving

Suffers Nausea and His Voice Weakens; Caste Hindus and "Untouchables" Go to Prison to Get His Advice on Their Negotiations.

Poona, India, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Disquieting news that the Mahatma M. K. Gandhi had taken a sharp turn for the worse came from Yeroda Jail tonight after the Nationalist leader had gone for 82 hours without food in protest against the electoral system devised for Indian Legislatures by the British government.

The mahatma was afflicted with nausea and giddiness. His voice was becoming more feeble and it was with difficulty that he kept his eyes open. Physically he was distinctly weaker.

The news of his condition resulted in a sudden frightened dash to the jail on the part of political leaders representing the caste Hindus and the "untouchables," who were conferring about an electoral scheme of their own in the hope it might prove acceptable to the mahatma.

The particular point in the British electoral scheme to which the mahatma objected is the establishment of separate electorates for the depressed classes. The representatives of the "untouchables" and the caste Hindus had reached a point when they went to the prison tonight at which the mahatma's advice was imperative.

The feeble and wasted mystic received them, heard their stories and made suggestions of his own. The meeting took place under a mango tree in the prison yard and lasted 40 minutes. The negotiations will be resumed tomorrow.

CHACO PEACE TURNED DOWN BY PARAGUAY

Reiteration of Previous Stand Is Answer to Neutrals.

REPLY NOT YET SENT BY BOLIVIA TO NOTE

League Council Is Planning to Dispatch Committee to Scene of Fighting.

Asuncion, Paraguay, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—A foreign office statement today said Paraguay insists upon the views it has expressed considering the Bolivian proposal for immediate cessation of hostilities in the Gran Chaco.

The statement, issued in reply to a note from the American neutrals commission in Washington, said Paraguay adheres to the viewpoints which were criticized by the Bolivian government.

(Associated Press.)

A call for immediate, unconditional truce between Bolivia and Paraguay in their conflict over the Chaco area, has been dispatched by Francis White, chairman of the neutral nations' peace commission.

Notes Sent 2 Countries.

He made known yesterday that identic notes were sent Thursday night to the two countries, asserting that if one or both really desire that hostilities be halted, "there is no excuse for requiring that conditions of the kind indicated to the neutrals be a sin quo non for the restoration of peace."

The notes said that as soon as both nations accept unconditional termination of hostilities and negotiations for arbitration of their differences are initiated, a delegation will be sent to the Chaco by the commission of neutrals "to verify the effective termination of hostilities."

"The commission," continued the notes, "informs the parties that if its delegation advises it that one of them has violated the engagement to terminate the struggle, the commission of neutrals will declare that such country is the aggressor and will suggest that all the governments of America withdraw their diplomatic and consular representatives from that country."

Stand on Fighting.

The notes pointed out also that continuance of the struggle by one nation while the other is seeking to halt the fighting "will mean that it is using force as an instrument of its national policy in its relations with that other country, which is absolutely contrary to the declaration of the American nations of August 3 last."

Besides White, who is Assistant Secretary of State, the notes were signed by the Ministers of Uruguay

Judge, Target for Bomb, Reveals Shotgun Threat

Chicago, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Judge John P. McGoorty, whose home was a target of bombers Tuesday, revealed tonight he had received a threatening letter stating that "what the bomb failed to do, shotguns will do," and requested a police guard for his home. Judge McGoorty said he received the letter yesterday, but delayed until today turning it over to the detective bureau.

Police investigation of the bombing centered about William Daniels, arrested after he allegedly had tried to dispose of thirteen and one-half sticks of dynamite. The explosive was found hidden in a house where he said he had placed it.

LEAGUE FACES VITAL ORIENT ROW TODAY

Delegates Startled as Topic of Manchukuo Is Put Forward on Calendar.

Geneva, Sept. 23 (U.P.).—A crisis in the life of the League of Nations threatened tonight when it became known that the League Council will launch into a discussion of the Manchurian problem when it meets tomorrow.

Previously it had been understood the Sino-Japanese dispute would be passed over to a future date, thus prolonging a struggle that may become one of the most bitter in league annals.

Japan's request for a six-week postponement of discussion of the Lytton commission's report on Far Eastern conditions had been placed at the end of the council's agenda. But with a suddenness that startled even some of the delegates, the Manchurian question was shifted into first place, insuring that it will be taken up at 11 a. m. tomorrow.

Indications are that the Japanese request for a postponement will be granted, but with the matter formally under discussion, it appeared inevitable that Dr. W. W. Chen, the Chinese delegate, will take advantage of the opportunity to fire a broadside at Japan.

It is almost a foregone conclusion that Dr. Chen will attack Japanese recognition of Manchukuo in tomorrows session, and that repercussions may be forthcoming immediately.

Actual discussion of the Lytton report probably will be put over to November, when a special league assembly may be called to consider the Manchruian problem.

It is quite generally understood that the Lytton report, already in the hands of league officials, will question Japan's rights in Manchuria.

The independent state of Manchukuo, as Manchuria is now called, was snubbed by the league today when Sir Eric Drummond, secertary general of the league, informed the Manchukuo government of his inability to circulate two telegrams from Manchukuo detailing the customs treaty and the Japanese protocol of recognition.

The Manchurian question was not discussed at the opening session of the council, presided over by Eamon De Valera, president of the Irish Free State.

Representative Stafford Defeated by Progressive

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Complete figures in the Fifth Congressional District, canvassed today by the election commission, gave Joseph A. Padway, Progressive Republican, a lead of 234 votes over Representative W. H. Stafford, Conservative, for the Republican nomination.

Stafford had maintained a slight lead until the four missing precincts were counted.

Japanese Fliers Start Hop To Alaska and California

Weather Is Favorable as Three Airmen Begin Transpacific Good-Will Trip; Plan to Refuel at Nome, Then Continue to San Francisco.

Nemuro Japan, Saturday, Sept. 24 (U.P.). — The Junkers monoplane, Hochi Nichibei, passed over here at 9:06 a. m. (7:06 p. m. Friday, E. S. T.) today. If its speed were maintained at the present rate, it would reach Nome in about 31 hours. Headwinds which had retarded progress were decreasing.

Samushiro, Japan, Saturday, Sept. 24 (A.P.).—A good will plane sponsored by the Newspaper Hochi Shimbun took off this morning for Nome, Alaska, en route to San Francisco. The take-off was at 5:35 a. m. (3:35 p. m. Friday, Eastern standard time).

Three hours after its departure from Samushiro, famous transpacific jump-off point in northern Japan, the plane was flying steadily northease toward Nome in good weather.

At 7:20 a. m. the ship passed Cape Erimo, on Yezo or Hokkaido, the northernmost island of Japan. Subsequently it communicated with the Ochiishi radio station asking for the latest weather reports from the Bering Sea region.

The plane carried fuel for 40 hours' flying and the fliers hoped to cover the 2,670 miles to Nome in a little more than 30 hours.

Their best cruising speed is about 85 miles an hour and without mishap they should arrive in Nome before 5 p. m. Saturday, Alaska time (10 p. m. Eastern standard time). Thus they should make a daylight landing.

Although the airmen were deter-

SPEIDEL CLAIMS HE IS INNOCENT IN GIRL'S DEATH

Three-Hour Grill Fails to Shake Story Before Kin of Victim.

TWO NOTES FOUND INCREASE MYSTERY

Postal Clerk Is Being Held Pending Inquest Set for Monday.

A three-hour grilling last night failed to shake the story of George B. Speidel, 30-year-old amateur artist, that Miss Sylvia Rochkin, artist model at the Corcoran School of Art and George Washington University Art School, came to her death while he slept in the houseboat, where they lived.

During the questioning by homicide detectives, Speidel was confronted by Mrs. Laura Kramer and Benjamin Rochkin, sister and brother of the 23-year-old artist's model and school teacher. None of the three made any comment in each other's presence.

In all essential particulars a four-page typewritten statement made by Speidel to Capt. Bernard Thompson and Detectives John C. Dalglish tallied with his earlier statements in the case.

Speidel reviewed the period of his relationship with the dead girl which dated back to last May, when they met in the Corcoran Art Gallery. Since then, he said, they had been living together as man and wife, and "we were very happy together."

"Asleep When She Died."

Asked directly by Detective Sergt. Dalglish, whether he had garroted the girl, he replied: "I did not. I was asleep when she died." For the last few days, he told police, the girl had been overwrought and nervous, presumably from the effects of an illegal operation performed three months ago.

On only one occasion, however, he said, did they discuss suicide. That was when Miss Rochkin told him that a former sweetheart of hers, an artist in Greenwich Village, New York, had committed suicide. On that occasion, he said, Miss Rochkin asked what he would do if she committed suicide, and he replied that he would "carry on."

Her fiance, who committed suicide in New York, was known to Speidel, only, as "Phillips." Miss Rochkin never told him the circumstances of "Phillips'" suicide, he said.

Disclaims Part in Operation.

The amateur artist, an employe of the City Postoffice, who is being held in connection with the death, claimed that he had no part in the illegal operation which was performed on the dead woman, as revealed in the autopsy.

It was revealed last night that the girl had written the purported suicide note sometime Thursday afternoon. Speidel said he observed the girl writing a note. He asked her what she was doing and she replied: "I am writing a note to my mother."

Then she took the note and tore it into pieces and threw it across the

Football Huddle Struck By Lightning; 1 Killed

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Eighteen boys in a football "huddle" on the athletic field of Woodmere Academy were felled by lightning today. One of them never regained consciousness and died a few hours later.

The boys were holding "skull practice" with Thomas N. Barrows, headmaster of their school on Long Island and also their coach. Some were backed up against a wire screen and they all had their heads together, their arms around each other, forming a perfect circuit for electric shock.

PLANS FOR HOOVER DAY, OCT. 7, MADE

President to Address Women of Nation Over Radio Hook-Up on Date.

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—President Hoover, it was announced tonight at Republican Eastern headquarters, will address the women of the Nation on Hoover day, October 7, in a country-wide radio broadcast.

In making the announcement, Mrs. Arthur L. Livermore, chairman of the women's division of the national committee, said:

"Hoover day in the last campaign was so successful, after having been originated in New York State and copied elsewhere, that even greater interest in such a day has been manifest this year. * * *

"Already plans have been set in motion for various forms of observance. Some women are to give musicals in their homes preceding the broadcast; others are arranging luncheons. The largest number of groups to gather around the radios on Hoover day will be composed of women who are already organized to work for the unemployed."

Foes on Dry Law Report on Funds

Balance Shown by Allied Forces; Wet Group Has None.

(Associated Press.)

The allied forces for prohibition yesterday filed with the clerk of the House of Representatives a report showing its receipts during the second quarter of this year amounted to $26,281, while disbursements were $21,871. A balance of $6,939 on August 31 along with $48,468 in unpaid pledges was shown.

The report filed by Harry N. Holmes, assistant treasurer, listed the unpaid pledges and showed individual expenditures and receipts, all of which were small.

The Pennsylvania Association Against the Prohibition Amendment also filed a report listing receipts from January 1 to August 1 at $37,637, with expenditures for the same period at $38,605. No balance was indicated.

Tidal Basin Death Is Called Suicide

Son of Engineer Says He Had Been Despondent and in Ill Health.

The death of Thomas N. Innes, 56, construction engineer of New York City, who was found dead and gagged in the Potomac River near the foot of Seventeenth street northwest Thursday, was said to be suicide in a certificate issued by Acting Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald yesterday.

An autopsy performed following the discovery of the body by Frank Sweeney, 59, of Scranton, Pa., who was walking along the Tidal Basin, disclosed that the man died from drowning. The coroner and police agreed that Innes had tied his hands and feet and placed the gag in his mouth.

The body was claimed yesterday by John Innes, son of the dead man, who stated that his father had been in ill health for several years and had been depressed over irregular employment. Burial will be in New York. His wife and four sons survive.

DRIVE IN KENTUCKY OPENED BY CURTIS

seventy years a Republican administration has proven better for this country."

Bowling Green, Ky., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—The Republican campaign in Kentucky got under full sway today when Vice President Charles Curtis and Representative Maurice H. Thatcher, of Louisville, addressed a gathering of western Kentucky followers in the Armory Auditorium here. After their speeches, Mr. Curtis and Mr. Thatcher, who is seeking the senatorial seat now held by Alben W. Barkley, Democrat, left for Hopkinsville for addresses tonight.

The auditorium, which has seating room for only 800 persons, was packed to the doors and an overflow crowd stood outside.

Agriculture, the tariff and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation were discussed by the Vice President. Thatcher touched on prohibition, the economic depression, the tariff and labor.

Speaking in that part of Kentucky which depends largely for a livelihood on agriculture, tobacco, live stock, stone quarrying and oil, the Vice President had an attentive audience.

After praising President Hoover's moves to stabilize currency when Great Britain went off the gold standard, Curtis told his hearers:

"Impair or destroy our ability to manufacture, strike down any of our great manufacturers, and the farmer would be the first to seriously feel the loss. Dismiss the army of operators from work shops and send them to great unoccupied and fertile lands of the West, and the farmer would not only lose just so many consumers or customers, but more than that, he would find them among his competitors in the field of production."

REPUBLICANS DODGE ISSUE, GOV. ROOSEVELT CHARGES

Mount Tamalpais and Telegraph Hill all were blotted out.

A huge spotlight placed in the balcony kept playing its beams over the crowd. The fleet is in the bay and in the audience were many sailors in uniform.

The crowd had been very quiet until a few minutes after 8 o'clock, the band suddenly began to play "Happy Days Are Here Again," and cheers were heard back near the stage entrance.

Gov. Roosevelt was accompanied by his son, James, and by several California leaders, including William Gibbs McAdoo.

Farley Concedes No State.

With one wild whoop the vast audience rose to its feet. Hand clapping was drowned out by the shrill shouts and whistling.

The demonstration lasted until the band began to play "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Maurice Harrison, who has been spoken of as the next California State Democratic chairman, introduced the candidate, saying San Francisco was a liberal city and had cast its majorities in the past for Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson.

"In this very hall twelve years ago," he said, "Franklin D. Roosevelt was nominated as the Democratic candidate for Vice President."

First Harrison presented to the crowd James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee.

"I say to you frankly," said Farley, "we do not concede a single State in the Union to the Republican party. We are making every State a battleground. I predict the greatest victory the country has ever seen."

Both McAdoo and Senator Walsh were given enthusiastic greetings as they rose to make brief speeches.

McAdoo Addresses Crowd.

"Mr. chairman," McAdoo began, "President Roosevelt——" and again the crowd broke loose.

"Hey Mac!" they yelled. And "Hello, Mac!"

"I have known the Governor of New York for a long time," he said. "For a long time before I got real intelligence and became a citizen of California. I was a citizen of the State of New York.

"I would like to make a speech tonight," he said. "Since I am a candidate for the United State Senate, I am practicing the art of unlimited speaking so that I may be able to qualify when I get there."

Before presenting Mr. Roosevelt, Harrison also introduced Senator Key Pittman, of Nevada.

"We know what the result will be on the fourth of March," Pittman said.

Thomas W. Rickey, a prominent San Francisco Democrat, then was presented to "say a few words about San Francisco." He predicted an overwhelming majority in San Francisco for Roosevelt.

"People Demand Change."

"Prohibition has made us the scorn of the world," he said. "The Republicans have proven incapable of remedying this and the other ills that have beset us. I care not how big the war chest nor how insidious the propaganda. The people will demand a change."

Two huge spotlights flared and the crowd roared as Mr. Roosevelt was presented.

"In 1920, when I made my first appearance in San Francisco before a Democratic national convention, I was given five minutes to make a brief address in behalf of a great citizen and a great governor—Alfred E. Smith," he began, evoking another burst from the crowd. "A little later," he continued, "a man came to me and suggested that I remove myself from the convention hall and go to my hotel. I asked him why and he said: 'Why, don't you know that at this very minute you are being nominated as candidate for Vice President and if you don't get out of here you'll have to make another speech?' and I got."

He then paid high tribute to the late Senator James J. Phelan, of California.

"You of California now have the opportunity of sending another great Progressive to the Senate," he said, "a man who has given ample proof of his administrative ability in the Cabinet of Woodrow Wilson. I want to see William Gibbs McAdoo elected to the Senate."

Holds Issue Joining Refused.

Continuing, he said the Republican leaders had so far not permitted the issues of the campaign to be joined.

"You can't have any joint debate with only one man on the platform," he said.

As he continued, frequent poundings could be heard on the doors as the crowd outside endeavored to gain admittance.

"Several days ago I delivered a speech on the difficult problem of keeping the railroads of the country on a solvent basis," he said. "The very next day after my railroad speech, a member of the Cabinet of the President, who also is a member of his campaign cabinet, announced that my proposals for the restoration of the solvency of the railroads were nothing more than recommendations stolen from the pockets of the Administration itself, and that my recommendations were in absolute agreement with those of the Administration from the President down.

"On the very same day, out of the White House there rushed another—a distinguished senator—to denounce the proposals as measures conceived in iniquity and proposed in folly.

"And I don't know yet in what direction my friend Vice President Curtis is headed. It's probably in a third direction."

Platforms Compared.

"The Republican platform leaves the Nation cold and shivering," he said a moment later in discussing prohibition planks of the two parties.

"There is no doubt about our platform. It declares unequivocally for repeal of prohibition.

"People of our country have been defrauded into purchasing billions of dollars of foreign securities. Their money has gone into the treasuries of foreign governments. Not only did the administration fail to protect, but the State Department allowed many of our citizens to be led into believing that it stood back of these foreign and domestic securities.

"The Nation understands that I have made definite proposals for a prevention of a recurrence of those evils. While in some instances the Republicans have been captious critics of the programs we have proposed, they have failed to come forward with any remedy of their own.

Need of Money for Farmers.

"Until the purchasing power of the farm dollar has been restored, industry can not revive.

"I propose to overcome those tariff walls against our goods in foreign trade by negotiating reciprocal agreements for foreign trade.

"The distinguished gentleman who is running against me says that nothing can be done for the farmer except to improve general conditions and, in the meanwhile, must we suppose that the farmer must starve?

"My friend from Oklahoma and California, Will Rogers, had a suggestion that we shoot every third Republican politician.

"I am convinced that the people of this country are definitely through with a leadership that has so little of constructive advice.

"I am convinced that the farmers are definitely through with a leadership that had said 'we're sorry, your case is hopeless; there is nothing that we can do.'"

Leaves for South of State.

Mr. Roosevelt said the Republican leaders had refused to debate the merits of his power proposals.

"I believe that the people of the industrial States of the Eastern Seaboard, as well as the Republican States of Vermont and New Hampshire, are prepared to join with you citizens of the Pacific Coast in accepting a leadership that furnishes a guarantee of a 'new deal,'" he concluded.

As the crowd stood and cheered, Harrison arose and said:

"Mr. Roosevelt leaves us in a few minutes for the southern part of our State. As he goes, he carries with him the assurance that California stands back of him."

In his luncheon address Gov. Roosevelt said:

"Every man has a right to his own property; which means a right to be assured, to the fullest extent attainable in the safety of his savings.

"By no other means can men carry the burdens of those parts of life which, in the nature of things, afford no chance of labor; childhood, sickness, old age. In all thought of property this right is paramount; all other property rights must yield to it.

Protecting Individualism.

"If in accord with this principle, we must restrict the operations of the speculator, the manipulator, even the financier, I believe we must accept the restriction as needful, not to hamper individualism but to protect it.

"This implication is, briefly, that the responsible heads of finance and industry, instead of acting each for himself, must work together to achieve the common end.

"They must, where necessary, sacrifice this or that private advantage, and in reciprocal self-denial must seek a general advantage. It is here that formal government—political government, if you choose—comes in. Whenever in the pursuit of this objective the lone wolf, the unethical competitor, the reckless promoter, the Ishmael or Insull whose hand is against every man's, declines to join in achieving an end recognized as being for the public welfare, and threatens to drag the industry back to a state of anarchy, the government may properly be asked to apply restraint.

"Likewise, should the group ever use its collective power contrary to the public welfare, the Government must be swift to enter and protect the public interest.

Regulation Last Resort.

"The Government should assume the function of economic regulation only as a last resort, to be tried only when private initiative, inspired by high responsibility, with such assistance and balance as Government can give, has finally failed.

"As yet there has been no final failure because there has been no attempt, and I decline to assume that this Nation is unable to meet the situation."

The nominee traced the rise of government and its relations to business through the centuries, asserting that the issue of "government has always been whether individual men and women have to serve some system of government or economics or whether a system of government and economics exist to serve individual men and women."

"Some of my friends tell me that they do not want the Government in business," he continued. "With this I agree, but I wonder whether they realize the implications of the past.

"For while it has been American doctrine that government must not go into business in competition with private enterprises, still it has been traditional, particularly in Republican administrations, for business urgently to ask the Government to put at private disposal all kinds of Government assistance."

He added that the same man who says he does not want to see the Government in business, had no hesitancy to demand tariff on his product, or to take advantage of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to ask for a loan.

The New York Governor spoke of the fight that Theodore Roosevelt, the "first great Republican Progressive," made against trusts and said that he had been forced to work out a difference between good trusts and bad trusts.

Wilbur Says Election Sport to Westerners

Salt Lake City, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Secretary Ray Lyman Wilbur, of the Interior Department, said in a newspaper interview here today "the wave of appreciation of what President Hoover has accomplished is sweeping the East, but it has not reached the Pacific and Intermountain States."

"People out West right now seem to regard the presidential election as a sport," he said. "They don't seem to realize just what it means. When the West realizes that President Hoover has saved it from a shove over the precipice, then it will appreciate him."

Broussard Makes New Vote Protest

Senate Group Planning to Probe His Defeat in Louisiana.

(Associated Press.)

Chairman Howell, of the Senate campaign funds committee, announced yesterday hearings would be held in New Orleans early in October on a new complaint filed by Senator Broussard, who was defeated for renomination in the recent Louisiana primary.

Senator Howell (Republican), Nebraska, said the hearing would be conducted by Senator Connally (Democrat), Texas. He expects Senator Bratton (Democrat), New Mexico, to join Connally.

The new protest of Senator Broussard was not made public. Howell said it did not charge excessive campaign expenditures, but complained that the election was not conducted "legally and properly." Broussard was defeated for the Democratic nomination by Representative Overton, who had the support of Senator Long.

M'COOEY SEES BIG NEW YORK VICTORY

Roosevelt Will Get Largest Majority on Record in City, He Claims.

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—The largest majority New York City ever gave a political candidate was predicted today for Gov. Roosevelt by chiefs of the Democratic city organizations, after they had held a campaign strategy meeting at national headquarters.

John H. McCooey, Brooklyn leader, national committeeman and spokesman for the group, was asked about reports the organizations would "knife" Roosevelt because of the James J. Walker ouster case.

"That's ridiculous," he replied, slowly and deliberately. "There is no such thought in the minds of any of the men who were here. We're going to roll up the biggest majority New York ever saw for Roosevelt."

"Do you agree?" John F. Curry, Tammany chief, was asked.

"Well," the gray-haired leader replied, with a smile, "Mr. McCooey's usually right."

It was Curry's first visit to National headquarters, and those with whom he conferred said it was the first time within their memory that any Tammany chief had gone to the center of campaign activities to hold a conference.

Usually, such meetings are held at Tammany Hall, and those seeking Tammany support call on Curry.

Death of Colonel's Wife Natural, Jury Declares

Honolulu, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Imputations of foul play were thrust aside today by a coroner's jury which rendered a verdict that Mrs. Marion Shainwald Sevier, wife of Col. Granville Sevier, U. S. A., had died of natural causes August 27, 1928.

The verdict closed a case begun at the insistence of Ralph Shainwald, who asserted his sister was poisoned. The jury said further efforts for a second autopsy would be useless.

Ruling in Traffic Test Case Today

Driving on Wrong Side of Sherman Avenue Is Laid to Several.

Indignant motorists who yesterday appeared at the District Building to protest their being presented with tickets for driving on the wrong side of Sherman avenue northwest will hear what a judge in Police Court has to say about the matter this morning.

A number of drivers were disagreeably surprised yesterday at Sherman avenue and Euclid street northwest when they were presented with summonses by Private E. D. Healy, of the Tenth Precinct. The motorists claimed that inasmuch as they are forced to drive on the wrong side for several blocks before reaching Euclid, they continued to do so after passing that street. Paving operations are being conducted along the avenue.

Healy's superiors claim he was justified in giving the tickets. Richard A. Brown, night auditor at the Mayflower Hotel, thinks otherwise, and he is among those who will test the case in court today.

Mrs. Harriette Curtiss Rites to Be Tomorrow

Funeral services for Mrs. Harriette A. Curtiss, 77, wife of Dr. F. Homer Curtiss, who died at her home, 3510 Quebec street northwest, Thursday, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at Hysong's funeral parlors, 1300 N street northwest.

Mrs. Curtiss was cofounder with her husband of the Order of Christian Mystics and the Universal Religious Foundation. She was internationally known as an authoress and authority on psychic research.

Federal Workers' Lodge Elects King

Employes' Compensation Commission Branch Has 95 Members.

Organization of the United States Employes Compensation Commission Lodge of the American Federation of Government Employes took place yesterday at a meeting at the commission's offices.

Theodore King was elected president. Other officers are Royall Greene, vice president; Miss Viola Eggert, secretary; Mrs. Yeba Hall, treasurer; Manley Allen, sergeant-at-arms, and Daniel M. Goodacre, delegate to the District department and the national convention.

At the next meeting of the lodge a committee will be selected to study the establishment of a credit union. Hospitalization for members also will be discussed. The lodge was organized with 95 members, comprising a major portion of officials and employes of the commission. Membership also will include commission employes in the field.

2 Well-Dressed Holdups Take $466 From Man

Each carrying a gun, two well-dressed men yesterday held up Edward A. Kelly, of 1915 K street northwest, and robbed him of $466. Accosted by the pair as he was getting into his car at Nineteenth and K streets, Kelly was forced to sit between the two men as they drove him to Twentieth and New Hampshire avenue, threatening him with revolvers, and rifling his pockets.

At New Hampshire avenue the men fled after telling Kelly not to yell or try to follow them. The descriptions given resemble the assailants of Nora Osborne, held up at a laundry at 1701 Connecticut avenue.

Mrs. Roosevelt Going West to Join Husband

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 23 (U.P.).—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the Democratic presidential nominee, left quietly by train late tonight for Williams, Ariz., where she will join her husband on his return campaign trip from the West Coast.

Mrs. Roosevelt said she planned to go straight to the home of Mrs. John C. Greenway, of Williams. She will board the governor's train there for the return trip to Albany.

Hushing Charged In Peonage Case

Walter White, Spokesman, Raps Press Exclusion by Army Officer.

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—The assertion that the War Department attempted to "hush up" what was termed a "national disgrace" in the treatment of Negro workers on the Mississippi flood control project was made today by Walter White, secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

His statement was denied in Washington by Brig. Gen. George B. Pillsbury, assistant chief of Army engineers, who conducted a hearing yesterday on charges that Negro workers were "treated like peons and slaves."

White accompanied the association's investigator, Miss Helen Boardman, when she testified yesterday and he complained that the press had been excluded and also that Gen. Pillsbury had been unfair in his questions. Gen. Pillsbury replied that "special circumstances" of yesterday's questioning made it inadvisable for the press to be admitted.

GARNER IS ASSURED ON CAPITOL CONTROL

Speaker Told by Congress Campaign Head Success Is Certain.

(Associated Press.)

Speaker John N. Garner told newspapermen yesterday that Representative Byrns, of Tennessee, chairman of the Democratic national congressional committee, had assured him their party would win control of both Senate and House in November.

"We went over the situation and Mr. Byrns showed me that the Democrats were certain to capture the Senate and to swell our majority in the House in the next Congress," said the vice presidential candidate.

Byrns is in charge of the campaigns of Democratic candidates for the House and cooperates with Senator Swanson, of Virginia, chairman of the senatorial committee.

Garner conferred with Byrns shortly after his arrival yesterday from Detroit, Tex., where he attended the funeral of his 81-year-old mother, Mrs. Sarah Jane Garner.

To friends who greeted him at the railroad station, Garner said he had been on "a mission of sorrow."

He requested newspapermen to withhold until today questions on the presidential campaign and the political situation in general.

The Texan said, however, he planned to go to New York late tomorrow to confer on Monday with party leaders with regard to his activities in the campaign. His plans to arrange a speaking itinerary were disrupted last Saturday when he was hastily summoned to the bedside of his mother.

Garner indicated he would return to Washington the last of next week to await the return of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt from his Western speaking tour. He then will go to Albany to confer with Roosevelt.

Coal Mine Guard Is Shot by Sniper

Man in Critical Condition After Gun Battle at Ohio Shaft.

Athens, Ohio, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—A mine guard was wounded critically by snipers near the No. 267 mine of the Ohio Collieries Co., near Crooksville today.

The mine recently refused to accept the amended 10-point settlement of the seven months' old Hocking Valley strike, and has been working under the provisions of the original agreement, which provided that miners working at the time the settlement was proposed last May, should continue their jobs. The amended program called for the reemployment of old employes and the discharge of miners from outside fields who worked during the strike.

Sniping broke out in the vicinity of the mine shortly after 3 o'clock this morning and mine guards returned the shots with machine guns and rifles. During the exchange, Floyd Hagedorn, 40, the mine guard, was wounded in the head, feet and received a number of buckshot in the back.

G. O. P. Urges Absentee Voters to Qualify Soon

Renewal of registration is required of all District of Columbia residents who intend to vote in New York, Pennsylvania and Delaware, the Republican State committee announced yesterday, in a reminder to the city's 55,000 absentee voters that registration in these States soon will close.

With few exceptions absentee voters must attend their registration in person. Natives of Scranton and Pittsburgh may register by mail, but will have to cast their ballots in person. Detailed information may be obtained from the Republican State committee.

TEXTILE MILL GAIN FEATURE OF AUGUST

Reserve Board Review Discloses Wholesale Prices Advanced in Month.

(Associated Press).

The Federal Reserve Board, in its monthly industrial review, yesterday said increased activity at textile mills in August sent upward the volume of industrial production considerably more than the usual amount.

Wholesale prices advanced during August and the general level prevailing in the first three weeks of September was higher than in recent months, while employment at factories increased slightly more than usual. The board said the industrial output increase in August was 2 per cent of the 1923-25 average.

"Activity at cotton, woolen, silk and rayon mills increased from the low level of other recent months by considerably more than the usual amount and there was also a substantial increase in activity at shoe factories," the board said. "Output of automobiles, however, declined further and production in the steel and lumber industries showed none of the usual seasonal increase in August. During the first three weeks of September there was a slight advance in steel output."

The board found that the employment increase was brought about by large additions to working forces in textile, clothing and leather industries, while in the automobile, tire and machinery industries and at car-building shops the number employed decreased further. Aggregate wage payments, it said, increased less than seasonally.

The board said building contracts awarded up to September 15 indicated that for the third quarter of the year the value would be about the same as for the second quarter, whereas usually they were smaller.

"Wholesale commodity prices advanced from 64.5 per cent of the 1926 average in July to 65.2 per cent in August," the board said. "During August prices of many leading commodities, including textile raw materials and finished products, wheat, hides, nonferrous metals, sugar, rubber and coffee increased substantially. In the first half of September there were declines in the prices of many of these commodities, while prices of wool and woolen goods, cattle and hides advanced."

Gandhi's Confidant On Way to Capital

Former President of Indian Legislature to Combat British Argument.

On a visit to the United States to destroy "powerful British propaganda" on Indian questions in this country, Vithalbai J. Patel, Hindu insurgent and former president of the Indian Legislature, arrived in New York yesterday. He will speak at the National Press Club here next Wednesday.

The Indian statesman, one of Mahatma Gandhi's closest confidants, declared that if Gandhi should die from his hunger strike, "India would not be safe for Englishmen."

"Only Mahatma Gandi stands between India and revolution," Patel said.

He will arrive in Washington Monday to confer with Government officials on India's problems.

"I want to state India's case wherever I can in the United States," the Indian leader declared. "It will be hard to counteract Britain's propaganda, but I will do what little I can."

Mrs. S. G. B. Poindexter, 89, Is Dead at Richmond

Mrs. Susan Garland Berry Poindexter, widow of James T. Poindexter, died yesterday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harry Gordon Whittet, in Richmond, after a short illness, the result of a fall on Monday night, when she sustained a fractured hip. Mrs. Poindexter was 89 years old. She was the daughter of the late Benjamin Harrison Berry, clerk of the corporation court in Alexandria prior to 1861, and his wife, the late Mary Garland Berry. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Whittet, with whom she made her home, and Mrs. William Cabell Trueman, and two sons, Maj. W. W. Poindexter and Harry G. Poindexter, all of Richmond. The funeral will be held at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the home.

Roosevelt and Pinchot Seen as Liberal Chiefs

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Formation after the election of a new liberal party, which will include the Socialists and also "men like Franklin D. Roosevelt and Gifford Pinchot" was predicted tonight by Paul Douglas, University of Chicago professor.

Douglas, who is not a Socialist, is chairman of the "committee of 100,000" supporting Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for President.

mation which it has asked. Pinchot asserted the information is not available on a State-wide basis. He did, however, send the statistics for Allegheny, Philadelphia and Northampton Counties, and the corporation voted the $2,500,000 soon after.

(Associated Press.)

Reconstruction Corporation officials yesterday declined to comment for publication on the statements of Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania that the form of receipt he had been asked to sign for a relief loan was illegal.

Law Provision Cited.

They pointed to the emergency relief law which says "whenever an application under this section is approved by the corporation in whole or in part the amount approved shall be immediately paid to the governor * * * upon delivery by him to the corporation of a receipt therefor stating that the payment is accepted subject to the terms of this section."

It was pointed out also that the governor must certify that the resources of the State or Territory, including money available, which can be made available, and private contributions are inadequate to meet its relief needs. The law also requires that the governor shall file with the corporation a statement of disbursements made by him under the section.

Illinois Agents Here.

The general attitude at the corporation yesterday was that except when he communicates direct with the corporation or its officials no reply other than Thursday night's statement will be made to the governor.

Sixteen representatives of Illinois and Chicago yesterday conferred with officials of the Reconstruction Corporation in an effort to obtain another emergency relief loan of $9,050,000 to prevent closing of relief stations in the State.

The corporation already has advanced $9,000,000 to the State.

The delegation was headed by Speaker David E. Shanahan, of the Illinois House of Representatives; Mayor A. J. Cermak of Chicago, Emmett Whalen, president of the Cook County Board of Commissioners, and Dewitt Billman, representing Gov. Emmerson.

SEABOARD AIR LINE RAILWAY

Coolidge Rail Commission Debut Is Reported Near

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Formation of a national railway commission, headed by former President Calvin Coolidge, was understood in Wall street today to have been virtually completed and a formal announcement was expected within the next few days.

The commission, which is to make a thorough study of the national transportation problem with the view of later recommending congressional action to eradicate the existing sore spots, is to be sponsored, it was said, by the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks, other large financial institutions, insurance companies and important public organizations.

While the details of the proposed inquiry are being rather closely guarded, it was variously reported that agreement had been reached on the following:

1. The commission will be nonpartisan and free in every respect and will act upon its own initiative in conducting the railway inquiry.

2. The commissioners will receive no salaries or other compensation for their work, but will contribute their services as a public duty.

3. The railroads themselves will have no part in the formation of the commission nor its activities and will be asked to furnish information only, through testimony and statistics.

4. The commission will particularly stress the point that it is representing no one organization or political party; that, fundamentally, it is acting on behalf of the public and the thousands of security holders affected by the operations of the carriers.

5. The expenses of the inquiry will be provided by the various sponsoring organizations, and the initial sum to be provided for this purpose may be as much as $100,000, athough this has not been actually decided.

Originally it was thought the commission might be composed of Mr. Coolidge and two others. Then a committee of five was suggested. It is believed that the latter number was finally decided upon, although this is only a conjecture broached in the financial district.

The commission is expected to start work shortly after the formal announcement of its organization is forthcoming.

ADM. SIMS SCORES LEGION AND QUITS

Action Is Protest Against Convention Stand on Soldier Bonus.

Newport, R. I., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Admiral William S. Sims, U. S. N., retired, commander of the American naval forces overseas during the World War, today made public a letter in which he resigned his honorary membership in the American Legion as a protest against the Legion's stand on the bonus.

Admiral Sims now is a member of the national advisory council of the National Economy League, which is dedicated to reducing the costs of Government. His action followed upon his denunciation in Boston yesterday of the system of Spanish-American War pensions as a "steal of the nastiest kind and an outrage to American taxpayers."

The letter of resignation was addressed to the national commander of the American Legion at Indianapolis. It set forth that the admiral had been assured the legion's governing body would maintain patriotic ideals expressed in the preamble of its constitution, but that the recent action of the national convention on the bonus was "in direct repudiation of these ideals."

Woman Leads Federals In Sao Paulo Fighting

Rio de Janeiro, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—A woman identified only as "Santa Dica" was reported today in Federal dispatches from the northern front to be leading federal volunteers against the Sao Paulo rebels. A dispatch from Uberaba, in western Minas Beraes, said the woman warrior entered action at Igacava at the head of a detachment.

The government claimed the capture of two of the most prominent politicians attempting to instigate pro-Paulist uprisings. Arthur Bernardes, leader of a recent Abortice uprising in Minas Geraes, was reported captured today in a forest cabin near Vicosa where he had been deserted by his followers. Dr. Borges de Madeiros, prominent Sao Paulo leader, was captured in battle yesterday.

RELATIVES OF DEAD GIRL

Mrs. Laura Kramer and Benjamin J. Rockin, of New York, brother and sister of Miss Sylvia Rockin, 23-year-old school teacher, whose body was found hanging from the ceiling of a houseboat in the Potomac River Thursday night, are shown above as they left the District Morgue last night, after completing identification of the dead woman.

POLICE PUZZLED BY DEATH OF TEACHER ON HOUSEBOAT

bed. Later, he said, when he laid down on the bed he brushed them onto the floor, where they were found by Detective Sergt. Dalglish.

A few of the torn pieces of the paper he placed on the table. These also, the homicide detective found.

After the interrogation last night, Capt. Thompson said: "He tells a pretty straight story."

The mystifying circumstances of the artist's model's death will be presented Monday to a coroner's jury, to determine whether she took her own life or was strangled by another.

A note, found by Detective Sergeant Dalglish, had been torn into pieces and was near the place where her body was found. It read:

"I went and did this thing without George's approval. He must be left alone—no matter what happens to me—I do not matter any more. I am better off away from everybody and no one must grieve."

Second Note Found.

The pieces of the note were on soiled paper. The paper on which it had been written was of a type used ordinarily in business corerspondence. The note was written on half a sheet. The other half was found in the other room of the boat.

Another note, which had not been torn, and was on clean paper read: "I am happiest with George."

A comparison of the handwriting on these notes with other correspondence written by the girl, convinced Detective Sergt. Dalglish that they were in her handwriting.

Deputy Coroner Murphy said: "The nature of the wound around the neck is very unusual. If she had hung herself from the rafter the marks of the cord would have been evident only at the point of suspension. Usually they are in an oblique line.

"In this case the markings are completely circular. The bruise caused by the cord is around the neck from about what is known as the 'Adam's Apple' to a point on the back of the neck midway between the level of the shoulder and the base of the skull.

Autopsy Performed.

"The markings on the neck make the case look suspicious."

His opinion came after he performed an autopsy which showed that death was caused by asphyxia due to strangulation.

The police were notified of the death by Speidel, who called police to the houseboat near Rosslyn early yesterday.

When he lifted her, he told police, she slumped, causing the weight to tear the nail from the rafter. When police arrived she was lying on a bed, with the cord taken from her neck and lying under her head.

Girl Had Been Despondent.

Speidel is married and has a 5-year-old son, according to police. He has been separated from his wife for two years.

In the house boat were found several books dealing with self-destruction and free love. Speidel told police he and Miss Rockin moved aboard the boat last Monday.

He fell asleep about 8:30 o'clock Thursday night, he said, and when he awakened at 12:48 yesterday morning he found the body. Miss Rockin had been despondent for several days, he said.

Speidel is the brother of Dr. Francis G. Speidel, of 221 Rittenhouse street.

Reported Finding of Coli And Nungesser Untrue

Curling, Newfoundland, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Reports that an airplane and two human skeletons had been found on Mountain Blomidon, 20 miles from here, by a party searching for a missing man were branded by police tonight as untrue.

The story had spread throughout the section during the day that the reported discovery might account for the lost French fliers, Nungesser and Coli, who left Paris in a flight for New York May 8, 1927.

Counterfeit Plot Laid To Prisoner and Guard

Detroit, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—An alleged counterfeiting plot which Secret Service men said had its inception within the walls of Michigan State Prison at Jackson, was revealed today with the arraignment of Irving W. Favorite, 45, prison guard.

Investigators said Favorite and Frank Briggs, 44, a convict, had signed confesions in which they told of making molds for spurious 50-cent pieces in the prison garage, where Favorite was a guard and Briggs was employed. Both denied passing any of the coins, Secret Service men said.

3 Held in Auto Looting.

Twenty-four charges of grand larceny were placed against three colored men yesterday, who were said to have broken into a number of tourist automobiles during the last few months and stolen clothing. The men gave their names as Esau Bishop, 38; Charles Jackson, 28, and James Nixon, 40, all of 439 Cullinane court southwest.

Half of Atlanta's Milk Tied Up in Price War

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—A "holiday" on milk shipments to Atlanta, estimated to involve 50 to 70 per cent of the city's daily supply, was ordered into effect today by a group of dairymen who sought to force distributing plants to pay them better prices.

Huge Hardwood Lumber Blaze Is Under Control

Hollybluff, Miss., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—An all-day fire that destroyed approximately a million feet of lumber at the plant of the Lake George Hardwood Lumber Co., was under control tonight after causing an estimated damage of $25,000 to $30,000.

A bucket brigade battled the rapidly spreading fire during the morning and afternoon, but with little results.

The Business Upturn

750 Workers Called Back to Jobs at Plant in West Virginia; Telegraph, Railroad, Millinery and Other Trades Report Increased Activities.

(Associated Press.)

Business developments yesterday included:

Newell, W. Va.—Seven hundred and fifty men will return to work within ten days at the Edwin M. Knowles China Co. kilns, the company has announced. The kilns have operated part time for four months.

New York.—Telegraph business was reported increasing in volume. The Western Union said its business "made a decided advance" during the past week.

New York.—The Southern Pacific Railroad reported net operating income of $504,548 for last month, the best since May, although still greatly below 1931. The Santa Fe announced its car loadings continue to advance.

Chicago—The Chicago Association of Commerce reported "a marked pickup in the millinery trade with pay rates up 10 per cent in some instances." The increase was described as "considerable larger than seasonal." Increased activity by distributors of groceries also was reported.

New London, Conn.—The biggest production schedule since 1923 and a 300 per cent increase in the number of employes since August 1, was announced by officials of Palmer Brothers Co., manufacturers of bed comfortables. As a result of increased orders the New London and Pitchville mills of the company have gone on a night and day schedule. The company has increased the number its machine operators from 117 to 345.

REASON FOR INSULL FAILURE IS SOUGHT

Two Receivers of Holding Firms Removed Due to Favored List.

Chicago, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—The spotlights of Bankruptcy Court of Government and State investigators began today to search out the cause of the failure of Corporation Securities Co. and Insull Utility Investments, Inc., whose debacle cost their stockholders $300,000,000.

Adjudging both companies bankrupt today, United States District Judge Walter C. Lindley asserted from his Danville, Ill., home he would personally direct the bankruptcy proceedings so far as time permits, appointing no referee.

He told stockholders to abandon hope of any recovery.

"There is no chance of reorganization," the court stated in memoranda accompanying the decrees. "There is no possibility that assets of sufficient character or amount as to bring the stockholders any return whatsoever will ever be realized. Apparently the most that can be hoped for is a distribution of dividends among creditors."

Under the bankruptcy act, Judge Lindley pointed out, "suits may be instituted to recover preferences, to set aside transfers and to determine priority of liens."

Favored List Causes Stir.

Publication of a "favored list of 205" customers who were allowed to buy Insull Utility investment stock at the subscription price of $12 a share created a stir today, but it was pointed out that most of these were Insull officers, associates and employes pledged not to sell for two years, and that the underwriting practice was not unusual. The shares were listed at $30 and reached a one-time peak of $149 in 1929.

Publication of the list, however, resulted in the removal of two Insull receivers by Judge Lindley. The names of both receivers were contained on the roster. The former receivers are George A. Cooke, who was removed as coreceiver of Insull Utility Investments, Inc., and Patrick J. Lucey, former coreceiver of Corporation Securities. Their removal left Calvin Fentress as sole receiver for the Utility Invetsments and Raymond F. McNally for Corporation Securities. Judge Lindley made no comment as to the reason for the removals.

Other Lists Sought.

Search was begun for other lists reputed to be in existence bearing the names of politicians and perhaps officeholders.

Some of the 205 listed said they had lost heavily from the investments. Samuel Ettelson, former corporation counsel of Chicago and often acting mayor under William Hale Thompson, was listed as buyer of 250 shares at $12, but said he had an estimated paper loss of $250,000.

One Insull employe was quoted as asserting: "The Insull utility and corporation securities syndicates took every cent I had in the world. If I can be blamed for that, a man ought to be put in jail for dying of typhoid fever."

The audit of Insull Utility Investments, Inc., a week ago showed a deficit of $226,000,000, including the write-off of the capital stock; corporation securities showed on its books assets of $100,000,000 in Middle West Utilities, and Insull Utility Investment stocks, worthless at the present market. Its only real assets were shown to be Chicago school board tax anticipation warrants with $30,000 face value.

Redfield, S. Dak., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Senator Peter Norbeck, chairman of the Senate banking committee which last spring began an investigation of stock market activities, said today affairs of Insull Utilities organizations would be studied by the committee when Congress convenes.

"Investigation carried on this summer has confirmed my suspicions that much of the Insull stock was sold on misrepresentation and fake reports as to ownership," Norbeck said.

Geneva, Sept. 23 (U.P.).—The council of the League of Nations plans to appoint a committee of three to watch developments in the Gran Chaco section of South America to prevent a violation of the league covenant.

The Chaco dispute was one of the first matters taken up by the council when it convened today, and it was persistently rumored that Paraguay, currently fighting Bolivia, will protest to the league unless neutral nations effect a settlement of the dispute.

GANDHI IS SINKING IN HIS DEATH FAST

Strong hopes were expressed that it would be possible tomorrow to sign an agreement and cable it immediately to Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald.

The effect of this optimism was clearly visible in Mr. Gandhi. Calling upon his reserves of nervous energy, he threw off his earlier weakness and conversed excitedly with his intimates until a late hour.

Editor's note: Mahatma Gandhi has authorized the United Press to convey a message to the people of America, under his own signature, explaining why he has undertaken a "fast unto death" for liberation of India's depressed classes.

Yeroda Prison, Poona, India, Sept. 23 (U.P.).—The removal of untouchability is an integral part of the doctrine of Swaraj (home rule), and I reject a swaraj that denies healthgiving balm to the meanest and most sinful Indian.

Americans should know that my politics are derived from my religion. If God ordained that I die by starvation, he has set his last seal on my political leadership.

I am convinced that real self-government has been advanced by penance. If God gives me the strength to see this fast through, the advancement will be still greater.

I hope that my sacrifice will promote the deliverance of humanity from untouchability.

If America, which has sent me sympathy, understands the inward meaning of my sacrifice, I expect her to mobilize world opinion in favor of it.

Even though it apparently is considered to apply only to one corner of the world, it is intended to apply to the whole world.

40-HOUR WEEK GETS U. S. CHAMBER HELP

tions but authorized immediate collection of data on the subject. Efforts of the Teagle group were indorsed.

The American Federation of Labor, a number of other organizations and some prominent figures in public life had previously recommended the 40-hour week, but the chamber, representing organized employers, had never acted on it before.

Flatly opposing payment of the bonus, as urged by the recent American Legion convention, the board also urged a $400,000,000 cut in Federal expenditures for the veterans of the World War, the Spanish-American War, the Boxer Rebellion and the Philippine Insurrection.

"To accede to demands for immediate cash payment of the unmatured obligation," the board said of the bonus, "would place the staggering load of $2,200,000,000 on the Treasury, with consequent strain upon national credit and an unbalancing of the budget which might result in national disaster, would necessitate increase in taxation and would be unfair to the veterans themselves.

"The immediate payment of the unmatured debt represented by these certificates will intensify the demand, already being made, for straight old-time pension legislation, certain to be pressed more vigorously when the veterans experience decreased earning capacity due to old age."

The board's views regarding veterans legislation were based upon a report prepared by a committee of which Matthew S. Sloan, of New York, was chairman.

It also opposed payments to former soldiers for nonservice incurred disabilities, estimating repeal of this legislation alone would save the Government more than $100,000,000 in the current fiscal year and "materially increased amounts in future years."

Chamber Group Advises Debt Concessions Limit

(Associated Press.)

A committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States proposed yesterday that any further concessions made by the American Government to debtor nations be conditioned upon modification or removal of monetary exchange restrictions imposed by the latter.

The proposal was contained in a report submitted to the Chamber's board of directors by a group under the chairmanship of James A. Farrell, former head of the United States Steel Corporation. The report said 32 governments now control foreign exchange transactions, and added that this has come about mostly since Great Britain left the gold standard.

These restrictions, the report said, "have had a deadening effect upon American export business as upon the export business of other countries," with exporters hesitating to ship merchandise to countries from which payment can not be received within the normal period of time.

Bilateral discussion of exchange restrictions between countries having major trade exchanges, particularly the United States and South American republics, was urged with a view to possible modification.

Where these barriers can not be lifted, the report suggested that American importers and exporters in some cases might balance export against import transactions on a barter or compensating basis.

$100,000 HELD PAID DAVIS ON DRAWING

Records of Charity Ball Are Produced as Refusal of Witness Is Overruled.

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—On court order overruling a witness' refusal, a contract and eight cardboard crates of records and canceled checks were produced as evidence today in the Federal courtroom where Senator James J. Davis is on trial for violating lottery laws.

Then, as court attaches were piling the bulky boxes on courtroom tables, the prosecution rapidly elicited testimony from a United States Department of Justice agent, Jacob Heffler, that $100,000 profits from the Moose 1930 charity ball and alleged lottery went into the Moose organization department.

It is the Government's contention that the Pennsylvania senator is himself the organization department of the fraternal order. His official title is director general.

Had Refused to Testify.

Theodore G. Miller, alleged head of the Moose propaganda department, who refused to testify previously because he is also under indictment in the case, produced the records.

A copy of the contract read to the jury set forth terms of the agreement between Miller and Bernard C. McGuire, also named in the indictments, on which the Government contends the charity ball and alleged lottery were conducted.

It contained Miller's assertion that in making the contract he had the "knowledge and consent of the Supreme Council of the Loyal Order of Moose and its director general, James J. Davis."

Held Agent of Davis.

The prosecution had predicted it would make this point to prove Miller was in effect the agent of Davis in the project.

The defense has indicated it will contend Davis knew about the charity balls, but was ignorant of a drawing for cash prizes in connection with them.

Heffler, the Government agent, said the records he examined showed the propagation department took in $1,057,728.75 from the 1930 charity ball, of which only $150,000 went to the Mooseheart charitable orphanage, and $100,000 to the organization department in three checks.

The checks were made out to the organization department, he said, and indorsed over to the Fidelity Trust Co. of Pittsburgh by Fred W. Jones, treasurer of the department, and also said by the Government to be an agent of Davis.

JAPANESE AIRMEN TAKE OFF FOR U. S.

mined to reach Nome nonstop, preparations have been made for possible emergency landings at Paramushiru and Petropavlovsk, points in Soviet Russia, en route to the Aleutian Islands.

The takeoff on Samushiro Beach was accomplished after two failures resulting from cross winds. The third time the heavily loaded plane arose after running 1,400 meters and quickly disappeared over the Pacific to the northeast while a crowd of fisherfolk, peasants and school children from neighboring villages and a handful of newspapermen cheered.

The name of the ship is Hochi Japan-America No. 3. The number refers to two previous unsuccessful transpacific projects sponsored by the newspaper in 1932.

Announcing that its purpose was to increase good will between Japan and the United States, the newspaper Hochi Shimbun recently retained a crew of three men for the flight to San Francisco by stages. They are Eiichiro Baba, pilot; Kiyoshi Honma, navigator, and Temoyoshi Ishita, radio operator.

The schedule calls for stops at Nome and Fairbanks in Alaska, but emergency supplies were laid down at Nemuro, Paramushiro, White Horse and Hazleton, Canada, and Seattle. The plane has one 350-horsepower motor.

Edmund B. Leaming, 75, New Jersey Jurist, Dies

Moorestown, N. J., Sept. 23 (U.P.).—Former Vice Chancellor Edmund B. Leaming, one of New Jersey's most widely known and respected jurists, died tonight at his home here. He was 75.

Appointed in 1906, he resigned September 1 last because of ill health. A bronchial condition superinduced by a heart attack caused his death. He is survived by his second wife, the former Mrs. Alice Grey Burgen. The funeral will be Monday afternoon, with burial in Cold Springs Cemetery, Cape May County, N. J.

RITES FOR MRS. MILLER.

Funeral Services Will Be Held Here Today; Burial in Ohio.

Funeral services for Mrs. Fannie E. Miller, 64, who died yesterday, will be held at her home, 1831 Belmont road northwest, today at 5 p. m. The body will then be sent to Ohio for burial.

Three daughters survive Mrs. Miller, who was the widow of the late John J. Miller, of Cumberland, Md. They are the Misses Anna and Beulah Miller, of this city, and Mrs. Claude E. Fenton, of Cleveland, Ohio.

DELEGATES TO RIDE U.S. SHIPS, IS RULING

Stimson's Plea for Arms Party to Sail on Europa Blocked by McCarl.

Comptroller General McCarl yesterday ruled that delegates to the coming Geneva conference for the limitation of armaments must go abroad on an American vessel, and that "if transportation is secured upon a foreign vessel it will be incumbent on this office to disallow credit therefor."

In a letter addressed to Secretary of State Stimson he further said that "it was the administrative responsibility to arrange matters making preparation and securing material for use at the conference that the officers and employes assigned to attend might comply with the law with respect to the use of American vessels."

Secretary Stimson had appealed to the Comptroller, saying that in his opinion the "exigencies of the situation would justify the expediture of funds to allow the delegates to sail on the steamer Europa, which leaves New York on the morning of September 25."

The President has appointed Norman Davis as delegate to the meetings, and Admiral Arthur J. Hepburn as adviser. A clerk and another adviser yet to be named will make up the party.

Mr. McCarl reported to the Secretary that his office had learned that accommodations were available on the Leviathan, which sailed on September 20; American Importer, on September 21; the American Shipper, on September 23, and the President Harding, on September 28.

Farmer Admits Murder Of Feeble-Minded Son

Lancaster, Wis., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Will Keehner, 49, farmer, confessed today, Sheriff Joseph Grer said, he had killed his 8-year-old son, Martin, "because the boy was feeble-minded." Keehner told authorities he led the boy into a clump of woods and battered his head with stones on September 6 or 7. Then he buried the body in a gully under stones and leaves, he said. The body was found just as Keehner said he had left it.

"The boy was incurable, so I thought he would be better off dead," Keehner said. "I tried to get him into an institution, and couldn't."

Sharp Quake Recorded 2,500 Miles From Here

(Associated Press.)

An earthquake, described as rather sharp and centered about 5,500 miles from Washington in an unascertained direction, was recorded yesterday on Georgetown University's seismographs. It began at 9:35 a. m. and reached maximum intensity at 10:15 a. m., ending about noon.

Pasadena, Calif., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—A violent earthquake 5,000 miles to the southeast was registered 6:33:24 and 6:42:42 a. m. today at the Carnegie Institution seismological laboratory here. The record indicated that its epicenter was of great depth.

Farmers Threaten Strike to Force Higher Price for City's Supply.

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—New York City was threatened tonight with an artificial stoppage of the stream of milk flowing in from up-State at the rate of nearly 4,000,000 quarts a day.

The emergency committee of the New York Milk Shed, reputed to represent 1,500,000 dairymen in New York, New Jersey, Vermont and Pennsylvania, has been informed that producers in various sections of this State have vowed to strike unless independent wholesalers cease cutting prices and the price is stabilized at a living minimum.

George N. Allen, secretary of the committee, was conferring with delegations of farmers and negotiating with independent dealers in an attempt to avert the stoppage of from 35 to 40 per cent of the daily supply to this point.

"We are trying to do everything we can to prevent a strike," he said, "but the farmers are desperate. They have been reading about the Western strikes, and we don't know if we will be able to hold them in line."

He expected the crisis would come before Monday, he said, on the basis of the ultimatum served by a mass meeting of farmers at Adams Center giving the United Milk Products Co., which wholesales the bulk of milk in the Brooklyn area, 24 hours to increase its buying price.

The stabilization plan call for a farmer's price of 5 cents a quart and a wholesale price of 8 cents a quart. Three firms in Brooklyn were said to be buying as low as 1½ cents and selling at 4, 5 and 6 cents.

Telegraphic Dispatches

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Abe B. Lewis, former vice president of the Bank of Commerce and Trust Co., was indicted today on two counts of forgery and one count of fraudulent breach of trust. Irregularities in his accounts amounting to $93,728.87 were alleged in the indictments. He is under $25,000 bond.

Yazoo City, Miss., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Striking shrimp fishermen of Biloxi, Miss., won the first skirmish of their court fight with factory operators today as Federal Judge E. R. Holmes dismissed a petition of the packers for an injunction against strikers interferring with plant operations.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—The condition of James C. Stone, chairman of the Federal Farm Board, was declared "quite satisfactory" by Johns Hopkins Hospital attaches following an operation today. The Farm Board chairman probably will be confined to the hospital for three or four weeks. The operation was performed by Dr. Hugh H Young.

Jackson, Miss., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Mississippi has worked financial wonders with a 2 per cent sales tax and inquiries have come from far and wide, asking how 'twas done, but even that didn't satisfy State officials and now there's a movement on foot for a 5 per cent levy. An organization of officials known as the State Association of Boards of Supervisors is sponsoring a campaign for the higher tax and a reduction on ad valorem property levies.

Gloucester, Mass., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—The North Atlantic today continued to hide the whereabouts of the Patra, largest schooner fishing out of Gloucester, but Capt. Ben Pine, famous racing skipper and part owner, declined to give her and her crew of seven up as lost. The Patra left Labrador nearly three weeks ago deeply laden with fish and carrying a deck load of 100 barrels of cod liver oil.

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Gov. Gardner today honored requisition papers from Georgia for Boone D. Tillett, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, who is wanted in Atlanta to answer to charges of passing bad checks.

Greenville, Tenn., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Rifle fire from ambush killed F. M. Dudley, 58, and wounded his nephew, Lester Crum, 23, today as they were walking along a path near the North Carolina line. The youth could give no reason for the ambushing.

San Juan, Puerto Rico, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Gov. James R. Beverley, a Texan, has appointed Woodfin L. Butte, another Texan, his private secretary. Mr. Butte is the son of Dr. George C. Butte, justice of the Supreme Court of the Philippine Islands. The elder Butte was dean of the law school of the University of Texas and a former candidate for governor of the State.

Kingsport, Tenn., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Charles Leonard, 23-year-old convict guard, who was attacked by three prisoners at a road gang at Moccasin Gap, Va., last week, died in a hospital here last night of a fractured skull. He was struck on the head with an iron bar. Two of the convicts escaped. Thomas Marshall, 24, was captured.

Kansas City, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—The Rev. Otis L. Spurgeon, Baptist minister and national secretary of the Liberty party, said today he had been notified by Frank E. Webb, the Liberty presidential nominee, of his selection as the party's vice presidential candidate. He replaces Andrae B. Nordskog, who was eliminated from the position because of a provision which forbids the nomination of two candidates residing in the same State. Webb and Nordskog are both Californians.

Harrisburg, Ark., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Herman Ledbetter, 31-year-old farmer, was captured today and charged with the murder of his 2-year-old stepson, who was beaten to death near here Thursday. Scores of citizens joined the search for him following the issuance of a first-degree murder warrant on the complaint of his wife, whom he married a year ago.

Philadelphia, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—The Susquehanna River was at its lowest stage in many years today as a result of drought conditions during the last few months in this section. Sand bars and rocks which seldom are seen show above water, and the river coal fleet, which usually sucks a rich harvest of fine coal washed down from the upstream mines, is tied up.

Chicago, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Robert Maynard Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, has been made a knight of the Legion of Honor by President Lebrun of France, Rene Weiller, French consul here, notified him today.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Michael E. Doyle, 49, of Ansonia, indicted on a murder charge in the fatal shooting of his wife, Lillian, 39, committed suicide today in the New Haven County Jail by severing the veins in his right leg with a razor blade. In a finding issued two days ago, Coroner James J. Corrigan expressed the opinion that Doyle had intended to commit suicide after shooting his wife.

Hollywood, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Mrs. Mabel Hubbell Ward Mix, circus aerial star and wife of Tom Mix, cowboy film actor, underwent an operation for appendicitis today. She is confined in the hospital where some months ago Mix almost died of complications of the same ailment. Her condition was reported satisfactory.

Gooding, Idaho, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Senator John Thomas was reported improving today, following an attack of influenza at his home here.

Chicago, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—William S. Brock, noted flier, returned today to Presbyterian Hospital after resting several weeks at his home. Physicians said there was little change in Brock's condition, but that hospital attention again was believed advisable. Brock entered the hospital several months ago, suffering from nervous disorders and a rundown condition.

Harlan, Ky., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—James Reynolds, 40, Evarts miner, today was given a life sentence in Harlan Circuit Court by a Jessamine County jury, on a charge of slaying Deputy Sheriff Jim Daniels, one of four men killed in the mine battle at Evarts in May, 1931. The jury deliberated six hours. Reynolds was the sixth person given a life sentence in the Evarts case.

South River, N. J., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—The body of 9-year-old Walter Rojek, killed by a bullet Monday in a riot that marked the climax of the needle-workers strike, was carried two miles through the streets of South River today in a funeral procession of nearly 3,000 persons.

Lakehurst, N. J., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—The Navy dirigible Akron returned to the naval air station at 9:45 a. m. (E. D. T.) today after a 36-hour routine training flight along the Atlantic coast.

FALL DAYS SHARPEN APPETITE FOR FOOD

Valuable Hints in That Line May Be Found in Post's Saturday Recipes.

Autumn days are here, and with them comes a desire for food of a more hearty nature than that which satisfied families during the heated term.

The wise homemaker will find many hints along this line in the regular Saturday food page of The Washington Post. Every effort is made to bring the latest ideas in homemaking in the line of food to the attention of its readers.

In this connection there is splendid cooperation from Washington firms who weekly place attractive advertisements on this page as their share in the mission to make the homemaker's task in these difficult days less difficult.

Responding to a recent request, mothers are sending in suggestions for school lunches which should be of great assistance to other parents when they are published. More are requested, and in a week or two the results of the contest will be published.

The winners today of book awards and honorable mentions and their winning recipes are:

SMOTHERED CHICKEN.

(Book Award.)

Two 2-pound frying chickens (Sanitary)
2 tablespoons Land o' Lakes butter (Sanitary)
½ cup flour
1 tablespoon salt
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
Dash black pepper
2 cups of water

Prepare chickens and leave whole, as for baking; roll in flour, brown in hot butter in frying pan on top of stove. Remove to roaster and pour drippings of butter over chickens, add water and sprinkle with salt, pepper and nutmeg; cover and cook in moderate oven until tender, or about ¾ of an hour.

MRS. J. C. GAINES.
111 North Patrick street, Alexandria, Va.

"BUTTERFLY" SALAD.

(Honorable Mention.)

Sliced pineapple (Sanitary)
Stuffed olives (Sanitary)
Seeded dates (Sanitary)
Lettuce (Sanitary)

Cut pineapple slices in half, put the two halves together so that the rounded parts meet in the middle, slice (very thinly) stuffed olives and place about three or four slices on each piece of pineapple, representing the "wings." Next cut dates (lengthwise) into very small pieces, then, curving them outward a little, place two of the pieces at top of "butterfly" to represent the feelers, then place on top of pineapple right down the center (where the curved pineapple meets) a spoonful of whipped cream dressing. Place the dressing up and down the pineapple so as to represent its back. This salad should be formed on a crisp, green lettuce leaf.

This makes a very tasty salad, also a very pretty one.

Whipped Cream Dressing.

2 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ cup vinegar
1 tablespoon butter
3 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon paprika
1-3 cup sugar
½ cup water
2-3 cup whipped cream.

(All ingredients purchased from the Sanitary.)

Beat the eggs and add flour, salt, paprika, mustard and sugar. Mix well. Add vinegar and water. Cook in double boiler until creamy. Stir frequently. Add butter and mix well. Cool, fold in whipped cream.

MRS. HATTIE P. TOLSON.
3646 Park place northwest.

MACARONI MOUSSE.

(Honorable Mention.)

1 cup macaroni broken in 2-inch pieces (Sanico)
1½ cups scalding milk (half Select milk and half water may be used)
1 cup soft bread crumbs (Schneiders)
¼ cup melted butter
1 pimento (chopped)
1 tablespoon onion (chopped)
1 tablespoon parsley (chopped)
⅜ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper, dash of paprika
1½ cups Wisconsin Milk cheese (grated)
3 Sanico eggs

Cook macaroni (in salted water, boiling furiously), blanch in cold water and drain. Pour scalded milk over bread crumbs, add butter and pimento, parsley, onion, seasonings and grated cheese. Add well-beaten eggs. Put macaroni in well-greased loaf pan and pour cheese mixture over it. Bake about 50 minutes in slow oven until loaf is firm. Serve with mushroom or shrimp sauce, which can be made by using a cream sauce, to which is added a can of mushrooms or shrimp (baked), using half of canned liquor in place of the full portion of milk in cream sauce.

MRS. A. A. McGARVEY.
713 Irving street northwest.

HAM TIMBALE.

(Honorable Mention.)

2 cups ground ham
1 cup cream sauce
2 eggs (Rockingham)

Mix and turn into buttered mold. Bake twenty minutes in pan of hot water. Serve at once.

This is delicious as a luncheon or supper dish.

Market Meanderings

By MILDRED REED BUNDY

The headquarters of an official in an enormous refrigerating and warehousing corporation was an important stopping point for the Meanderer this week. There, she knew, should be important news about food for the coming winter. And there she was told that food prices are not likely to rise to formidable figures in the next few months.

Sometimes a visit to a place of food business merely to get news about food—not to buy it—brings little result. Naturally the merchant, busy and anxious to sell, does not desire to stop in the middle or beginning of his hurrying day to give information.

But this was not true of the warehousing official, who is of leading importance in the meanderings of the week. Within the high walls of the building where he does his work many things of importance were waiting his attention. And outside the big building, all about Washington, are things that interest this busy man and take his time.

Even outside Washington, too, there are demands on his time, for in his interesting capacity with his business he travels everywhere in the United States to learn about food conditions. He was at the time of the Meanderer's visit—which was without appointment — planning a lengthy business trip. But in spite of it all this official was very willing to talk about food.

He is a food economist. He hopes to see not only much money made from sales of food, but comfortable livings made by those who sell it, and the best of values for those who buy it. In one visit, the Meanderer saw that his opinions are obviously those of an economist, rather than of a merchant, though managing food selling has been his business for more than twenty years. So here it was possible to get a clear forecast of the food situation for the coming winter.

"Are foods to be much higher?" the Meanderer asked first.

"No." The answer was decisive. "Any increases in the cost of food to come this winter will be slight. A few commodities which have recently increased in price would have done so in the ordinary course of things. Butter, for instance, must cost more than the price of less than 25 cents that it brought in the spring. It must cost more to be on a sound basis of production. But, generally speaking, there is plenty of food of all kinds and no reason for sharp increases in cost."

The White Heath cling peaches, so much wanted at this season, are to be only a very limited crop, according to one wholesale dealer in peaches. The crop is so much shorter than usual that there will be scarcely one basket to a customer, and ordinarily there are many customers for the crop.

For those who have not as yet made their grape jelly or marmalade, or other grape products, it is hopeful to learn that for three weeks more excellent grapes will be available.

Salt water oysters are beginning to arrive in the water front fish markets. They sell at about 50 cents a quart. Potomac oysters, counting about 125 to the bushel, cost $1.50 a bushel in the same markets.

Chesapeake Bay trout at 15 cents a pound are an excellent choice this week while one is fish shopping. They are found in the same waterfront fish shops where the Meanderer also found blue fish, butter fish and Boston mackerel selling for the same price by the pound.

Apples have suffered greatly from the drought of the last few weeks. One apple authority said that after a survey of the Virginia apple crop it appeared that most varieties of apples would be much smaller in size than usual, more nearly like crabapples than their natural size. But in irrigated districts there are many fine large apples ready for market.

Along with the arrival of fresh globe artichokes the Meanderer has discovered choice canned hearts of globe artichokes in a chain store for as little as 10, 15 and 20 cents a can. This is an extremely low price for artichokes of such good quality.

Mothers who need help in planning children's meals will welcome the 18-ounce can of a well-known brand of chocolate sirup now selling for only 10 cents in a chain store. Only hot water or milk needs be added to make a quick, nourishing drink.

Skinless, boneless sardines from Portugal, where the best sardines are said to originate, are selling in half-pound tins at a chain store, two tins for 25 cents, a very low price for their high quality.

For fall parties and picnics some new sandwich spreads the Meanderer found at a chain store should be useful. They are in a wider variety of choice meats than ever shown before in this market. The list includes turkey, shrimp, lobster, wild duck, partridge and several mixtures of meat, such as turkey and ham, chicken, ham and tongue, turkey and tongue and turkey, ham and tongue. Three-ounce jars of such spreads sell for 29 cents.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

(Bureau of Home Economics.)

Rice and Onion Soup.

2 tablespoons broken rice
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups water
1 onion (cut in half)
2 cups milk (fresh, evaporated or dried)
¼ cup salt pork cut in small pieces

Wash the rice and sprinkle slowly into the boiling salted water, add the onion and cook until the rice is tender. Brown the pork until crisp, remove from the fat. Mix all of these ingredients except the pork with the milk and heat the mixture. When hot, remove the onion, add the crisped salt pork and serve.

Vegetables au Gratin.

Mix two or more kinds of fresh-cooked or left-over vegetables such as string beans, carrots and turnips or cauliflower, and place in a shallow baking dish. Pour over the vegetables thin white sauce, to which cheese may be added if desired. Cover with buttered bread crumbs and bake in a moderate oven until the sauce bubbles and the crumbs are brown.

Muffin Cakes.

¼ cup butter
½ cup sugar
1 egg
½ cup milk
1½ cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
2½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon vanilla

Cream the butter, add the sugar gradually and then the well-beaten egg. Sift the flour, salt and baking powder together and add alternately with the milk to the first mixture. Add the vanilla. Fill lightly greased muffin pans and bake from 25 to 30 minutes in a moderate oven.

Bean Stew.

2 cups dried beans
Water
¼ pound salt pork
Pepper
Salt to taste (depending on saltiness of pork)
Chopped onion, celery or green pepper, if desired

Soak the beans overnight in cold water to cover. In the morning add 3 cups of water, the salt pork and seasonings. Let simmer for an hour or until the beans are tender.

If more water is needed, it should be hot when added. The beans may be cooked without previous soaking, but twice as long will be required. If cooked in a covered vessel, slightly less time is required and the stew will have a stronger bean flavor.

Chopped Cabbage Sandwiches.

Chop the cabbage fine, mix with a little creamed butter and use as a spread between slices of bread. Small square sandwiches (an ordinary sandwich quartered) are most easily handled by young children.

Creamy Rice With Apricots.

½ cup rice
1 cup boiling water
1½ cups milk
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
2 cups chopped fresh fruit or dried fruit soaked and cooked

Cook the rice over direct heat in the cup of boiling water. When the water has been almost absorbed put the rice in a double boiler, add the milk, salt and sugar. Cover and cook until the rice is tender. Mix the rice and fruit and when chilled serve with top milk.

DEVIL'S FOOD CAKE RECIPE IS WINNER

Washington Post's Prize of $5 Is Awarded to Miss E. M. Koenig.

This week's Post $5 recipe prize was awarded to Miss E. M. Koenig, of 1117 Allison street northwest. Miss Koenig submitted a recipe for "Devil's Food."

To be eligible for the prizes which are awarded weekly by The Post recipes which are sent in must use some ingredient sold by the advertisers of the Saturday Food Page of The Post.

Miss Koenig's recipe follows:

1-3 cake chocolate melted in ½ cup sweet milk
3 eggs
½ cup butter
2 cups sugar
1 cup sour milk (1 level teaspoon soda dissolved in it)
2 cups flour

Cream sugar and butter, add eggs well beaten, sweet milk and chocolate, then sour milk and soda, and last flour. (Buttermilk may be substituted for sour milk).

The ingredients are from Sanitary Grocery.

OUR DAILY FOOD

By COLONEL GOODBODY

TWO years ago, in August, I sailed down to Brazil, to the beautiful harbor of Rio de Janeiro. I visited Rio for a few days, and then sailed on a little farther down the Atlantic Coast of South America, to Santos.

"When you get to Santos," said my friends who had traveled southward, "you'll see coffee, smell coffee and drink coffee, from the minute you land." Well, they were about right. Even before the ship landed, we caught the pleasing aroma of coffee.

Santos—with its palms and poinsettias and banana plantations—its houses of pink and blue and green—was vivid beneath a tropic sun.

Santos is the greatest coffee market in the world. Very likely the coffee you made for breakfast this morning began its long ocean voyage in this port. Ships of all nations throng the quays of Santos.

There are many things we can do without, but coffee—well, I agree with William Dean Howells, who said: "This coffee intoxicates without being exciting, soothes you softly out of dull sobriety, making you think and talk of all the pleasant things that ever happened to you."

Of course, there is coffee which does not lead to pleasant thoughts. It all depends on how good it is, to begin with, and how it is prepared.

"Coffee boiled is coffee spoiled." Avoid boiling coffee, say the coffee experts. For boiling draws out certain bitter oils from the coffee bean.

Also, say the coffee authorities, the best kind of a coffee pot or percolator is made of glass, enamel-ware or earthenware.

Remember, when you buy coffee, that the best drink is made from coffee freshly ground.

The three most widely used methods of making coffee are the old-fashioned coffee pot method, the percolator and the drip method. I won't take the time to go into details, but there are a few cardinal points to remember. For the coffee pot method, use coarsely ground coffee—and never boil it, just let it simmer. If you use a percolator, medium ground coffee is best. And don't percolate it more than 5 to 8 minutes. For the drip method, a fine grind of coffee gives best results. A good trick in making drip coffee is to keep your pot on an asbestos plate over a low flame while it is filtering, so it won't cool.

ARLINGTON G. O. P. AIDS REGISTRATION

Opens Bureau in Clarendon to Help Voters Qualify for Coming Election.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Cla. 309. Clarendon, Va.

With October 8 as the last day for Arlington County voters to get their names on the precinct registrar's books, as a final qualification to cast their ballots on November 8, a bureau has been established at Republican headquarters in the Rucker Building in Clarendon to assist men and women to register.

In announcing the establishment of this information bureau, L. C. MacPherson, Republican county chairman, said, "We want every one in Arlington County to avail himself or herself of this bureau which will furnish complete, accurate and reliable information concerning the registration requirements under the State election laws."

Chairman MacPherson said he had received a report from the county committee's subcommittee on registration, of which Edgar W. Pumphrey is chairman, showing that there are at least 1,400 persons now not registered.

All persons who have paid their poll tax but have not yet registered must do so. All persons who took up residence in Arlington County after January 1, 1931, are eligible to register without paying any poll tax. All persons who reached their twenty-first birthday since last November or will reach voting age on or before November 8 are eligible to register in their respective precincts upon paying one year's poll tax as new voters.

It is further pointed out that all persons who have moved from one precinct to another within the county must obtain a transfer and make sure that his or her name is placed on the books of the registrar in his or her precinct.

Property Rezoned In Prince Georges

2 Applications Approved, One Refused and One Is Held Over.

The Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission approved two zoning applications, disapproved one and referred another to the Prince Georges County members for further consideration at its weekly meeting. Chief Engineer Irving C. Root announced last night.

The board approved the application of W. P. Magruder for change in zoning from residential A to commercial D of lots 23 to 26 in block 10, Berwyn, Md., and the application of E. V. R. Sweet, agent, for change from residential A to commercial D of lots 17 to 23 in block 7, Wiles Subdivision, and lots 3 to 6, block 9, Brentwood, subject to suitable setback restrictions.

The commission disapproved the application of Mabelle Seek for change in classification of lot 12, block K, Silver Spring, from residential A to residential C and referred the application of Joseph R. Lovett for reclassification of lots 11 to 13, block 4, Pinecrest Subdivision, Takoma Park, from residential A to commercial D to the Prince Georges members.

Youth Day Tomorrow At National Christian

Youth Day will be observed tomorrow morning at the National City Christian Church. At the church school hour, at 9:45 o'clock, the observance will be combined with the Rally and Promotion day program.

A service, "The Christ of the Mountain Top," arranged and directed by Mrs. Helen Turley, will be presented by representatives of the departments of the church school, assisted by the chapel choir, a group of twenty young girls. At the morning church service Dr. H. H. Harmon will preach a special sermon for youth, "The Vision Splendid."

"Religion and Crisis" Theme of Dr. Perkins

"Religion and Crisis" is the sermon theme of Dr. Frederic W. Perkins tomorrow morning at the Universalist National Memorial Church.

The church school will meet at 10:15, except the adult class which follows the church service. On Tuesday the Ladies' Aid Association will meet at 1:30 o'clock for its business session followed by a card party and social afternoon. At 4 o'clock tea will be served, Mrs. Elwood J. Way being the hostess.

Dr. McCartney to Preach On Healing of Paralytic

Tomorrow morning at the Covenant-First Presbyterian Church, located at N street and Eighteenth, the pastor, Dr. Albert Joseph McCartney, will preach on the subject "Dare I Be a Christian?" His discourse is based upon the incident at the pool of Bethesda, where Jesus healed a paralytic.

Books Theme of Sermon.

At the Chevy Chase Baptist Church tomorrow morning the message by the pastor, the Rev. Edward C. Clark, will be based upon two somewhat recent books. The title of the sermon is "Religion: Illusion or Obsession, Which?" The books upon which the message will be based are "The Magnificent Illusion," by E. Boyd Barrett, and "The Magnificent Obsession," by Lloyd C. Douglas.

Linderman Wins Scholarship.

J. J. Linderman, a member in good standing of Ace Rasmussen Chapter, Disabled American Veterans, has been chosen as the recipient of the one-year scholarship offered by Columbus University to one member of the District of Columbia Department of the D. A. V. Mr. Linderman is in his senior year of law and will obtain his degree next June.

Fire Engine House Will Be Dedicated

Fairfax Ceremony Tonight to Include Special Program.

The formal dedication of the new fire engine house at Fairfax, Va., will be held tonight. Addresses will be given by George B. Robey, Wilson M. Farr, State Senator John W. Rust and Chief J. H. Beattie, of the McLean Volunteer Fire Department.

The reception committee of the Fairfax Volunteer Fire Department will be headed by Mayor Thomas P. Chapman, sr., and officers of the department. Many amusement attractions have been planned, with music by old-time fiddlers and dancing later in the evening. Delegations from the other volunteer fire departments in the county will attend.

The new one-story engine house, near the center of town, is constructed of cinder block and brick. It houses the two pieces of fire-fighting equipment and provides a large meeting room for the department.

Arlington Zoning Will Be Discussed

County Board Asks Views of Citizens Tonight on Changes.

A special session will be held by the county board Monday night when consideration will be given to proposed amendments to the present zoning ordinance, according to County Manager Roy S. Braden.

Mr. Braden said that copies of the zoning ordinance may be obtained from his office at the courthouse.

It is pointed out by members of the county board that there are many changes that should be made in the ordinance and the views of citizens are sought.

Driver Tests for Youths Start Today in Fairfax

Dates for examination of youths, between 14 and 18 years of age, for automobile drivers' permits in Virginia have been announced by the State motor vehicle commissioner's office for Fairfax County as follows: Courthouse at Fairfax, today, October 14, November 3 and 25 and December 18. In the police station, at Falls Church, on Monday, October 15, November 4 and 26 and December 16.

These examinations will be conducted by Sergt. John Thornton and Inspector Wayne Carr, of the State police, under the new Virginia traffic code adopted at the last session of the General Assembly. The code requires drivers' permits for all persons, with special examinations for youths under 18 years old.

ALEXANDRIA MASONS TO GO TO RICHMOND

Delegation of Shriners Will Attend Ceremonial in Mosque Today.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

A delegation of Alexandria Shriners will leave at 3 p. m. today for Richmond to attend a ceremonial in the Mosque. Joseph H. Kretchmer, president of the Alexander Shrine Club, has completed arrangements for a caravan of 40 automobiles and expects the largest attendance from Alexandria in the history of the club.

The Alexandria Shriners will assemble at the George Mason Hotel and the delegation will include a number of Alexandria candidates who will walk the "hot sands."

While in Richmond the Alexandrians will be guests at dinner in the Mosque and will also be present for the entertainment program. Imperial Potentate Mills, of Des Moines, Iowa, will be a special guest at the ceremonial.

In the United States court for the eastern district of Virginia, Judge Luther B. Way presiding, sitting in Alexandria yesterday, the bill of Harry W. Rose against the City Council of Alexandria for an injunction to prevent interference with the erection and operation of a gasoline filling station near the corner of Washington and Franklin streets, was dismissed, on the ground that Rose, the plaintiff in the case, is not the owner of the property affected and therefore has no right to maintain such a suit.

The square in question was originally in the residential zone, later changed to commercial, and still later restored to the residential zone. The objection of the city council to the establishment of a filling station was due to the fact that the location was near the Mount Vernon Memorial highway. Objection was also filed by a property owner in the neighborhood.

Three persons were injured Thursday when an automobile driven by Harry Ridgeway, of 316 Raymond avenue, Alexandria, overturned on King Street road between Donaldson's store and Balleys Cross Roads. Those injured were Norman Edwards, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mason Edwards, of Hume Spring, suffering from a fracture at the base of the skull and other injuries; Ernest Mills, 12, 316 Raymond avenue, concussion of the brain and broken collar bone, and Harry Ridgeway, fracture of two ribs.

The two boys are in the Alexandria Hospital.

Prerally Day at Albright.

The prerally day general assembly of Albright Memorial Sunday School will be held in the recreation hall tomorrow morning at 9:45 o'clock. All classes and departments will report on their goals for rally day, which will be held on the following Sunday. The annual rally communion service will be held tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.

Alumni Picnic Next Saturday.

The National Capital Chapter of Alumni of Iowa State College will hold its annual picnic next Saturday at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Pearson, at Hyattsville, Md. H. B. Swanson is president of the chapter.

Game Refuge Is Extended.

Harrisburg, Pa. (U.P.).—The State game commission has added a tract in the famous Mehoopany Creek section of Wyoming County to its game refuge holdings. The tract, an area of 2,054 acres, is located in ideal bear country. The State already owns 19,065 acres of game land in the county.

Attendance Mark Broken At Francis Asbury Church

At Francis Asbury M. E. Church, South, Sixteenth street near Lamont street northwest, tomorrow morning the pastor, Dr. J. J. Rives, will speak on "Trying the Impossible." At 8 p. m., the subject of his sermon will be "Perfect Knowledge."

At both services the Francis Asbury Quartet and the choir will render special musical programs. The attendance at the morning and evening services for the month of September has been the largest in the history of the church.

At 9:30 a. m., rally day and promotion exercises of the Sunday school will be held in the church auditorium. The program, under the direction of the Misses Ruth Hall and Margaret Iseley, will be based upon "The Cross" and will be participated in by all departments of the Sunday school. Certificates will be awarded to those members qualifying for promotion.

On Wednesday evening the Women's Missionary Society will be hostess to all the women of the church. Husbands are also invited.

BISHOP TO OCCUPY CATHEDRAL PULPIT

Dr. Freeman Will Preach at Evensong Service Tomorrow.

The Right. Rev. Dr. James Edward Freeman, Bishop of Washington, will deliver the sermon at the people's evensong service in the great choir of Washington Cathedral tonforrow at 4 o'clock. The preacher at the celebration of the Holy Communion at 11 a. m. will be Canon Raymond L. Wolven, chaplain to the bishop.

A cordial invitation is extended to visitors and residents of Washington to attend these services, at which music will be rendered by the cathedral choir of men and boys under the direction of Edgar Priest, organist and choirmaster. The evensong service will be broadcast over radio station WMAL.

Other cathedral services tomorrow include a celebration of the Holy Communion at 7:30 a. m. and the reading of morning prayer and the litany at 10 a. m., in the Bethlehem Chapel.

Pilgrim aids will be on duty all day to escort visitors through the cathedral, except at the hours when services are being held and to other points of religious interest within the spacious grounds. There will be the usual group pilgrimages starting from the Chapel of St. John in the South Choir aisle at 12:30 p. m. and 5 p. m., immediately following the two services in the great choir.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE IS GIVEN

Judge Hill Discusses System as a Study of the Law of Man's Being.

A lecture on "Christian Science: A Study of the Law of Man's Being," was delivered last evening in the edifice of First Church of Christ, Scientist by Judge Frederick C. Hill, of Clinton, Ill. Judge Hill is a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. He was introduced by Walter Moling, First Reader of First Church, under the auspices of which this lecture was given. The following are selections from the lecture:

Mary Baker Eddy was a great woman. Her greatness is supported by three major achievements:

First—After she had passed the meridian line of life, she became the author of a book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," which challenge the attention of the reading public throughout the world.

Second—In 1879, she organized a church "to commemorate the words and works of our Master, a Mind-healing church, without a creed, to be called the Church of Christ, Scientist, the first such church ever organized" (Retrospection and Introspection, p. 44). At this time this church has approximately 2,500 branch church organizations encircling the globe.

Newspaper Is Established.

Third: In 1908, she established the Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper, which, from the standpoint of clean journalism, is regarded by many as the standard of perfection in the newspaper world.

These achievements are legitimate authority for our resorting to her writings in determining every controverted issue regarding this science. In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 107), she says, "In the year 1866, I discovered the Christ Science or divine laws of life, truth and love, and named my discovery Christian Science."

Furthermore, in her book, "Rudimental Divine Science" (p. 1), she asks this question, "How would you define Christian Science?" She then answers the question thus: "As the law of God, the law of good, interpreting and demonstrating the divine principle and rule of universal harmony."

Agrees With Blackstone.

Let me now call attention to this fact. Her declarations and definitions are squarely in line with statements and facts and conclusions so ably set forth in 1765 by the eminent Sir William Blackstone, who wrote his commentaries on the laws of England 100 years before Mrs. Eddy made her discovery of the "divine laws of Life, Truth, and Love." Their statements and logic agree in substance and in fact.

They agree that the basic law is divine—God's law. They further agree that God's divine law is revealed through the Scriptures and must be discovered therein; and they are in exact accord with the fact that divine law is sufficient under all circumstances and conditions to meet the human needs of mankind.

Chorus Will Sing At Mt. Pleasant

Congregational Church to Hear Special Music Tomorrow.

At the Mount Pleasant Congregational Church tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, the Mount Pleasant Chorus will sing for the first time this season.

The chorus will be under the direction of Norton M. Little, with Claude Robeson at the organ, and will be assisted by the solo quartet, composed of Miss Elsie Schulze, soprano; Miss Mary Apple, alto; William P. Shanahan, tenor, and Herman Fakler, bass.

The program of music will be as follows: Organ prelude, "Priere a Notre Dame" (Gothic suite), (Boellmann); choruses: "When Winds Are Raging" (Jones), "The Lord Is My Shepherd" (Schubert); organ postlude, "Minuet" (Gothic suite), (Boellmann).

Christian Science Churches

"Reality" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all the Churches of Christ, Scientist, tomorrow. The Golden Text is from Psalms 90:2: "From everlasting to everlasting, thou art God." Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "The earth is the Lord's, and the fullness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein" Psalms 24:1.

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Let us learn of the real and eternal, and prepare for the reign of Spirit, the kingdom of heaven—the reign and rule of universal harmony, which can not be lost nor remain forever unseen." (Page 208.)

Rev. George E. Truett to Preach.

At the West Washington Baptist Church tomorrow at 11 a. m. the sermon will be by the Rev. George E. Truett, pastor of this church 53 years ago. The morning prayer will be made by John H. Newman, a member of the church for 65 years. The pastor, the Rev. C. B. Austin, will preach at 8 p. m. on the subject, "If We Love Jesus."

POOR ADVICE ON BONUS.

Democratic headquarters have let it be known that Gov. Roosevelt will announce his position on immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus before election day. Indications are that he will speak on veterans' relief somewhere in the East after returning from his present speaking tour. A great deal of pressure has been brought to bear upon Gov. Roosevelt to make his position clear on this issue. His intention to meet the issue squarely will be generally applauded.

Along with this announcement, however, came information that aides of Gov. Roosevelt are collecting data on which to base a program of veterans' relief. Many of Gov. Roosevelt's advisers are urging him not to take a categorical stand against payment of the bonus before it is due, but to urge in place of the bonus a program of veterans' relief that would cost less money. Apparently the governor himself has not yet examined all the pertinent facts and has yet to decide what his course will be.

The problem, as conceived by Gov. Roosevelt's advisers, is to capture the soldier vote without promising to support immediate payment of the bonus. The attitude of taxpayers seems to be ignored. For example, one proposal is that there shall be an appropriation of $300,000,000 for relief of needy veterans, on the ground that this sum is only a fraction of the $2,300,000,000 that would be needed to cash the bonus certificates. There is nothing to indicate that Gov. Roosevelt will adopt this proposal.

All veterans who are suffering from disability, whether or not it is connected with their war service, are already entitled to draw benefits from the Government. Most of them have allowances or pensions, in addition to free hospitalization, civil service preferences, and a long list of other potential benefits. To create a special fund for the relief of this group, while other citizens have to rely upon charity, would be a boomerang of the first magnitude. Compared with the relief needs of the whole people, the needs of this already privileged group are petty. It is unthinkable that any candidate seeking public office would single out the veterans for special privileges from the relief angle.

If Gov. Roosevelt has decided to offer the veterans something in place of the bonus, his problem is indeed complicated. For the last ten years politicians have been thinking up schemes to appease the veterans' lobby, and so many of these schemes have been enacted into law that the field is pretty well covered. Any step that the Democratic nominee might take along this line would lead into difficulties.

The advisers of Gov. Roosevelt who are trying to sidestep the outright issue involved in the bonus demand ought not to forget that the Democratic platform contains a plank demanding a reduction of $1,000,000,000 in the Federal budget. That objective would be utterly impossible without a considerable reduction of veterans' benefits. Instead of launching out into a new field of veterans' relief, the Democratic party must be prepared to trim down many of the gratuities paid to former soldiers, if its pledge to taxpayers is to be kept.

Only unequivocal opposition by Gov. Roosevelt to payment of the bonus at present will take that issue out of the presidential contest.

COLLEGE MEDICAL CARE.

The extensive national survey that is being made by the committee on the costs of medical care, with a view to providing adequate and scientific service to all at a cost which can reasonably be met, is preparing to publish the results of its five-year study before the end of the year. From time to time, however, the committee announces the conclusion of some special study, the latest, just issued, showing the results of practical systems of medical care installed at colleges.

This report covers the operation of organized medical service at the State universities of Michigan, Minnesota and California, the Oregon State Agricultural College, and at Yale and Cornell. It shows that comprehensive medical care can be provided at a cost of from $14 to $24 per capita for the school year. About 40,000 students in these institutions were entitled to the various health services.

At all six colleges the services were maintained through the payment of student fees, supplemented by subsidies from the institutions themselves, which ranged from very little in some cases to nearly 50 per cent in others. At the four State institutions student payments practically covered all costs. The costs of operation run from $10 per capita at Oregon State to $34 at Yale for 250 days, the fees from students running from $9 to $20.

The service received ranged from a preliminary medical examination, supplemented by counsel and advice by a general practitioner in cases of ambulatory illness, to thorough periodic examinations, correction of physical defects, hospitalization, and surgery. By emphasis upon examinations such a service is able to concentrate its efforts upon preventive medicine and early discovery of diseases and defects, rather than upon remedial measures required to relieve advanced pathological conditions.

Results obtained in these schools indicate the advantages to be gained by organization of medical care through group practice by physicians and group purchase by patients. There are possibilities for wide application of the system.

HOARDING ENDS.

For several weeks the Federal Reserve Board has reported decreases in the volume of hoarded money. A decline of more than $26,000,000 in the currency outside of the central banking system was reported this week. No definite check upon the amount that actually comes out of hiding can be made, but it is substantial. Federal Reserve officials attribute this improvement to the increasing activity of the securities and commodities markets and the strengthening of the banks.

People who put currency in hoarding are already regretting it. When this money was laid away in safety deposit boxes or in old socks it was worth more than money has been for many years. Money invested in the early summer has now multiplied to twice or maybe three times its worth.

Realization of this fact is stimulating the public to bring out its hoarded dollars and to put them to work. The return of this money to circulation has helped the banks, and the banks in turn have been able to help business and industry, thus loosening up the wheels of the entire economic system and accelerating their motion once more.

The complete return of hoarded money to circulation probably will be a slow process. The overweening pessimist will probably keep his old sock bulging until prosperity has returned and hard times have been forgotten. But in the meantime he will have lost the opportunity to make great gains.

Psychological factors played a very important role in the wave of depression which swept over this country last spring and early summer. Now that the worst is over a remarkable improvement in sentiment can be noted, even though the actual improvement in business has been slight. The removal of unwarranted fears is a notable step in advance. A reasonable degree of recovery can be attained merely by this loosening of the mental attitude, which was "frozen" along with bank assets and commercial credit.

A SENATE FOR GERMANY.

Along with other reforms, Germany is considering a change in the nature of the Reichsrat, or federal council. Since the constitution of Weimar was adopted the Reichsrat has functioned only as an advisory body. Ministers are required to consult the Reichsrat on important issues, but that body is not a legislative chamber. The question now before Germany is whether the constitution should be amended to make the Reichsrat a senate, to supplement the Reichstag.

It is easy to understand the interest in this question at present. The Reichstag has failed to function in a critical period. Several recent sessions have been dissolved by President von Hindenburg to save the republic from collapse. The Reichstag is filled with hotheads. One faction is determined to set up a fascist dictatorship, and another to create a soviet republic. There is no effective check upon the vehemence of this popular chamber, except the arbitrary powers lodged in the president. Consequently, representative government has broken down in Germany and the republic is preserved only by the president's emergency powers.

At the time the German constitution was adopted there was a good deal of talk about the efficiency of a single-chamber legislature. The American bicameral plan was generally disregarded by the new republics that sprang up after the war. They had no fear of unrestrained popular rule. The idea of having one legislative body counterbalance and check another was considered old-fashioned. Many thoughtful students of government in Germany are now convinced that a second legislative chamber would give greater stability to the Reich and might avert the impending crisis.

Germany's experience is an interesting commentary on legislative organization. Apparently the one-chamber system works well until an emergency arises. Then it is likely to become too impulsive. Since virtually all one-chamber legislatures are elected directly by the people they have a tendency to truckle to organized minorities in troublous times and just prior to elections.

It is not pleasant to contemplate what might have happened in the United States during the last session of Congress if the House of Representatives had wielded the full legislative powers. Its vote in favor of the $2,300,000,000 bonus and the $2,100,000,000 pork-barrel bill, to say nothing of its inflation policy, would certainly have brought about a major crisis in this country. But the more sober judgment of the Senate rejected these and a number of other reckless measures that had been approved by the House. The country did not have to choose between a financial calamity and executive dictatorship, because the Senate stepped into the breach.

Time has vindicated the judgment of the statesmen who gave the United States two legislative bodies with substantially equal powers, but different composition. The high mortality among governments in the last two years has shifted emphasis from quick translation of the people's whims into legislation to greater stability. If Germany creates an upper chamber out of the Reichsrat to restrain the impetuosity of the Reichstag the bicameral system will acquire new prestige.

THE SILVER DREAM.

It was evident that Gov. Roosevelt's reference to silver was not a part of his prepared speech-making program. Under the pressure of the politicians who flocked to his train after it got out in the copper States, where silver is produced as a by-product, it became necessary for him to say something. It wasn't much, to be sure. Gov. Roosevelt mentioned the low price of silver. He even thought something ought to be done about it, but—was the east listening?—nothing that would interfere with the stability of the present currency system.

Gov. Roosevelt assured the silver States that if he were elected President, not content with joining an international conference, he would assume aggressive leadership to have one called. He entirely ignored the fact that the silver question has already been made a part of the agenda of the forthcoming economic conference in which the United States is to participate. The prospects for anything definite being done for silver at that, or any other conference, are extremely meager.

The recent Ottawa conference of the nations of the British Empire, closely related as they are in many ways, was obliged to drop any attempt at monetary agreements. Great hopes were entertained in England that some form of currency might be agreed upon for circulation within the Empire to facilitate inter-dominion trade with Great Britain, but there was no reconciliation possible between such extremes as gold-producing South Africa and silver-using India. If the British dominions could not formulate a plan among themselves there is little hope that they can agree, not only among themselves, but also with the other nations of the world.

Governor Roosevelt falls into the common error of attributing entirely too much importance to the decline in the price of silver as a factor in the loss of American foreign trade. The usual protest is that the buying power of half the population of the world, the silver half, has been cut in two. Yet American exports to the Far East have suffered only in like proportion with the rest of the world. With China, for example, in spite of the disturbed condition of the country, American trade has been maintained remarkably well.

Silver has become a commodity today in the world markets. The nations that were forced off the gold standard are anxious to get back, and the United States has demonstrated the soundness of its fiscal policy. Some agreement may ultimately be reached for greater use of silver in subsidiary coinage, but so far as bimetallism is concerned, with the adoption of any fixed ratio of silver valuation, it is a vain dream which silverites might as well forget.

Dr. Nick Butler claims to speak for the people, and yet his saloonless rum regulations make no provision for chasing the duck or rushing the growler.

The real power trust is the people, who will electrify the country on November 8.

LAST BATTALIONS MOVE

By WILLIAM ULLMAN.

Now the last battalions of the great tourist army are preparing to take to the highways. They are composed of those who defer their annual motor journey until autumn casts its cool, blue haze upon the world.

Every year these last battalions gain new recruits. That is because every year more motor travelers become aware of the fact that fall travel approaches the ideal in many ways which are impossible of attainment at other seasons.

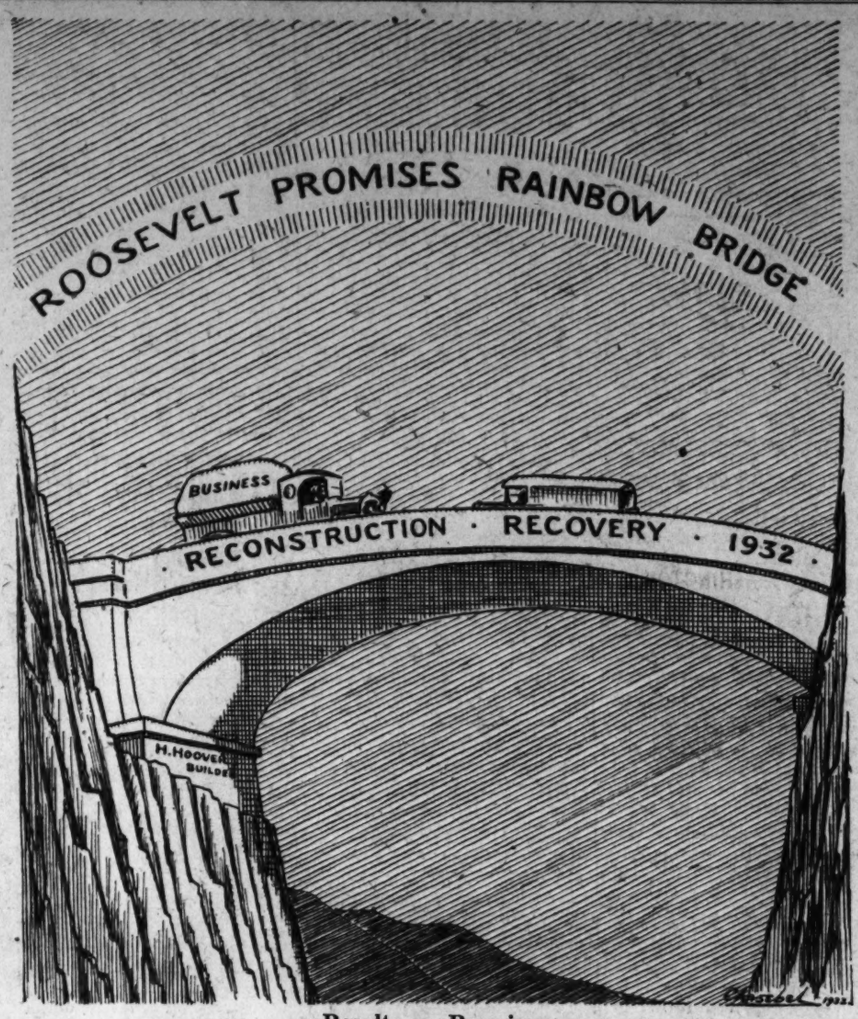
For instance, if one desires comparative solitude on the highways, this "end-of-the-season" period after Labor Day provides it. The road itself is clearer, for a vacationing world has gone back home and its automobiles again are engaged in the routine tasks of taking husbands to offices and shops, wives to stores and children to schools. Playtime is over for the majority and the minority which saved its recess until now has the whole vast playground of the country to itself.

In midsummer, or at the height of the touring season, one may have to take what one can find in the way of tourist lodging houses along the road, or of hotel rooms, or cottages or tents in camps which cater especially to the motorfarer. The coming of Labor Day changes all that. One has one's choice of private homes at which to stay, or hotel rooms with just the vista one desires, or the ideally located cottage or tent at the tourist camp.

There is some shrinkage of facilities, to be sure. A few resorts and camps curtail their services, or close entirely. But the number is by no means proportionate to the shrinkage in the number of potential patrons. The majority stay open just to cater to the post-season tourist; to give him a service that is every bit as efficient as that which prevailed when cash registers rung with a steadier tune—and sometimes the service is less expensive, too, by a curious inversion of the law of supply and demand.

Many join the battalion of autumn tourists solely because of the season's invigorating weather. For them, no prospect of a deep coat of tan, no thought of the glory of bright sunlit days can compare with the glorious cool blueness of fall light. The greens and browns of growing and ripening grains in the fields beside the highways during summer are pleasant colors, and appealing, but not to be compared with the vastly more varied tints with which nature paints the countryside at the season now dawning.

So, the last battalions of the tourist army are preparing to take to the highways!



Results vs. Promises.

POST HASTE.

Since summer officially signed off yesterday the weather man is in danger of summary indictment.

Why, in all his speeches, does Gov. Roosevelt call so earnestly upon "all progressive Americans" to support him? Is it because a Democrat can not be elected president by Democratic votes?

In the last forty years no Democratic candidate for the Presidency has ever received a majority of the votes cast, the average Democratic vote in the ten elections being less than 42 per cent.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

THE TINSMITH GOES ABOVE.

"What did you do?" asked the Lord, and the traveling tinsmith said:
"I used to mend old pots and pans to earn my daily bread.
And you can't get rich at that, for it's little the poor can pay
For closing a gap in a kettle's side, and the rich just send you away.

"Lord, I hadn't much chance on earth, for I traveled the humble streets
Where none but the needy and common folks a traveling tinsmith meets.
Perhaps I am all to blame, but I haven't the right to ask
A place up here with the great and wise for doing so small a task."

And the good Lord smiled and said:
"I have so devised my plans
That a place in Heaven may at last be won by a member of pots and pans.
And all that I care to know and all that I'd have you tell
Is, when you were given a kettle to mend, are you sure that you did it well?"

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Flapper Daughter.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MY DEAR LOUISE: "Which dress shall I wear?" Does that have a familiar sound?

I believe I could count the times I have heard it and tell how many times you have dressed up to go places.

Perhaps it doesn't indicate anything more than a wholesome respect for your mother's judgment, but sometimes I am afraid you have been so much advised that you trust yourself too little.

Self-reliance, like other qualities, must be developed by practice. And the time to practice such things is before your character jells.

I know there are parents who continue to think for their children long after childhood is finished, but I'd rather not be that kind.

They think they are prompted by love, but that isn't their only motive. They enjoy the exercise of authority and hate to surrender it. No one who has been the captain for fifteen or twenty years can come down from that exalted position and argue with privates on terms of equality without longing for the power he has lost.

That is nature's scheme, however, and nobody has yet improved on it.

Do you remember the brown thrashers that built in the water oak near our front steps?

No parents ever worked harder or more unselfishly than those two birds. Their day began before the East was light and they flew in with the last worm long after the street lamps were turned on. Apparently they saved little food for themselves, for they looked starved and ragged before their brood was ready to leave the nest.

But they knew when parental coddling ceased to be a virtue. They forced the youngsters out of the nest when the time was ripe; and though they continued to share their meat and herded the little fellows into the lower branches of a protecting juniper at nightfall, they appeared to feel little anxiety and even seemed a little impatient. Three days later the youngsters were on their own, and hard necessity had made them self-reliant and self-sufficient.

I suppose I'll always feel tempted to tell you which card to play, but that policy makes weaklings and simpletons. I won't handicap you that way.

I'll whoop a warning if I see you are about to step in a hole, but more and more as the days pass you must learn to pick your own path and mind your step. You will stumble a few times, and perhaps bark your shins, but that is the immemorial price of wisdom. Fine womanhood is not developed by dodging responsibility. Love, DAD.

PRO AND CON

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

The Republican Campaign.

Topeka Capital.

Maine's warning vote came at a good time, since it occurred at the opening and not in the middle of the active presidential campaign, and has stirred Republicans from the White House and the Chicago national headquarters down to the local precincts to immediate quickening of intensive activity.

Republicans are now on their toes. On the other hand, overconfidence was immediately indicated by both Roosevelt and Garner at Topeka. When candidates smilingly admit that "it is all over but the shouting," as these candidates did at the Topeka meeting, they are in a frame of mind which is helpful to the opposition. The sense of Democrats at the Topeka opening of their Western campaign was frankly that all they had to do is to "sit tight."

The Legion Duped.

Los Angeles Times.

In seeking a temporary and unfair advantage for themselves at the country's expense, members of the American Legion voted against their own ultimate best interests in demanding at their Portland convention the immediate cash payment of an obligation not due till 1945. The action itself was foregone and, from the shortsighted viewpoint, understandable enough. When politicians wave $2,000,000,000 in the faces of any group of men and urge them to come and take it, it is not surprising if they do not stop to think the matter out. In this matter the Legion has been duped by designing agitators and vote seekers, men with quite other motives than the welfare of the service men, and who have personal, political or theoretical axes to grind. They have persuaded the Legion to turn the handle.

Strategy of the Drys.

Minneapolis Journal.

Leaders of the principal dry organizations have decided against the proposal to concentrate dry support behind a third presidential ticket, headed by Senator Borah or anybody else. Even the Prohibition party nominee, former Representative Upshaw, has failed to get from them any formal indorsement. Their stand, instead, is for an active dry participation in the House and Senate elections, in the hope of electing a Congress that will continue to refuse to submit the prohibition question to the States.

In their recognition of the fact that the President is powerless to do anything about prohibition, whereas the Congress is all powerful, these dry leaders display political wisdom. But in their decision to strive to delay resubmission as long as possible, they may be short-sighted.

Democrats, Beware.

Louisville Courier-Journal.

Two results of the Maine election are distinctly apparent:

It stimulates the Republicans to work for a better showing in the national election next November.

It exhilarates the Democrats to such a degree they are apt to assume that they already have won the November election and relax in their work to assure a victory.

The Republicans all along the line have taken the unexpected Maine debacle as a warning that they must be up and doing, with renewed activity, if they are to hope to stem the tide that the Maine news indicates is running against them. From Hoover down, their leaders have sounded that warning and emphasized the imperative necessity of getting busy and seeing to it that every voter in the country shall be instructed as to why Hoover should be reelected.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

If Mail Delivery Must Be Curtailed, Why Not Make City Slicker Go to the Postoffice?

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Your correspondent, Mr. A. S. Beane, suggests that in view of the fact that nearly all farmers now own automobiles, it might be advisable to abandon the rural free delivery service and make the farmer drive to the nearest postoffice for his mail. The suggestion is worthy of consideration, provided the economic streak is extended farther. With branch postoffices in all sections of our cities, why not abandon the city delivery service and make the city dweller do what Mr. Beane suggests that the ruralite may do towards wiping out the deficit? There are proportionately more cars owned by city dwellers than by the "hicks in the sticks," and in consequence the aforesaid "city feller" can get his mail much more easily than his country cousin without the aid of the letter carrier. If it is advisable to curtail the accommodations rendered by the Postoffice Department in the country, it is equally advisable to make the "city feller" do his own hiking between his home and the postoffice.

But just why is it that every one seems willing to make the mail service the goat? The postal service comes closer to the home than any branch of the Government, and there is no good reason why it should be more self-sustained than the War Department, the Navy Department, the Department of Commerce, Labor or any other department, bureau or commission, what do those branches of the Federal service accomplish in the way of adding to the Federal income? Mr. Beane should go out to Sioux City and tell the farmers what he proposes to do to them in the way of curtailing their delivery service. They will be glad to greet him. And how!

Objects to Joe Dixon's Criticism of Franklin D. for Assuming Mannerisms of Theodore.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Again we see in the whirlpool of politics low-down and whispering abuses. In this one brazen incident the party uses his name and gives publicity to his thoughts. I refer to the article by one Joseph M. Dixon, Assistant Secretary of the Interior, one time senator, one time chairman of the Bull Moose party and claiming a lifelong intimacy with former President Theodore Roosevelt.

This Mr. Dixon is very much incensed at the fact that Gov. Roosevelt in a recent public appearance facetiously dared to trespass on the "patented" word of President Roosevelt, "deelighted," and expresses his intense indignation at such assumption of the governor in trying to place himself in the clothing of his friend Theodore.

Everybody acquainted with the Roosevelts knows the political history of that family. That of Theodore Roosevelt has always been classed as Republicans, while the family of Robert Roosevelt have been consistent Democrats. He himself was in Congress as such, and his son Franklin D., following the intuition of a great father, has never strayed away from his principles. So why does Mr. Dixon chide the present nominee from adhering to the faith of his party? Would Mr. Dixon have had the governor bolt his party and help Theodore when the Bull Moose campaign was organized to defeat Taft?

Theodore Roosevelt felt it an honor to officiate at the most important event in Franklin D. Roosevelt's life, and I am confident that if Theodore Roosevelt were reincarnated he would use that historic weapon, the "big stick," on that portion of Mr. Dixon's anatomy where it would do him some good.

JOHN HADLEY DOYLE.

Suggests Discounting Bonus Certificates to Relieve Distress Among Veterans.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The payment of the bonus seems to have become one of the paramount issues of the campaign. The remote possibility of Congress passing a bill for immediate payment and the impossibility of passage over the President's veto, which is a foregone conclusion, resolves this discussion into a war of words, and in my humble opinion the people are pretty well fed up on it.

The patriotism of the former service men who are insistent in their demands for immediate payment has been questioned, but there are few of us who would stand this test if those near and dear to us were crying for food. Why not act upon this distressing situation in a common sense and humane manner?

If these adjusted service certificates are promissory notes of the Government to pay in 1945, why not discount them at a rate of interest at which the Government can borrow or at a lower rate? At the rate these certificates are being paid off there will be comparatively few to pay at maturity.

Democrat Predicts Defeat of Insurgents in His Party.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Every American who believes in the party system of government, irrespective of his or her political affiliation, will rejoice over the result of Tuesday's election in Wisconsin. Although a Democrat, I congratulate the Republican party and especially the voters of Wisconsin, for this great stroke of Americanism.

The only regret I have is that the Democratic party can not hope to match this year the great contribution which the Republicans have made in Wisconsin and Iowa. This is because Senators Wheeler and Huey Long and Representative Patman do not come up for reelection this year. But there'll come a time when Democracy will have its opportunity to defeat these insurgents and replace them with real Democrats.

1,789 MIDSHIPMEN ON ACADEMY ROLL

Total 300 Less This Year as 88th Term Is Opened; Dances Scheduled.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 23.—With a total of 1,789 midshipmen on the rolls, 300 fewer than last year, the Naval Academy entered upon its eighty-eighth academic term today.

The regiment is the smallest in a decade. This is due particularly to the decreases in the plebe class recruited during the summer, as the number of appointments allowed senators and representatives was shaved from four to three, and requirements governing the admission of enlisted men also have been changed. Men appointed from the ranks are now required to serve at least nine months at sea prior to entrance examinations.

The roster by classes follows: First, or seniors, 448; second, 480; third, 524; third, 337.

Innovation Introduced.

An innovation was introduced as the first formation of the middies for the midday meal as a means of presenting the plebes to their older comrades. The three upper classes were drawn up as a regiment under the regimental commander, John H. Bourland, of Texas, and the plebe battalion under its commander, D. S. Brown, formed separately. At a command, the new recruits broke ranks and took their places in the companies of the regiment that had been assigned them. Classes will begin Monday.

Announcement was made today of the schedule of dances to be given by the midshipmen, as well as officers assigned to the station, during the fall and winter season.

These dances are the outstanding events in the social life of the academy and Annapolis, and as the dates are arranged for week-ends when athletic contests are in progress they draw a large contingent of girls from Washington, Baltimore and other nearby points.

Dance Schedule.

The dances by the middies will be on the following nights and in nearly every instance, informals will be held in the afternoon: October 8, November 5, December 10 and 17, January 14 and 28; February 18 and 25, March 25, April 22, May 6, 13.

The dances of December 17, February 18 and May 6, will be given exclusively by first classmen. Members of the second and third classes will participate in all the others.

The officers' hop committee announces the following dates: October 14, November 25, December 3, January 20, February 17, March 17, April 21, and May 20. Senior midshipmen will be invited guests to the dance of May 20.

Civic Federation Keeps Richardson

Defers Action on Resignation Until Elections in November.

Resignation of Dr. George A. Richardson as president of the Federation of Civic Associations, which he has headed since its inception twelve years ago, was held in abeyance last night at a meeting held in the District Building, until the November meeting, when elections will be held. A committee consisting of E. F. Harris, J. J. Porter and H. D. Queen was named to draft appropriate resolutions with reference to Dr. Richardson's approaching retirement.

Miss Fay Bentley, head of the department of school attendance, and her staff were extended an invitation to address the federation at its October meeting on conditions affecting truancy in colored schools. A report of the legislative committee, on request of J. C. Wright that the federation assist him in securing better conditions at Woodlawn Cemetery, was submitted by S. D. Matthews, to the effect that the matter was one for individual lot owners rather than federation action, and adopted.

A special committee was appointed to study all conditions affecting publicity of matters of civic interest. The federation adopted for elections the same rules as were in operation last year.

Special Traffic Lights Ordered.

The Potomac Electric Power Co. was ordered yesterday by the District Commissioners to install two special traffic signal lights at the approaches of the new fire engine house on Thirteenth street between K and L streets northwest. The lights will be operated only when engines leave the fire house.

Foreign News in Brief

London, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Prince Michael of Roumania, in London on a grand tour, went to a West End cinema today and had a pleasant time looking at one of those madhouse American film comedies. The young prince escorted his mother, former Queen Helen of Roumania, and his aunt, Princess Irene of Greece. He transacted the purchase of tickets himself, using meticulous English, and then subsided into the darkness of the theater where he observed with delight the antics of the group of American cut-ups.

Shanghai, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Capt. Wolgang von Gronau, German aviator who is flying around the world with three companions, arrived here today after a flight from Kagoshima, Japan.

London, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—The new world's airplane altitude record established last week at Bristol by Capt. Cyril Uwins, British flier, was confirmed by the Royal Aero Club today. The officials figures gave the altitude reached by Capt. Uwins as 43,976 feet.

Plymouth, Eng., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Lord William Gascogne Cecil, Bishop of Exeter, and Lady Florence Cecil sailed for New York today on the Ile de France. During his extended visit in American the bishop will preach in Philadelphia October 23, Washington October 30 and Chicago November 6.

Barcelona, Spain, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Catalonia was preparing today for one of the greatest holidays of its long history next Sunday when Premier Azana will come from Madrid to announce the recent grant of independence to the province, as a separate state under federal Spanish rule. Hundreds of joyous people already are arriving from the provinces for the festivities.

Bucharest, Roumania, Sept. 23 (A. P.).—The grand cross of the Roumanian Order of the Star was bestowed today by King Carol upon Gen. Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff of the United States Army.

London, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—The Duchess of Devonshire, wife of the former Governor General of Canada, has been warned by physicians to refrain from undertaking any engagements for a few months due to poor health.

London, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Admiral Sir Michael Hodges, commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet since 1930, is retiring from the Navy at his own request to facilitate promotion of younger officers. He is 58 years old. Vice Admiral Bertram S. Thesiger will become admiral.

Camp Wilson Building To Be Dedicated Today

The new commissary building at Camp Wilson, Boy Scout resort at Burnt Mills, Md., will be dedicated this afternoon at a program supervised by Scout officials and members of the Washington Civitan Club, which donated the structure.

A program of old-time fun stunts—fire building, water boiling, string burning—will be staged for the entertainment of those assembled. The program will begin at 3:30.

Donald Falk Sued at Reno.

Divorce proceedings were filed in Reno, Nev., yesterday by Mrs. Mildred Falk, of this city, against Donald Falk, according to the Associated Press. Mrs. Falk cited cruelty as her grounds for action.

Motor Club President Is Fined for Speeding

The president of the Continental Motor Club, Felix L. Sutton, of 815 Maryland avenue northeast, was fined $100 yesterday when convicted in Marlboro police court of driving more than 60 miles an hour. He appealed the conviction. Sutton was arrested by Corpl. W. V. Hunter, of the State police, after an 8-mile chase on the southern Maryland pike.

Raymond Boswell, of Capitol Heights, was fined $100 for driving while drunk and $10 for reckless driving. The car he was operating is alleged to have struck Thomas Thomas, of Forestville, near the latter's home. Boswell was driving a car belonging to Lorenzo Roulerson, who said he lived at 2049 H street northeast, and Roulerson was fined $25 for permitting reckless driving. Thomas was not badly hurt. Charles Wienbush, of Aquasco, was fined $50 for possession of a case of whisky.

Group Favors Approval Of St. Lawrence Treaty

Hamilton, Ontario, Sept. 23 (A.P.). Members of the Great Lakes Harbors Association were called upon to do their utmost to secure early ratification of the St. Lawrence Seaway treaty in a resolution approved at the final session of the convention today.

Truck Victim's Condition Grave.

Tillman Redmond, who was struck by a truck near his home in Colmar Manor Thursday night, was reported still to be in a serious condition at Casualty Hospital last night. Redmond was reported to have been walking along the Baltimore boulevard when hit by a truck driven by Odell Segrove, of Shelby, N. C., who is held pending the outcome of Redmond's injuries. Agnes Fink, niece of the injured man, was walking with him at the time, but escaped injury.

LUGGAGE, FOURTH FLOOR

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THIS TIME OF YEAR.

THE autumn leaves are in the red,
And so am I;
The geese point southward overhead,
And so do I;
The pumpkin now is turning gold,
The cornfields all are looking old,
The mornings now are getting cold,
And so am I.

The days grow shorter day by day,
And so do I;
The squirrels store what food they may,
And likewise I;
All nature seems a little mad,
The cattle look a little sad,
The garden looks a little bad,
And so do I.

The frost is on the pumpkin, and
It's on me, too;
Jack Frost lays on a clammy hand—
It makes me blue;
The seaside looks the worse for wear,
The country looks a little bare,
The cottage has a vacant stare,
And so have I.

The pheasant shrinks from noises queer,
And so do I;
The rabbits leap at sounds they hear,
And so do I;
The partridge hides beside a clump,
The deer at every shadow jump,
The hot-dog stands all feel a slump—
And so do I.

The good old summer time is shot,
And so am I;
Dejected looks each garden spot,
And so do I;
For warmer days the life guard grieves,
The flivver chokes and gets the "heaves,"
Ten millions people rake up leaves—
And so do I.

Hoover and Guggenheim Discuss Cuban Problems

(Associated Press.)

Harry Guggenheim, Ambassador to Cuba, yesterday called upon President Hoover for a brief discussion of conditions in the island republic.

The ambassador said he planned to take no active part in the presidential campaign, and probably would return to Cuba about October 15, although no definite date had been set.

American Army Balloon Is Out of Bennett Race

Basel, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—It was announced tonight that the United States Army balloon which was entered in the James Gordon Bennett balloon race will not compete. The reason for the withdrawal was not made public. The race starts Sunday.

Originally there were three American balloons entered in the James Gordon Bennett race. In addition to the Army balloon, manned by Lieut. Wilfred J. Paul and Sergt. John H. Biship, there was a naval ship in charge of Lieut. Comdr. T. G. W. Settle and Lieut. Wilfred Bushnell, and a bag commanded by Ward T. Van Orman.

Indian Band Is Ejected.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Canadian mounted police have ejected the party of Salteaux Indians from their old reserve at St. Peter's in Manitoba and have ordered them to return to the Fisher River Reserve farther north. Tribal leaders protested their people were unable to make a living at Fisher River and contended the 1907 treaty was invalid.

Oldest U. S. Postmaster To See Corner Stone Set

(Associated Press.)

Sixty-six years continuous service as postmaster at Blawenburg, N. J., is to be climaxed Monday for John N. Van Zandt, with a formal reception by the Postoffice Department. He has been invited to the Capital in connection with the laying of the corner stone for the department's new building on Pennsylvania avenue.

Van Zandt, now nearly 88 years old, is the oldest postmaster in the country, both in point of service and years. He was appointed in 1866 by President Andrew Johnson.

NOTED O'NEILL PLAY SEEN IN FILM FORM

"Strange Interlude" Opens National Theater With a Gala Premiere.

By NELSON B. BELL.

A remarkable achievement in so successfully adapting an intricate and involved stage play to the screen as to result in an improvement in the original work was made known to a distinguished capacity audience in the National Theater last night, when Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's picturization of Eugene O'Neill's "Strange Interlude," the first of his overlength dramas, opened a ten-day "road show" engagement, preliminary to the theater's regular season of dramatic and musical attractions to be inaugurated by Eva Le Gallienne on October 3.

Although compressed from the stage's six-hour running time into a scant two hours in its celluloid form, "Strange Interlude" has lost nothing of its dramatic fiber in the process. It remains a lurid commentary upon the persistent neuroses that characterized the love life of a young woman of morbid outlook and complex nature, which, to many, no doubt, will still seem abstruse and perplexing despite the clarification, the sharpening and the quickening of the movement of the plot—it is virtually without action—that have been brought about in its translation into a new form.

It is psychological rather than physical drama; an excursion into the innermost souls of the strange story's principal figures—Nina Leeds and the three men whose composite scarcely filled the void left in her life by the death of her lover in the great war—and it needs a bit of following to be fully grasped.

The "asides," that comprise so important an index of the true feelings of the characters in the play, have been adroitly contrived for the purposes of the cinema. When it becomes necessary to express mental processes not usually represented by speech, the players are shown in close-up and the voice comes through without movement of lips. This, it seems to me, is one of the picture's great superiorities over the cumbersome devices resorted to on the stage.

Another transcendent virtue is found in the flexibility of scene and the possibility thus afforded for backgrounds that are pictorially magnificent—like the upstate orchard in full bloom, for example, when a spectacle of sheer beauty supplies a vivid and shocking contrast to the scene that so soon follows between Nina and her new mother-in-law!

It is only in the acting, perhaps, that the celluloid version of "Strange Interlude" is less profoundly moving than the flesh-and-blood original. Certainly there has never been a more supremely lovely Nina Leeds than Norma Shearer. In every age of the lifetime encompassed by the play, Miss Shearer is a vision of rare and compelling beauty. Only in the creation of an illusion of mental and spiritual turmoil does her impersonation fall something short of its greatest potentialities. At times when the part should strike fire it gives off only feeble sparks.

The male roles of major importance are played by Clark Gable, as Ned Darrell; Alexander Kirkland, as Sam Evans, and Ralph Morgan, as Charlie Marsden, with little to choose among them. Not the longest, but easily the most telling bit in the picture is done by May Robson in the role of Mrs. Evans. Robert Young, as the grown son; Maureen O'Sullivan, his sweetheart; Henry B. Walthall, as Nina's father, and Tad Alexander, the son in his younger years, are among others who contribute notably to an adventure in picture-making that should command the interested attention of all thoughtful playgoers.

Robert Z. Leonard's direction is uniformly capable and Lee Garmes has managed some exquisite photographic effects.

Last nights' road show premiere—the first in the country—partook of something the Hollywood flavor, with searchlights playing over the front of the theater, motion picture cameras grinding and flashlights popping as a brilliant first-night audience filtered through the lobby to their seats.

Reports of Washington As Amateur Dentist Hit

History does not show that George Washington was an amateur dentist nor did he ever have a set of false teeth made by Paul Revere, according to Representative Sol Bloom, of New York, associate director of the George Washington Bicentennial Commission. He issued a statement yesterday taking issue with remarks attributed to Dr. Walter J. Pryor, Cleveland dentist, in a recent speech before the American Dental Association.

"If the accounts of Dr. Pryor's speech as carried in the Associated Press dispatch and elsewhere are correct, then he is guilty of making statements which can not be proved by historical records," said Mr. Bloom. Not only did Paul Revere not make the great general a set of teeth, Mr. Bloom said, but there is no record of George Washington, as claimed by Dr. Pryor, wearing a set when he crossed the Delaware.

Also, Mr. Bloom declared, records show that Washington was advised that discolorations of his teeth were cause by drinking port wine.

Seventh Day Adventist Missions Get $250,000

A campaign now in progress throughout the United States has netted more than $250,000 for the foreign mission board of the Seventh Day Adventists, it was announced yesterday.

Officials declared that they hoped to reach a goal of $1,000,000, which will be used for the advancement of the gospel in foreign countries. The drive is being conducted by Seventh Day Adventist churches in all sections of the country.

Maryland Police Start Drive on Smoke-Screens

Aroused by the first appearance in several years of smoke-screens on southern Maryland roads, State policemen at the Waldorf Substation plan a drive on bootleggers who make their escape under cover of the dense smoke. Last night the entire force of the substation was on the lookout for cars suspected of carrying smoke-screen equipment.

The screens made a new entry Thursday night, when Corpl. W. V. Hunter and Private C. C. Sermon were "smoked" on the southern Maryland pike. State police are not empowered to chase liquor cars unless they commit a traffic violation, such as speeding or using a screen.

Lee District Teachers' Reception.

The Lee District Improvement Association will meet this evening in the Community Hall, Burke, Va., and hold a reception for the teachers in the public schools. Gilbert T. Woodson, county superintendent of schools, will be the principal speaker.

GOVERNMENT DROPS CRISSINGER CHARGE

Indictment of Former U. S. Official in Smith Case Dismissed by Court.

(Associated Press.)

The Justice Department yesterday obtained dismissal of an indictment returned in 1929 against Daniel R. Crissinger, of Marion, Ohio, former Comptroller of the Currency and governor of the Federal Reserve Board, on a charge of "using the mails to defraud."

The charge against Crissinger, indicted with six others as a director of the F. H. Smith Co., Washington investment brokers, was nolle prossed at the instance of Nell Burkinshaw, special assistant to Attorney General Mitchell, in District Supreme Court.

While no reason was given, testimony at the trial of G. Bryan Pitts, former head of the Smith Co., who is now serving a prison sentence, was to the effect that the former Treasury official had no part in the company's active management.

It was brought out then that recommendations from Crissinger were ignored by Pitts and that the latter had given instructions to subordinates to "keep from Crissinger" information pertaining to some of the company's activities.

After the indictment, Government prosecutors said Crissinger and former Representative Frederick N. Zihlman, of Maryland, were used as "bait" to secure the investment of funds in Smith Co. bonds. Zihlman was among those indicted with the Ohioan.

Crissinger, an attorney from President Harding's home town, was appointed Comptroller of the Currency by him in 1921. He served as governor of the Federal Reserve Board from 1923 to 1927.

Bond Set for Six Seized at Stills

Suspects Taken in Maryland Raids Arraigned in Marlboro.

Six persons, arrested on raids on three stills by Federal dry agents in southern Maryland, were arraigned before United States Commissioner J. Frank Parran in Marlboro yesterday. Woodrow Wicks and Louis Swann, both of Charlotte Hall, were arrested during a raid near their homes when a 100-gallon still and 7 gallons of alleged whisky were found.

They were charged with manufacture, possession, possession of articles for the manufacture of whisky and maintaining a nuisance. Bond was set at $1,000.

Similar charges were made against Peter Knott and Steven Holliskey, of St. Marys City, and the same bond was set. They were arrested during a raid on a 50-gallon still near their home. James R. Belt and Frank Dent, both of Forestville, were seized when the agents visited a 350-gallon still near Forestville. The agents said they found at this plant 2,900 gallons of mash and 18 gallons of finished whisky. Belt and Dent were also held for bond of $1,000.

Arlington Board Meets Tonight.

The Arlington County board will hold a special joint meeting with representatives of the county fire departments at 8 o'clock tonight at the courthouse. The meeting has been called by the board to discuss with the firemen their financial problems.

GERMAN MONARCHY SENTIMENT GAINING

Present Regime Friendly to Strong Movement for Hohenzollerns.

Berlin, Sept. 23 (U.P.).—A growing movement for restoration of the Hohenzollerns to power in Germany has been noted here. There is ample indication that leaders of the present government are not averse to such a turn of affairs.

Reports continually crop up in the foreign press that a restoration of kaiserdom is imminent and the German people themselves—heretofore inclined to scoff at such conjectures—are beginning to wonder just what is going on beneath the surface.

Germany's troublous political swelter in recent months has only served to strengthen these reports. Legally and formally, Germany remains a republican democracy—without democrats. But even if the royalist regime were restored tomorrow, it would find itself in control of a country containing few monarchists.

German democracy and parliamentarism are dead. They have been replaced by a regime in which the president, Paul von Hindenburg, wields a power that is the envy of many a foreign monarch. And Hindenburg, in turn, derives much of his overwhelming authority from the efficient German army, which yields him unswerving allegiance.

However, President von Hindenburg, who swore to shield the constitution of the republic when he assumed office, is a man to whom word of honor is sacred. To the people of Germany, it is inconceivable that "Old Paul," no matter how great his inner devotion to his former kaiser may be, should destroy the republic in favor of a monarchist revival. At heart a confirmed royalist, Von Hindenburg nonetheless remains one of the bulwarks against a return of monarchy.

There are signs that propaganda for a restoration is being broadcast in the land. The government has withdrawn its restraints against royalist organizations, and a new monarchist group is preparing this week to open headquarters in Berlin. The government itself seems to be among the foremost factors in distribution of this propaganda.

Two Virginia Churches To Mark Anniversaries

The Methodist churches at Langley and Chesterbrook, Va., will observe anniversary services with special programs tomorrow. The services at the Langley church will be held at 11 a. m. with the Rev. Jefferson Duffey delivering the dedicatory sermon. The Rev. H. H. Sherman, secretary of the Baltimore Conference Board of Christian Education, will preach the anniversary sermon. The Langley church was dedicated September 15, 1895.

The anniversary service at the Chesterbrook church will be held at 8 p. m., and the sermon will be delivered by the Rev. J. W. Seay, of the Southern Methodist Church, Upperville, Va., who assisted in forming the church. The present edifice was dedicated September 13, 1931.

Home Robbed of Clothing.

Thieves ransacked the home of Louis Henson, 633 Virginia avenue southeast, yesterday and stole clothing valued at $117. They gained entrance by using a duplicate key.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

TUBERCULOSIS PREVENTION.

IN a review of the progress of control of disease in children, written early in the year 1932, and covering the advances of the last five years or thereabouts, Dr. I. N. Kugelmass rather definitely advocates vaccination of children against tuberculosis. This procedure is gaining ground steadily in Europe and in South America, though Great Britain, Germany, and the United States are disposed to hold back.

New York is the only city in the United States where this kind of vaccination has been given much of a trial, and even that city has not gone further than try it on a few hundred well observed cases. In France and in those parts of Europe, Asia, Africa, Canada, and South America where French influence is strong, hundreds of thousands of babies and almost as many domestic animals are yearly vaccinated against tuberculosis.

Those who have had most experience with it pronounce the method safe and effective. They say that babies vaccinated against consumption can be left in bad homes with no great fear that they will develop the disease. They advocate having adults whose work exposes them unduly to consumption get vaccinated before taking up their work. This has been tried as a measure for the protection of nurses and doctors working in consumption hospitals. So far as I know, no one has tried it as a protective measure for ax grinders, metal polishers and granite cutters.

European dairy cattle are so heavily infected with tuberculosis that the state is too poor to undertake eradication by the methods that are succeeding in America. Some of the European countries, and especially France, think this vaccination is the only way out that is practicable for them. They report that it has worked in the several hundred thousand cases where they have tried it. If they are on the right track, within a few years there should be a general decline in the tuberculosis rate of cattle, especially in France.

Meanwhile, in this country, there is an increase of tuberculin testing of school children. In some communities the school and health authorities have tested practically every school child with tuberculin. They know the percentage of reactors, and how many give no evidence of having been infected. They know which children are in need of special care to protect them against consumption. Those parents whose children have reacted have been put on their guard. It is recognized that adolescents, and particularly adolescent girls, are the weak part of the consumption battle line. For some reason the consumption rate among young women is holding up stubbornly.

Culbertson on Bridge

MAKING A GRAND SLAM.

THE Vienna Coup, which provides for the establishment of an apparently winning card in the hand of an adversary with the purpose later of squeezing him so that he is forced to discard it, is one of the most beautiful and spectacular plays at the Bridge table.

Recently in a Duplicate Bridge game for the benefit of the unemployed, held in high social circles at Southampton, Long Island, Mr. Hugh F. McElroy, jr., held the South hand below and had the deep satisfaction of making a Grand Slam contract through this spectacular and and unusual play.

South—Dealer.

Neither side vulnerable.

	♠ A K J 6 2 ♡ A 8 ◇ A K 7 ♣ Q 9 7
♠ Q 10 9 8 5 ♡ 10 7 5 3 2 ◇ 9 3 2 ♣ —	N W E S	♠ 7 3 ♡ K J 9 4 ◇ Q 10 6 4 ♣ J 8 2
	♠ 4 ♡ Q 6 ◇ J 8 5 ♣ A K 10 6 5 4 3

Mr. Hugh F. McElroy

The bidding does not require any particular comment. North held five plus honor-tricks, and his partner had opened the bidding and had shown that his club suit was twice rebiddable.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♣	Pass	2♠	Pass
3♣	Pass	3♠	Pass
4♣	Pass	7♣	Pass
Pass	Pass

The Opening lead was the spade 10 and, of course, Mr. McElroy could now make the contract by a successful spade finesse. However, in playing Grand Slam hands, it is unwise, generally speaking, to put the issue squarely up to something no better than an even chance on the first play of the hand, and thus Mr. McElroy wisely declined the spade finesse. He played the Ace and then led a small club, which he won in his own hand with the Ace. He now returned to the Dummy by leading the second round of clubs, and cashed the King of spades, upon which he discarded a small diamond. He then led a small spade from Dummy, trumping in his own hand. The Ace of hearts was then played, and a small club led from Dummy, which Mr. McElroy won in his own hand. Then followed three more rounds of trumps, which hopelessly squeezed both East and West. West was compelled to retain the spade Queen so long as the spade Knave remained in the Dummy. East was forced to retain two guards to the diamond Queen, so on the last round of trumps discarded the heart King, establishing the Queen in the closed hand for the Slam trick.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

Expert Answers Questions on Beauty Problems.

V. V. writes: (1) Lately I've read that quite a few stars have had their teeth straightened successfully. I thought this was dangerous. Would you advise it? Is it expensive? Whom do you recommend? (2) Please tell me how I can get tiny purple scars out of my face brought on where pimples and blackheads were. (3) Isn't there a way to develop small bust, exercise and cream will not help? (4) also to develop legs?

Dear V. V.: In young people teeth are often straightened by the wearing of a brace. However, whether any stars have had this dental care or not hardly matters. Your own individual case is up for study, and only your own dentist should aidvise and prescribe for you. Sorry I can not recommend any one to you, but do go to a dentist with a reputation.

(2) Try touching the little purple scars with zinc oxide ointment every night. A little finishing lotion before powder may help temporarily to conceal them. To remove them, electrolysis is the only permanent method I know of, and this should be entrusted only to an expert. It is not a very serious treatment, the little scars, which are probably small broken veins are touched with the electric needle.

(3) Exercise is the only thing I recommend for developing the bust. Swimming is excellent. The bust stroke is particularly good. Arm flinging exercises are also helpful, and deep breathing. A little warm olive oil or cocoa butter may be applied if you are careful to stroke very gently upward, without pressure, and only five or six times with the palm of the hand.

(4) Swimming, walking and dancing make good leg development exercises. Massage with warm cocoa butter after the exercise. I'd like you to have my bulletin called "Legs Beautiful," if you would send self-addressed, stamped envelope for it.

Ashland, Pa.

Dear Miss Pierce: I am 17 years old and have an olive complexion. What colors should I wear? (2) What exercise to make my legs fatter?

A READER.

Your second question is answered above. As for the colors, I could tell more fully if you would describe your eyes and hair. The red family: Brick rust bestroot, orange should be becoming, bright yellow, black with bright trimming. I should like you to have my color bulletin, if you would send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope. It tells by means of stars, checks and crosses what colors are very becoming to various types, what colors may be worn and what colors should be avoided.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

Another Dah-ray design for you to trace or enlarge for your clever finger work.

OFTEN one sees white coq feathers on the new dresses—which has absolutely nothing to do with the extraordinary bold I sketched for you today! He, my dahrlings, is a design, because we have had so-o-o-o-o-o-o many requests for designs lately.

But the white coq feathers—'member the collar of them I sketched for you recently on a Heim model of black velvet? Well, Miranda poses sleeves of them on a white evening dress, and someone else, forget who, edges gloves with 'em. Fragile, these, and best used around the neck else they break in the middle, as it were.

* * * *

By special (and many of 'em) requests, next week's leaflet is a big dragon that you can trace right as is for a bedspread or pillow—the design is eight inches square, which is very big. If you would like it, send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post, right away, so that your letter will arrive with the leaflets as they come from the printers. A black taffeta bedspread for a gift for a man, with an embroidered dragon like this right in the center, would be a very lovely thing—and this is only one idea.

Nothwithstanding the hard times, the afternoon dress is more and more favored. Miladi never did actually like to wear sportswear to tea! Now she simply won't, that's all—except of course at summer resort, or a sunny winter one like Nice or Palm Beach—or perhaps in Los Angeles, where Dame Fashion has about given up.

Perhaps the fact that the afternoon dress is worn for most evening affairs accounts for its revival. Actually a formal afternoon ensemble is just the thing to wear to the average evening affair of the day. Anyhow, and be that as it may, the more formal afternoon gown is very popular, if not yet actually compulsory.

The outstanding note of the Paris collections this season seems to be the use of novelty fabrics. These are used for dresses and coats, almost to the exclusion of staple crepes and wools. And, of course, the importance of sleeves is well known—a difference in cut and line and decoration that is definite.

As to the waistline, the average is the normal, and finally an admittance that the "normal" waistline is subject to adjustment! Waistlines may come and waistlines may go, but Miladi will have her waistline where it is—or she refuses to call it a normal waistline.

When you hear of Danube blue, you will know that it is a pale blue with a distinctly gray tinge. And when you hear that it is in close contact with brilliant pale-red, you will guess that you are hearing of or seeing some of the newest and smartest evening dresses of the season.

A few leaflets left telling you how to make a vestee-blouse out of two men's handkerchiefs. Hurry!

Peg-top trousers are actually returning for men! Shades of the 20'th century, can we stann-n-n-n-n it?

"LIBRA."

IF September 24 is you birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7 a. m. to 9 a. m., from 3:30 p. m to 5 p. m., and 9:25 p. m. to 10:35 p. m. The danger periods are from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. and 6 p. m. to 8 p. m.

Saturday, September 24, will be a better day, astrologically speaking, for the pleasures of life than for business. Work will be done in a slip-shod manner, while social stunts will be welcomed with enthusiasm, and hostesses will be well pleased with their own efforts and the responsiveness of their guests.

Children born on this September 24 will be strong-minded, courageous, little boys and girls. They will develop into audacious types of young women and adventurous young men. They will want to be both seen and heard, and will seem difficult to old-fashioned parents, who rule with an iron rod. They will be both tender-hearted and sympathetic as friends.

You have too pessimistic a nature if born on September 24 to be an appreciative person. Although the man who's always growling invites ill-luck to "dog" his footsteps, it would be difficult for you to change your natural temperament, and you will always feel that you are one of the unlucky beings of the world. Your character assets, other than an unfortunate disposition, are many. It is not difficult for you to learn, and you do not have clumsy hands. If your spirit were as hopeful as it is willing, you would be able to go far. You are not afraid of hard work, or of getting your hands soiled, and you do things accurately.

You will have more "ups" in life than "downs," but you will allow your existence to be colored by the latter to such an extent that you will be unable to appreciate the former properly. You are a quiet lover of the out-of-doors, and are truly happy when you can forget yourself in an enchanted land of streams and trees and flowers. You are very fond of animals and should make a good horseman.

You are too much of a home body to care much for social activities. You are not much of a talker, even when among your most intimate friends or with your family.

THE NEW CINEMA OFFERINGS

LOEW'S FOX

"HAT CHECK GIRL." Fox picturization of a story by Rian James, adapted to the screen by Barry Conners, Phillip Klein and Arthur Kober, featuring Sally Eilers, Ben Lyon and Ginger Rogers, with Purnell Pratt, Monroe Owsley, Noel Madison and Dewey Robinson. Directed by Sidney Lanfield. Reviewed Friday afternoon.

By NELSON B. BELL.

Precedent takes it on the chin at Loew's Fox this week. Instead of the most weather-beaten piece of motion picture junk obtainable—such as is usually booked by any sagacious management when its stage show is especially noteworthy—it is a pretty nifty little picture that has been combined with a vaudeville bill of genuinely stellar distinction for the current seven-day period. Sally Eilers, Ben Lyon and Ginger Rogers, in "Hat Check Girl," do a good journeyman job of holding up their end in competition with Irene Bordoni, James Barton and Borrah Minevitch.

Miss Bordoni, just back from Europe, chic, jovial and electric, machine-guns the customers with a barrage of songs that score more decisively than any she has sung here in ages. "While We Danced at the Mardi Gras," her imitation of Chevalier singing "Valentina," and her encore number, "Two Loves," were most enthusiastically received at yesterday afternoon's first performance.

Jim Barton pumps over a high-powered impersonation of a Celtic gentleman getting himself progressively plastered with a cumulative intensity that marks him as a character comedian of the first firewater! His dancing continues the best to be seen and his final impersonation of a blizzard of the Dreamland Dance Hall" is a broad Broadway gem.

Borrah Minevitch and His Rascals have made their harmonicavortings practically perfect by minimizing the rough-and-tumble clowning and devoting their major energies to proving themselves the undisputed masters of the mouth-organ. The "Peanut Vendor," "Paradise," "St. Louis Blues," and Victor Herbert's "March of the Toys" are only a few of the numbers they employ to demonstrate supreme virtuosity on one of the most lowly of the instruments.

"Hat Check Girl" is in the mode of the moment—gossip-monger column-ist, rich playboy, night clubs, duplex apartments, gay parties, murder, exoneration, marriage and all that sort of thing. It is written in the crisp, breezy style of smart-cracking metropolitanism and never slows up—or down. Occasionally it strains a bit for comic effect and perhaps it is not precisely the thing you would select as the great, outstanding example of dogged and relentless logic, but it struck me as being a swell bit of fun and nice brisk entertainment for anyone who does not insist on taking life and the movies too seriously.

Sally Eilers, in the name part; Ben Lyon, as her ardent wooer, and the only one who meant it, and Ginger Rogers, as her companion of the coat-hangers, carry the brunt of the banter, aided and abetted by Monroe Owsley, Purnell Pratt, Dewey Robinson, Richard Carle, Bert Roach, Henry Armetta and enough others to fill a penthouse—or even a repenthouse!

Goss and Barrows, in songs, dances and crossfires—with a concertina and a ukulele thrown in—and the Crystal Trio of roller skaters, two men and a girl, complete the vaudeville bill, and a new Fox Movietone News augments the screen program.

Phil Lampkin runs the measure over with an elaborate orchestral presentation of "Trees," with scenic effects, an interpolated soprano solo and his own recitative—Tom McNaughton's "Three Trees"—to customary salvos of rousing applause.

EARLE

"THE NIGHT MAYOR." Columbia picturization of a story by Sam Marx, featuring Lee Tracy, Evelyn Knapp, Eugene Pallette and Donald Dilloway. Directed by Ben Stoloff. Reviewed Friday evening by W. A. Whitney.

When the chronicle of these "Thirsty Thirties" is written, historians will delve into the archives and exhume three important developments: gangsters, Broadway columnists and playboy mayors. The first two, having run their courses, the third now comes to the fore, with Lee Tracy depicting "The Night Mayor."

Laid in a New York city and following in generalities the exploits of Mizoner, ever without any libelous implications and always in fun, the tale strikes a merry pace from the initiation of removal proceedings to the final triumphal march. To those aware of the recent developments in New York City, little need be said; but for those to whom newspapers are merely advertising mediums, the plot revolves around the extra-official activities of a big-city mayor infatuated with a show girl, whose real "big moment" is a reporter on a sublimely sweet evening rag.

As the night mayor, Lee Tracy does a fine job, although, it must be said, falling somewhat short of his superb delineation in "Blessed Event." Evalyn Knapp, as the show girl, is a delectable trick, well deserving not only of Mr. Tracy's attention, but of that of Donald Dilloway, the reporter, as well. As the mayor's right hand is Eugene Pallette, in a role made to order. Warren Hymer, as the quasi-gangster butler, and Vince Barnett, as the ever-popping-up tailor, all do commendable bits in support.

Transcending the goofiest programs ever seen on the Earle stage are Olsen and Johnson, offering a fast, furious and hilariously ribald conglomeration of utter nonsense, most appropriately entitled "Atrocities of 1932." Supported by a company of some twenty artists of stellar quality, the troupe races through a series of dances, gags and blackouts that would do credit to the combined resources of Earl Carrol, George White and George LeMaire.

Introduced also by Maxine Doyle—charmingly attired, as usual—are Sid Tracey and Bessie Hay in a group of excellently executed novelty dances, assisted at the piano by Paul Russell, who also wows with his rendition of "That's Why Darkies Were Born;" and Gracie Barrie, an ingratiating brunet with flashing eyes, who sings blues delightfully.

Rounding out the bill are Rudy Valee, as "The Musical Doctor," assisted by Mae Questel; an exceptional story-appearance of Capt. Frank Hawkes and his flying, entitled "Contact;" Universal News and an overture, "Hits From 'Crooner,'" conducted by C. Frederick Clark.

COLUMBIA

"DRIFTING SOULS." Tower Productions, Inc., picturization of a story by Babara Hunter, featuring Lois Wilson and Theodore Von Eltz, with Raymond Hatton, Gene Gowing and Shirley Gray. Directed by Louis King. Reviewed Friday night by M. A. McKavitt.

Newspapers are coming to supply more and more plots for the fourth greatest industry in America. The theme of this one is dear to the tabloid: The beautiful young girl who needs a bag of money for an operation to save her father's life and is hoping that publicity will find her a generous patron.

Of course, in this case the young lady is not a publicity seeker, is not a "gold digger" and is far from being one of that cheap group who live by their wits. In fact, Linda Lawrence, played by the wistful Lois Wilson, is a refined girl, who is a member of the bar of her State. On the other hand, her nobility is offset by a crowd of gold-collecting leeches who are desperately trying to marry one of their blonde sirens to a handsome, young and wealthy ne'er do well, Ted Merritt. This role is carired by Gene Gowing, who, we believe, under better direction, might prove a valuable asset to movedom. Theodor Von Eltz is the brains behind the plot to procure some of the Merritt money. As the leader of a small band of unscrupulous characters he plans what he considers an easy method of robbery, but is outwitted.

Although sufficiently interesting as it is, better direction could have made the picture a better entertainment. It has all of the elements of a good picture. The players show a marked sincerity in their parts. This was especially true of Gene Gowling, Raymond Hatton as the tabloid news hound, "Scoop" Noonan, Von Eltz, Edmund Breese and the chauffeur, "Bing." Lois Wilson was merely adequate.

Tony Wons reads some poetry as the silversheet displays some really beautiful nature studies, an ancient film with some modern wisecracks will keep you very much awake, and the Paramount Sound News should be of interest.

Craftsmanship is the very life of a suit. It determines the appearance. Upon it hinges the wearing qualities. It can make or break a suit. Society Brand, long famous for style in men's clothing, have an utmost respect for craftsmanship. Their tailors know how to place the shoulders on a coat, they know just how it should hang, they know how to proportion the trousers. Step by step it requires much patience . . . but it's worth it. No wonder many fashion leaders call Society Brand the style house of America.

Famous Worsted-Tex Suits, $30—Knit-Tex Topcoats, $25

The custom tailors of Worsted-tex and Knit-tex need take no lessons in craftsmanship. This famous suit and equally famous topcoat have long been a guide-post to men who like good-looking and good-wearing clothing. With deft fingers these tailors have needled superb Worsted-tex and Knit-tex fabrics into garments that are dependable, fashionable and economical. For your information the same Worsted-tex Suit that was called the best $40 suit in America last year is now $30.

MACKMEN POUND WEAVER, CLINCH SECOND PLACE

Tech Gridmen Win, 32-7, at Baltimore

Hardell Uses Three Teams in Beating City College.

Long Passes Figure in 2 Touchdowns by Capital Eleven.

Special to The Washington Post.

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 23.—McKinley Tech, of Washington, had too much brawn and football for Baltimore City College today, and the invaders galloped up and down the stadium turf to win a 32-to-7 victory, in their opening game of the season.

City's lone touchdown came in the final quarter when the McKinley third team was sent into the fray. The invaders were leading, 26 to 0 at the time.

McKinley's first team came galloping on the field after City had started pushing the third team back again and the City fire was out.

The day was too hot for football, but all the boys on both squads got a workout. Tech started with its second team, shifted to the first team during the second period and then sent their third team on the field two minutes before the half.

Bumbard Takes Pass For First Score.

A pass, Brinkman to Bumbard, from the 30-yard line resulted in the first score of the game, while Pisano wormed his way through tackle to score from the 8-yard-line in the second.

Brinkman carried the ball around through right tackle for a 10-yard advance and a touchdown in the third. In the fourth McKinley worked the ball down the field to the 25-yard line. Apperti carried it 15 yards, and in two more plays he had it on the 5-yard stripe. He then carried it over.

Tech completed a forward pass in the final period for a touchdown from the 35-yard line, but there was an off-side and the ball was brought back. The same play was immediately used again and this time Brinkman tossed to Coiner and the latter went over for the final score.

YANKS VOTE 39 SERIES SHARES

BOSTON, Sept. 23 (U.P.).—Shares in the New York Yankees' players' end of the world series money will be distributed among 39 players, the Yanks voted today, with full shares going to 22 members of the team.

In addition, Manager Joe McCarthy and Coaches Jim Burke and Cy Perkins were voted full shares.

Half shares were voted for Charlie Devens, who has not yet started a big league game; Dusty Cooke, injured outfielder, and Gordon Rhodes, Red Sox pitcher, who was with the Yankees early in the season. Road Secretary Mark Roth and Trainer F. W. Painter were voted three-quarter shares.

The Yanks also awarded $1,000 each to Walter Owens, Yankee Stadium grounds keeper, and Fred Logan, clubhouse man; while $500 each was voted to Henry Johson, Red Sox hurler now ill in Florida; Johnny Murphy, Newark pitcher; Ivy Paul Andrews, now with the Red Sox, and Eddie Phillips, Newark catcher, who substituted when Bill Dickey was suspended. All had been with the Yankees at some time.

Bat Boy Jimmy Mars and Mascot Eddie Bennett were not forgotten. Each was voted $350.

Eastern and Emerson In Grid Games Today

Two games for local schoolboy elevens are on today's schedule, but both will be on distant gridirons.

The game that will attract the interest of the majority of fans will be played at Alexandria where Charlie Guyon's Eastern machine stacks up against Episcopal, jinx of all local teams. The kick-off will be at 2:30 o'clock.

Just a bit farther below the Mason-Dixon line, at Orange, Va., Emerson invades the ballwick of Woodberry Forest for its second game of the season.

ERIE ELEVEN WINS OVER CENTRAL

Special to The Washington Post.

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 23.—Erie Academy High gridmen defeated Central High, of Washington, D. C., 6-0 in a game played under the floodlights at the stadium here tonight.

The only touchdown of the game came in the second period when the Lions recovered a Washington fumble on the 10-yard line and rushed the ball across in the three plays.

Decker, who replaced McCart at half back, carried the oval across the last chalk mark for the 1-yard line.

Frequent fumbles by both teams kept a crowd of 5,000 persons on edge throughout the game. Academy had the ball in Central territory during most of the game, but fumbles deprived them of several scoring chances.

Koscis and King, the only members of the Central back field to carry the ball, did yeomen duty, and the line held in the pinches on several occasions when Erie threatened to score.

Erie Academy registered twelve first downs against Central's three.

Md. U. Meets State Rival Today

Green Old Line Team Faces Washington College in Debut.

Reinhold's Punting May Hold Maryland at Bay.

FACED with the tremendous task of upholding the traditions set by the great Maryland football team of 1931, the 1932 Old Line grid machine, largely composed of youths who are seeing their first varsity competition, swings into action for the season this afternoon at 3 o'clock at Byrd Stadium against Washington College of Chestertown, Md.

Maryland bested Washington College last year, 13 to 0, held constantly at bay by its own fumbles and the superb kicking of Fritz Reinhold, Washington half back, whose kicking set a standard which was not equaled last year at Byrd Stadium. Several of the punts of this slim youth sailed out on Maryland's 3-yard line. This year he is bigger and stronger and is said to have added greater skill to his ball-running. He is certainly a player to be watched today by Maryland.

Three 1931 Regulars Remain.

Usually Maryland takes Washington College lightly, but this year the Old Liners are taking every one seriously. There are only three regulars from the 1931 season on the Terrapin squad today—Al Wood and Ray Poppelman, sterling backs, and Charlie Keenan, tackle. The rest are culled from the freshman team of last year and youths who were unable then to make the first squad.

With Maryland's might lowered and Washington College's increased by its retention of regulars, today's game promises to be the most interesting opening tussle Maryland has had in five years.

Team Has New Play for Battle With Generals Today.

Tenlon Seen Threat; Rivals' First Game Since 1908.

Special to The Washington Post.

LEXINGTON, Va., Sept. 23.—After a two-hour workout at Staunton Military Academy en route, George Washington University's football squad arrived here tonight, the scene of battle for tomorrow's opening clash of the season against Washington and Lee.

In fighting trim and equipped with a new play which was practiced assiduously by the squad at Staunton, the team settled down tonight for some much-needed rest, while outside their hotel the lone street of the little college town buzzed with predictions and counterpredictions on the outcome of the game.

Tomorrow's meeting will be the first between the schools since 1908. In all, they have met three times. Washington and Lee won the games of 1897 and 1905, while George Washington took the 1908 contest, 38 to 6, which, of course, has nothing to do with tomorrow's struggle between two husky squads, both of them overanxious to start their seasons auspiciously.

Both teams are veterans in character. Washington and Lee has only three sophomores on its team, which is reported to be in excellent condition, while Billy Parrish is the lone sophomore in the George Washington line-up, the rest of them all teammates from the 1931 season.

Johnny Fenlon, sparkplug of the G. W. back field, is the man W. and L. must stop today if it plans to take the measure of the Colonials. Fenlon's passing, and the sure-handed receiving of Capt. Wayne Chambers and Fred Mulvey, is a constant threat, while he can also be counted upon to crash the W. and L. line with a fury which it probably will meet seldom this season.

OLD MASTER SCORES BY NOSE IN STRETCH DUEL AT HAVRE

English Colt Victor Over Coe Filly

Laughing Queen Runs Second in Feature on Slow Track.

Poor Day for Public Choices; Hagerstown Scores at $38.00.

By WALTER HAIGHT,
(Post Staff Correspondent).

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, Sept. 23.—The judges could have named either horse or called it a dead heat at the finish of the Penn Athletic Club Stake—the day's feature—and none but the judges could separate the pair. While some 10,000 awaited the verdict, the officials decided that the imported English colt, Old Master, from the Howe Stable, was the winner and Laughing Queen was second. The margin of victory will go down in the turf records as a nose, but a thin lip would be an exaggeration.

What a race! The boys were still discussing it as the horses went to the post for he seventh race.

Laughing Queen hotfooted it away from the barrier, leading the pack, but Johnny Gilbert soon brought Old Master up and with the clubhouse turn reached, was laying just off the fast pace set by Bobby Jones and his mount. Down the back stretch the pair winged with Laughing Queen still holding the advantage.

Both Jockeys Go to Whip.

They swung into the stretch with Laughing Queen fighting to hold its head in front and then both boys went to the whip. Neither was paying the slightest attention to the other as they pounded their mounts. At the sixteenth pole, Old Master nosed ahead but Laughing Queen again popped inches in front, only to have Gilbert's charge come with a leap at the wire.

And then the judges separated them.

Hanford Wins Opener Astride Primer.

Buddy Hanford started the day with a winner, Primer, from the Sage Stable, which defeated the 2-year-old maidens that paraded to the post in the rain. Town Square was second, with Harky third. The arrival of a shower brought a change in the betting, and the three horses that finished in the money were held equal choices in the final posted odds. Primer went to the front with the break, accompanied by Harky, but the latter fell back entering the stretch, and Town Square came up to take the place. The post-race odds showed Primer the choice by 10 cents over Town Square.

Hagerstown, fresh from defeats on the half-milers, came through with a stunning race to defeat Squeaky and Spinach in the second sprint. Hagerstown and Squeaky battled it out all the way, with the former taking a short lead in the stretch. As usual Hagerstown was a long shot, paying a mutuel of $38.

Ruane's Stretch Rush Wins the Third.

The short-price players were shut out in the third. Ruane, a 6-to-1 horse, took the purse with Drastic Delight second and Monocle third. Ruane came up in the stretch to win going away after being in the last flight most of the way. Scot Free, the favorite was pulled back at the start and ridden wide all the way.

The secondary feature went to Snaplock, from the Adolphe Pons stable, under a rousing ride by G. Woolf and again the favorite players took a beating. Snaplock paid $33.70. Royal Blunder was a fast-moving second with Hurryoff, the last minute favorite, third. Hurryoff and Bally Bay were first to show on top and ran head and head to the far turn, where the latter dropped out of it but the real battle was to come. Snaplock was first to move up, followed by Royal Blunder. At the end, Royal Blunder was wearing down the winner.

Hanford made it two winners for the day when he rode Aegis, the favorite, to an easy victory in the sixth. Blackstrap was second ahead of Raccoon.

Hanford's third victory came in the final with Fort Dearborn. He outrode W. Todd, who had Margaret Mc in front in the stretch. Syriac was third.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—PRIMER, $6.80, $3.60, $2.60; TOWN SQUARE, $3.30, $2.40; HARKY, $2.60.

PRIMER shook off keen contention from HARKY after the opening furlong, was kept under pressure and drew out slowly approaching the finish. TOWN SQUARE, hurried along from the start, secured racing room on the inside and finished with good courage. HARKY, stoutly ridden from the beginning, weakened steadily during the final drive. PARK moved up fast nearing the home stretch, but came extremely wide in the stretch run. BODKIN lost ground and could never menace the leaders. GOOD SENSE lacked early foot. POUSSIN weakened.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 2:50. Off at 2:50. Winner, J. D. Baker's b. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—HAGERSTOWN, $38 00, $10.20, $6.00; SQUEAKY, $3.60, $2.70; SPINACH, $2.80.

HAGERSTOWN, sent into the thick of contention, came through on the inside of SQUEAKY during the stretch run and was up in the final sixteenth mile. SQUEAKY, having good speed, went into a clear lead when approaching the home stretch, was taken out from the rail, and he weakened inside the final furlong. SPINACH, promising and well placed in the early racing, came again nearing the end to outstay PORGIE. Latter moved up on the outside, but hung during the closing furlong. ALL ROWES could not make up any ground when ridden hard. FERVID was outrun.

THIRD RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:25. Off at 3:25. Winner, W. R. Kirkpatrick's b. h. (6), by Behave Yourself—My Scots. Trained by F. Holman. Value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, 100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:49 2-5, 1:15 2-5, 1:42 3-5, 1:56 3-5.

*Field.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—RUANE, $14.70, $7.90, $5.50; DRASTIC DELIGHT, $27.20, $20.60; MONOCLE, $7.00.

RUANE, slow to reach his best stride, weaved his way into contention when reaching the final turn, assumed an even lead when straightened into the home stretch and came away smartly thereafter. DRASTIC DELIGHT, placed forwardly, came courageously in the closing test. MONOCLE dwelt when the break came, reached his field midway of the back stretch, and closed a good gap. IRISH MAIDEN, steadied in front for several furlongs, weakened badly when challenged. SCOT FREE dropped out of contention immediately and was steered a wide course for the entire trip. VANDAL and LUCKY CHINA stopped.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,000; allowances. The Mount Pleasant. For 2-year-olds, colts and geldings. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, handily. Time to post, 4.00. Off at 4:00½. Winner, A. Pryce's dk. br. or blk. c. (2), by Swift and Sure—Keyspring. Trained by R. Pryce. Value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24, 0:48 2-5, 1:13 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SNAPLOCK, $33.70, $12.90, $5.90; ROYAL BLUNDER, $6.60, $3.90; HURRYOFF, $2.90.

SNAPLOCK improved his speed after the initial furlong, wore the leaders down when reaching the home stretch and was up in the last fifty yards. ROYAL BLUNDER broke slowly, but had good speed to reach the field midway of the turn, secured racing room and was wearing SNAPLOCK down fast when finishing on the outside. HURRYOFF, kept in the thick of contention, raced BALLY BAY and SORCERY into defeat, but could not hold his lead when put to severe punishment. CARRY THE NEWS had little speed after breaking fast. He finished stoutly when in full stride. POMPOLEON raced evenly under strong urging. DAUDET was forced wide. KEGGY was outrun.

FIFTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,500; allowances. The Penn Athletic Club. For 3-year-olds. Start good from gates. Won driving; place easily. Went to post at 4:35. Off at 4:37. Winner, Hoyt Stable's b. c. (3), by Questionable—Sergos. Trained by by P. M. Walker. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $300; third, $150; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24, 0:48 4-5, 1:14 3-5, 1:40 4-5, 1:45 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—OLD MASTER, $16.20, $7.00, $3.60; LAUGHING QUEEN, $4.70, $3.00; MAD PURSUIT, $2.60.

OLD MASTER moved to LAUGHING QUEEN gradually when settled on the back stretch, responded stoutly to punishment inside the final furlong when on even terms with the pacemaker and, in a hard drive, was up in the final stride. LAUGHING QUEEN, rated in front and saving ground, fought it out stubbornly when put to a drive. MAD PURSUIT, outrun early, was forced to circle his field when offering contention and outstayed LADFIELD in the final furlong, who went well placed, but weakened nearing the finish. DYAK and FALL APPLE had no excuses.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won easily; place, same. Went to post at 5:05. Off at 5:05½. Winner, W. M. Lefforde's br. f. (4), by American Flag—Florence Weber. Trained by P. M. Burch. Value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:47 4-5, 1:14 2-5, 1:40 3-5, 1:48.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—AEGIS, $3.70, $2.80, $2.20; BLACKSTRAP, $3.70, $2.40; RACCOON, $2.60.

AEGIS, taken under restraint soon after the start, raced within striking distance of the leaders until approaching the home stretch, went into an easy lead and had much to reserve at the finish. BLACKSTRAP, pinched to get to the front going to the first turn, was headed while resisting RACCOON, shook the latter off, but was no match for the winner. RACCOON forced a steady pace until midway of the final turn and tired. MISS CORRINE and MAJOR GENERAL were never factors.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 5:35. Off at 5:40. Winner, G. W. Ogle's ch. g. (5), by Golden Guinea—Blaime. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:49, 1:15 1-5, 1:42 1-5, 1:53 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—FORT DEARBORN, $12.30, $5.50, $4.30; MARGARET MC, $5.00, $3.20; SYRIAC, $3.60.

PORT DEARBORN, well handled and allowed a mild breathing spell when reaching the far turn, was placed to punishment and, closing stoutly, disposed of MARGARET MC gradually nearing the finish. MARGARET MC, closer up than usual, took command without effort, but could not stall off the winner when put to a stout drive. SYRIAC, in tight quarters for six furlongs, came with good courage when clear. TARNISH improved her position in the final half mile, but could not reach a forward position. VIMONT showed improvement. WRACK ROYAL had a lot taken out of him from a slow start. KINGBIRD weakened, as did TANCRED and SHAWNEE.

Stocks Continue Advances Under Motors' Leadership

Final Rally Adds 1.2 Points in Lighter Turnover of 2,213,790 Shares.

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Stocks pulled away from a sag in commodity prices during today's late trading and closed with a fair average gain.

Through most of the session the market was higher, under leadership of rail and steel issues, but nervousness of wheat and cotton had a dampening effect around midafternoon and extreme advances of 1 to 3 points were virtually cancelled. However, a strong demonstration by the motor group in the final dealings proved a good tonic, and numerous pivotal issues in all groups finished net advances of a point or slightly more. Turnover dropped to 2,213,790 shares.

U. S. Steel common, up 2¼ at the best, all but yielded this advance and then braced to close 1¼ higher. The preferred was somewhat stronger. Chrysler, in a large turnover, rallied a couple of points closely followed by General Motors. American Tobacco "B," Case, Bethlehem, Youngstown, Western Union, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio, Northern Pacific and International Telephone showed gains of a point or better.

Corn Products, whose directors declared a regular dividend, was off. General Electric rallied nearly a point prior to its dividend declaration and then dropped back.

Strength of rails reflected Wall street's confidence that tomorrow's car loadings report, covering the week ended September 17, would disclose a larger than seasonal gain and brokers' estimates, compiled from available returns, placed the probable jump at 80,000 cars or more. Nothing was learned during market hours as to the Eastern consolidation meeting, but traders interested in rail shares did not lose sight of the fact that the executives were in session. Also, the street heard that an early formal announcement was likely on the appointment of a special commission to survey carefully the entire carrier situation.

The weekly business reviews continued to write cheerfully of retail and wholesale trade accomplishments and prospects, although the disappointing status of steel operations and some other heavy industries makes less pleasant reading. However, Bradstreet's said the opinion gleaned from its reports was that "business is slowly beginning a fundamental recovery" which itself could only be slow. Dun's found no reversal of the movement toward greater activity, mentioning the hardening of prices as a favorable aspect of the current position.

THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

What the Stock Market Did

	Friday.	Thursday.
Number of advances..	278	239
Number of declines...	210	350
Stocks unchanged.....	124	109
Total issues traded.	612	698

Stocks.

Motor issues led stocks out of losses into higher ground. Gains averaged 1.2 points. The turnover dropped to 2,213,790 shares.

Bonds.

Rails' strength failed to lift market out of decline. A loss of one-tenth was made. Volume of sales fell to $10,630,000.

Curb.

Prices were irregular in trend. Early gains lost some in profit taking. Utilities advanced; oils declined. Trading dropped to 210,000 shares.

Wheat.

Disappointment over fading export demand and larger planting in Argentina sent wheat down. That trend was followed also by corn and oats. September wheat sold for 50⅞ to 51 cents.

Cotton.

Rallies gave way to declines of 18 to 25 points. Southern selling was blamed. December closed at 7.30. Liverpool eased before the opening of local markets.

Waterbury Clock Firms Freed From Receivers

Waterbury, Conn., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—The receivership for the Waterbury Clock Co., and its subsidiary firms, the Ingersoll-Waterbury Co., and the Branch Time Co., was ordered terminated today by Judge Allyn L. Brown in Superior Court.

Stockholders of the Waterbury Clock Co. have accepted a refinancing plan offered by a group headed by James R. Sheldon for the purchase of $500,000 worth of preferred stock in the firm. The company's outstanding stock has been reduced from $4,000,000 to $2,000,000.

(Associated Press.)

LONDON—Trading was less active on the stock exchange. Irregularity in the specialty sections resulted from overnight Wall street news but a fair recovery occurred in transatlantic issues, oil shares and industrials in the afternoon. Gilt-edged securities were firmer throughout the day and the closing was steadier.

PARIS—Less favorable news from Wall street, coupled with week-end selling, created a certain indecision on the bourse, influencing dealings in most all international shares. An improvement set in later and a good portion of the losses were regained. The closing generally was well sustained.

BERLIN—Prices on the boerse fluctuated irregularly, closing with a slight recovery.

BOND MARKET SAGS IN QUIETER TRADING

Prices Decline One-tenth Despite Rail Aid; Sales, $10,630,000.

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Strength of a number of railroad issues made for a rather bright picture in the bond market today, but when all of the final gains and losses were counted, it was discovered that actually no headway had been made.

Nickel Plate 6s and Baltimore & Ohio 4½s reversed their sharp declines of the previous session in early trading and a number of other low-priced carrier loans joined in the rally. Gains of 1 to 3 or more points were scattered throughout this section at one time. Extreme advances, however, failed to hold, and various higher grade bonds were barely steady.

Most of the day's proceedings were characterized by dullness. Sales totaled only $10,630,000, par value, and the average for 60 corporate bonds was off one-tenth of a point.

Railroad loans that held substantial gains included some of Baltimore & Ohio, Boston & Maine, St. Paul, Rock Island, Erie, Missouri Pacific, Nickel Plate, New York Central, New Haven, Pennsylvania, Pere Marquette and Southern.

International telephones rallied more than a point. International Match 5s were heavily traded for a gain of 2 points. Shell Union Oil issues were weak and U. S. Rubber 5s dropped a point. Fisk Rubber 8s came to life with a gain of 4⅜ points. Most of the utilities and industrials were slightly irregular.

United States obligations were a trifle easier. In the foreign group the Argentines again recorded advances of from 1 to more than 6 points. Strength was also shown by bonds of Australia, New South Wales, Buenos Aires, Colombia, Denmark, Germany, Norway, Sweden and Uruguay.

Sugar Futures React.

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—After showing early advnces of 1 to 2 points sugar futures reacted under liquidation and commission house selling today.

Oil City, Pa., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Credit balance, $1.82; runs, 30,707; average runs, 28,088; shipments, 62,753; average shipments, 50,603.

Bankruptcy Fraud Charged Against United Cigar Stores

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Mortimer Hayes, appearing specially for several landlords, caused a stir at a meeting of creditors of the United Cigar Stores Co. of America and subsidiaries today when he expressed the belief that the bankruptcy proceeding was a fraudulent one.

Mr. Hayes said he desired to bring to light assets which had not been declared and which would "benefit the estate to the extent of several millions of dollars."

His announcement was met with vigorous objection from several quarters, and Referee Irwin Kurtz refused to permit him to proceed until he should have appeared fully in the proceedings and acknowledge the jurisdiction of the bankruptcy court. Several persons present said there wasn't any ground for Mr. Hayes' assertion.

It was brought out that United Cigar Stores operated through 1,100 agents as well as through its own stores in this district, and that 1931 sales through the agents had amounted to approximately $10,500,000. The agents retained 25 per cent of the sale price for themselves and paid a service charge. In 1931 the receipts from the agents were said to have represented a "small loss" to United Cigar Stores Co.

General Electric Dividends Regular

Corn Products to Pay the Usual 75 Cents on Common Shares.

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—The General Electric Co. today declared a regular quarterly dividend of 10 cents a share on the common stock. The usual quarterly payment of 15 cents a share on the special stock was also voted. Both dividends are payable October 25 to stock of record September 30.

Corn Products Refining Co. today declared a regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents a share on the common stock, payable October 20 to stock of record October 3.

Lehigh Valley Railroad today reported an August net operating deficit of $108,716 against income of $238,523 a year ago.

Southern Pacific reported August net operating income of $504,548 compared with $2,574,768 in the same month last year.

U. S. TREASURY RECEIPTS.

(Associated Press.)

Treasury receipts for September 21 were $5,940,799.57; expenditures, $10,155,232.74; balance $885,746,297.27; customs duties for 21 days of September, $16,708,967.62.

Cotton Gray Cloths Strong.

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Cotton gray clothes were strong in a quiet market today as buyers showed less interest on lower raw cotton.

Canada May Issue $50,000,000 Loan

Notes of $40,000,000 Are Due in New York on December 1.

Ottawa, Ontario, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Official sources disclosed today that Canada probably will issue an internal loan this fall. Suggestions are that it be for about $50,000,000, with interest at 4½ per cent.

Canada has treasury notes totaling $40,000,000 coming due in New York on December 1 at 4 per cent. The question of renewal of this loan in New York is to be considered by the Dominion government.

The new loan would be largely for the purpose of taking care of $34,000,000 balance of a war loan which is payable on November 1, it was said.

Heads of Ward Baking Company Resign Posts

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—George Morrow today resigned as chairman of the board of the Ward Baking Co. and Frederick K. Morrow, his brother, resigned as its president.

In his letter of resignation George K. said the two would be glad to continue on the executive committee of the company, but added that "we wish, however, to be relieved of the responsibilities of our present executive offices, inasmuch as we do not believe it is necessary that we continue in them, inasmuch as we will be required for some time to come to give a great deal of our attention to other interests."

CURB'S EARLY GAINS CUT IN PROFIT SALES

Some Utilities Closed Higher While Oils Lost; Sales, 210,000 Shares.

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—The curb market worked irregularly higher today, although early gains were partly washed away when profit-taking developed toward the close. Sales totaled 210,000 shares against 360,000 yesterday.

Electric Bond & Share rose 3 points at one time, but closed at 36 where it still retained a net gain of 1¼ points. American Gas & Electric gained more than a point while fractional advances were scored by American Light & Traction and United Light & Power "A." Cities Service was unchanged and Consolidated Gas of Baltimore reacted fractionally.

The oils were under moderate pressure, but held their ground tenaciously. The Standard issues were off fractionally, but Gulf Oil was unchanged.

Newmont Mining lost a substantial fraction. The Ford issues were steady and Deere & Co. overcome the influences of a slight shading in wheat prices by moving up a fraction.

More Nickel Plate Notes Deposited in Financing

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Additional deposits and assurances that further deposits would soon be made were received today by the Guaranty Trust Co. as depositary for the $20,000,000 6 per cent note issue of the New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad (Nickel Plate).

About 26 per cent of the total of outstanding notes have now been received, it was announced. The issue matures on October 1, and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has agreed to advance a loan to meet one-quarter of the total provided noteholders approve a plan for extending the remaining securities for three years.

Chrysler Stock Change Voted.

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—A change in the capital stock of the Chrysler Corporation from its present no par status to a par value of $5 a share was recommended to stockholders today by the board of directors. It was announced that a meeting of stockholders would be called soon to consider the proposal.

British Railways Decide To Extend Profits Pool

London, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—The plan adopted by two major British railroads, the London, Midlands & Scottish and the London & Northeastern, last July to pool profits and services for the purpose of scaling down losses and competition, is to be extended, the ministry of transport announced today.

The Great Western road is to be brought into the pool, the announcement said, wherever it overlaps the other two.

WHEAT VALUES LOSE ON EXPORT OUTLOOK

Increased Argentina Area Also Weakened Prices; Provisions Lower.

Chicago, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Breaks of more than a cent a bushel in wheat prices late today accompanied disappointment over fading of export demand. Increased selling here against purchases of wheat in other markets, Winnipeg in particular, tended further to pull values down, substituting net losses for earlier gains. An unofficial estimate that Argentina had increased her wheat area by 2,000,000 acres had a distinct bearish influence.

Wheat closed unsettled ⅛ to ⅜ under yesterday's finish; corn, also ⅛ to ½ down; oats, ¼ off to ⅛ up, and provisions unchanged to 8 cents lower.

Latest figures on new export business in North American wheat today put the total at only about 400,000 bushels, and there was no confirmation of talk that as much as 2,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat had been taken yesterday at the Pacific Coast for shipment overseas.

Early Trading Buoyant.

At first, however, wheat prices here showed an upward trend, helped by firmness of securities. For a while, too, bulls got encouragement from assertions that the trade had arrived at a period of decreasing rural movement and of smaller accumulation at market centers, and that preparations for big clearances of wheat were under way at Montreal.

In the last half of the day, though, a majority of wheat traders appeared to find less charm in stock market upturns, and expressed more belief that it would be difficult to advance wheat while the movement of the new Canadian crop was in progress. Advices were at hand meanwhile indicating that many countries of western Europe have larger crops than expected, and that native offerings abroad were coming forward freely. It was likewise pointed out that although Canadian marketings showed considerable falling off, the amount reported today, 3,401,000 bushels, contrasted with only 494,000 a year ago.

Corn and oats sagged with wheat and as a result of evidence that in the last three days 900,000 bushels of corn had been booked to arrive in Chicago.

Provisions finally reflected setbacks of hog values.

COTTON PRICES DROP ON SOUTHERN SALES

December Closes at 7.30 as 18-to-25-Point Losses Mark Trading.

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Cotton was generally lower today, with rallies from an opening decline followed by renewed weakness in the later trading under liquidation combined with Southern and local selling.

December contracts, after selling off to 7.35 at the start, rallied to 7.50, or 1 point above yesterday's closing quotation, but broke to 7.30 in the late trading and closed at that figure. The final tone was barely steady at net declines of 18 to 25 points.

The opening was 10 to 21 points lower in response to the showing of Liverpool, which declined sharply after an early advance, and appearance of some Southern selling, apparently to hedging.

October worked up from 7.22 to 7.40 and March from 7.47 to 7.65, or back to about Thursday's close, but this bulge brought in more Southern pressure and closing prices were at the lowest of the day, with October at 7.19 and March 7.43.

Liverpool was relatively firm early, but eased off before the local opening. Private cables said that covering there on the rain news had been supplied by hedging and realizing. Liverpool closing quotations for delivery during 1933-34 were 7 points net lower at 5.84 for December, 1933, and 5.90 for May, 1934. Exports today, 10,186, making 945,990 so far this season. Port receipts, 103,989. U. S. port stocks, 3,522,043.

Lancashire Cotton Mills Strike Is Ended by Pact

Manchester, England, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Mill owners and union representatives trying to end the cotton strike in the Lancashire district reached an agreement today on wages and began considering reinstatement of men on strike.

The wage agreement is a compromise which will mean a reduction of about 8 1-3 per cent in pay for the men. The problem of reinstatement also is delicate, although it concerns principally not more than 2,000 strikers. On their reinstatement two conferences already have split.

BUSINESS RECOVERY IS MAKING PROGRESS

55 Leading Cities Report Gradual Wholesale and Retail Upturn.

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—The weekly mercantile reviews today said that seasonal recovery in retail and wholesale trade had been sustained this week.

Bradstreet's Weekly reported the general opinion in its comments from 55 leading cities was "that business is slowly beginning a fundamental recovery."

"That this recovery can only be slow is generally realized; there are still complicated problems for which no satisfactory solutions have been found. But the marked trend away from abject dispair and toward a sober but confident attitude is highly encouraging."

Although retail trade in general is indicated as spotty, said the review, fall goods have met a fairly good demand, especially in department stores. Wholesaling and light manufacturing lines are seasonally busy, although collections have not yet shown marked improvement.

"The general movement toward increased business activity," stated Dun's, "has experienced no reverse, although there was a general leveling of gains this week, with volume spreading in some directions. The rising confidence in fall trade, encouraged by an active consumer response for higher-priced merchandise, has brought about a new faith. The hardening of prices * * * is awakening manufacturers, distributors and consumers to a realization of the changed conditions."

Insurance Agents Elect.

Philadelphia, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Charles L. Gandy, of Birmingham, Ala., today was elected president of the National Association of Insurance Agents in convention here. Allan I. Wolff, of Chicago, was elected to the chairmanship of the executive committee.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—New State and municipal bond financing scheduled for offering next week totals $17,502,413, says the Daily Bond Buyer. This is about double volume for the past week, but slightly under the yearly average to date.

The Bogalusa Paper Co., Inc., of Bogalusa, La., announced today that it would start immediately plant improvements involving an expenditure of $1,250,000. The company manufactures Kraft wrapping and bag papers, container board and specialties. It has been operating at full capacity all this year.

St. Louis-San Francisco Railroad System reports net loss of $631,907, against loss of $66,026 in the same month last year.

The American Banker announced today that bank suspensions throughout the country totaled fifteen this week, an increase of four over last week. There were no reopenings.

Southern Kraft Corporation, a division of International Paper Co., today announced an immediate minimum advance of $2.50 a ton on Kraft liner board prices, the first rise in more than eighteen months.

There were no new bond offerings in the New York district this week. Last

RAINSTORM CAUSES TRAFFIC TIE-UPS AS MERCURY PLUNGES

Several Trees Uprooted as Downpour Is Accompanied by 30-Mile Wind.

Driven by a 30-mile-an-hour wind, a heavy equinoctial rain broke through glowering clouds yesterday afternoon, causing a sharp temperature drop as the first day of autumn began to fade.

Several large trees were blown down in different sections of the city, providing impediments for late afternoon traffic. Fire apparatus worked for fifteen minutes moving a tree that toppled across the roadway at Tenth and K streets northwest, tying up the vehicular stream. No damage was caused.

Traffic Jams Reported.

Accompanied by considerable electrical display and several reverberating thunderclaps, the shower tapered off to a steady drizzle. A number of minor traffic jams were reported as motorists made their way cautiously along wet streets. Special police details were rushed to strategic points to keep traffic moving.

The main shower came just after 4 o'clock, although rain began to fall an hour before. Early last night Weather Bureau officials estimated the rainfall as 1.54 inches.

Mercury Falls.

The temperature dropped to 76 at 4 o'clock from a day's high at 84 and at 6 o'clock had declined to 67. It was expected to show a slight further descent as the night progressed.

Motorists caught by the storm flooded the American Automobile Association for a short while with calls for help in starting wet motors. The automobile organization estimated it handled 250 calls within the space of an hour and a half.

Autumn was officially ushered in at 1:48 a. m. yesterday morning, and before the storm clouds gathered it appeared that summer was striving to keep its place on the calendar longer than is allotted it.

Man, 70, Gravely Hurt By Auto; Boy Arrested

Harry Kolodin, 70 years old, of 1008 I street northeast, suffered a possible fracture of the skull last night when knocked down by an automobile as he crossed the street near Fifteenth and H streets northeast.

Police said the elderly man was struck by the machine of Mike Bluzzese, 17 years old, of Capitol Heights, Md. Bluzzese was taken to the Ninth Precinct Station, charged with reckless driving and released under a bond of $500.

Woman Ends 33 Years In Government Service

After 33 years Government service, Miss Margaret S. Cartan, of the United States Tariff Commission staff, retired yesterday. She was presented with a wrist watch and purse of gold by fellow workers at a luncheon tendered her.

Miss Cartan, who was born in Wisconsin, entered the Bureau of Census in 1899. She began service with the Tariff Commission in 1922, after serving with several other Government departments. She lives at the Continental Hotel.

Chimney Bird Was Cricket Above Hearth

When a bird isn't a bird, what is it? This perplexing problem in ornithology was successfully solved yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Victor Mastropaolo, of the Sixth Precinct, who was sent to the home of Walter O. Allen, 5907 Seventh street northwest, to liberate "a bird caught in the chimney."

After much labor and perspiring, the policeman emerged from the small chimney flue with a large black cricket in his hand.

CHEST FORMS UNIT TO COMBAT CRITICS

"Advance Guard" to Spread Authentic Data on Charity Work.

To combat the "usual array of misinformation" regarding the Community Chest "prevalent at every campaign time," plans are being made by the executive council of the Chest to form an "Advance Guard" to be composed of groups who will spread authentic information.

H. S. Fitz, captain of the guard, outlined plans for formation of the "Advance Guard" at a meeting of executive council yesterday at the Y. W. C. A. Each executive was asked to enlist the services of all staff members of his own agency in the movement.

Mr. Fritz stressed the desirability of reading newspapers for information on Community Chest organizations and of studying those organizations at first hand.

The "Advance Guard" in cooperation with the Chest speakers' bureau, will also arrange to furnish speakers for any group desiring information in regard to welfare activities.

Members of the "Advance Guard" will wear lapel buttons, indicating their connection. They will be expected at all times to challenge unfair criticism of the Chest.

Hotel Proprietor, 83, Denies Liquor Charge

Joseph Schladt, 83-year-old hotel proprietor on Wisconsin avenue, pleaded not guilty yesterday in Police Court at a preliminary hearing on a charge of possession of liquor.

The elderly proprietor was arrested by police after a secret agent is alleged to have purchased a small amount of liquor from Schladt, who had operated his hotel uninterruptedly for 50 years.

Police Asked to Search For High School Pupil

Police yesterday were asked to look for Donald J. Walker, 16-year-old Western High School student, who left his home at 2216 Tunlaw road yesterday morning, and has not been seen since.

The boy's father, Arthur Walker, said that his son had no money when he left home, and that as far as he knew the boy had no extra clothing. School officials said that he did not attend classes yesterday.

GASOLINE PRICE CUT 3.2 CENTS A GALLON BY MAJOR CONCERNS

Oversupply and Competition Held Cause of Drastic Reduction.

Gasoline prices were cut 3.2 cents per gallon yesterday by all major wholesalers in this area and the motor fuel was being retailed at 14.2 per gallon for straight "gas" yesterday and 17.2 for the high-test variety.

American Oil Co. high-test gasoline, which was also cut 3.2 cents a gallon, was selling at 19.2 cents per gallon, this type of motor fuel having been retailed previously at 22.4 cents.

Large distributors announced expectations that independent dealers would fall in line with the price cut. Among the major companies slashing prices were Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, the Texas Co., the Sun Oil Co., the American Oil Co. and a number of other important wholesalers.

Slash Termed Drastic.

The cut was the most drastic in thirteen years, gasoline company officials said.

In a formal statement, the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey explained the reductions were made necessary "by conditions of oversupply and widespread price cutting." The marketing area of the latter company embraces New Jersey, Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, District of Columbia, North and South Carolina.

Another factor involved in the gasoline price reduction was the probable oversupply existing because of large importations before the gasoline tariff of 2½ cents a gallon went into effect last June 21.

Spot Tank Car Prices.

The Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey also announced that spot tank car prices of regular gasoline are, 6 cents a gallon f. o. b., Bayonne, Bayway, Baltimore, Sewells Point, Va.; Wilmington, and Charleston, S. C., and 6.5 cents a gallon at Parkersburg, W. Va.

Recent low tank car prices of gasoline, with a spread between this rate and the retail rate of sometimes as much as 8 cents, are believed by oil men to have encouraged price cutting by independent distributors and the reduction of the larger concerns is believed to be a move to combat this situation.

It was explained yesterday that the actual retail price of gas is now only 11.2 cents per gallon, there being a 1 cent Federal tax and a 2 cent District tax on each gallon.

Robbers Take $6 In Shower Holdup

Under Cover of Downpour, Two Youths Loot Till at Pistol Point.

Using the storm yesterday afternoon to camouflage their movements, two young men held up the manager of a Palace laundry office at 1707 Connecticut avenue and escaped through a downpour of rain with $6.

Mrs. Nora Osborne, of 1930 Eighteenth street, who was alone in the shop, told police that the men waited outside until a customer had gone. They entered then and while one of them covered her with a gun, the other looted the till.

Both bandits were young, Mrs. Osborne said. One of them wore a light cap and the other a felt hat. They were wearing raincoats.

Alleged Victim of Auto Sues Father of Driver

Henry C. Selzer, a barber, of 1308 Connecticut avenue, yesterday brought suit in District Supreme Court against Joseph Ottenstein, 3712 Livingston street northwest, for $25,000 damages. The suit charged that Stanley K. Ottenstein, 19-year-old son of the defendant, had carelessly operated his father's automobile and had struck Mr. Selzer.

The suit alleges that Mr. Selzer was walking across Connecticut avenue and I street when the machine operated by the younger Selzer and owned by his father, ran into him, causing severe injuries. The accident happened March 5 last.

Bridge Leap Scare Proves False Alarm

The report of a woman leaping from the P Street Bridge near Twenty-second street northwest, last night sent police cars, an ambulance and the Fire Department Rescue Squad scurrying to the scene.

For more than half an hour the muddy waters of Rock Creek flowing beneath the span were searched for the victim's body. Hundreds of persons gathered and traffic was at a standstill.

In the Third Police Precinct Station sat Jefferson Coles, of 1328 Twenty-second street northwest. It was his wife, Dorothy, who was said to have jumped from the bridge, and it was he who had called police.

Back at the span a woman pushed her way through the crowd and approached a policeman. She informed him that she was the one for whom the search was being conducted.

The couple was detained at the station for questioning and later released.

All Used-Car Dealers Must Obtain Licenses

Automobile dealers who take second-hand cars in trade and dispose of them are second-hand dealers under the terms of the District license act and are thereby liable to prosecution unless they obtain proper licenses upon payment of $50, Corporation Counsel William W. Bride yesterday informed the Commissioners.

A previous ruling by the Commissioners on October 13, 1931, that such automobile dealers need no second-hand dealers' licenses "was without authority of law," Mr. Bride declared.

Commissioners Request PulaskiCommemoration

The District Commissioners yesterday issued a proclamation calling upon Washingtonians to observe October 11 in memory of the death of Brig. Gen. Casimir Pulaski, Polish patriot, killed during the Revolutionary War while defending Savannah, Ga.

As a part of the George Washington Bicentennial celebration, the United States flag is to be displayed appropriately on all municipal buildings, and school authorities and churches are asked to hold suitable exercises.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

TO those who think that because comedians are funny they must necessarily lead a gay and perpetually irresponsible life, it will no doubt come as a surprise that Olsen and Johnson, for example, work like horses originating and perfecting the material that panics audiences in theaters and sitting before loudspeakers.

A great deal of their material, I imagine, they do not originate but buy over the counter by the yard. Which does not at all mean that they do not still work like horses! Close observers attending the Earle this week, where these aptly termed "maniacs of monkey 'business'" are furnishing the stage portion of the bill with their "Atrocities of 1932" will be able to note for themselves whether Olsen and Johnson are on a joyride or really working up there on that stage. I made up my own mind about it years ago.

It was back in the old days when B. F. Keith's was in its heyday as one of the country's ace two-a-day houses and on the corner stood what they say must not come back, when it was impressed upon me the way these boys labor at their business of manufacturing laughter. Their skit that season was one in which Mr. Olsen, unless it is Mr. Johnson, was supposed to be late and finally came dashing in from the front of the house and did most of his clowning out there in the aisles. A great deal of it he happened to do right beside my aisle seat. And did he work! I mean WORK.

If you have ever stood beside a dynamo you have a rough idea. Nervous energy exuded from Mr. Johnson, unless it was Mr. Olsen, to a degree that made it wholly understandable why a 20-minute act left him limp as a dishrag and just about as wet. The implication is meant to be not that he was "all wet," as the saying goes, but that he splattered perspiration about him like a lawn sprinkler on a rampage.

So, in case you have wondered why actors always speak of having "worked" with so-and-so, or in this theater or that, or in this production or that, instead of "played," it is because that is precisely what they do—WORK! And don't let anyone tell you different.

Speaking of past events in the theater, those who attended the congressional preview of "Cimarron" at RKO-Keith's many months ago, will probably remember that the exotic and vivid Miss Estelle Taylor, in a brief stage experience, bespoke the distinguished audience's kindly interest in the performance of Miss Irene Dunne in the role of Sabra Cravat. Miss Taylor pointed out that Miss Dunne was making her screen debut in the part, and that it was an assignment of formidable dimensions. Miss Dunne's portrayal of the character, of course, immediately became the subject of enthusiastic encomiums and pulsating panygrics throughout the Nation.

But what I am leading up to—I hope—is that fine as Irene Dunne's impersonation of Sabra was, it gave no hint of such consummate art as she now, two years later, brings to the role of Ray Schmidt in "Back Street," current at the Rialto, proudly reopened after months of darkness.

By the naturalness, fine intelligence and sympathetic discernment of her work, Miss Dunne makes Ray a definite, charming and infinitely pathetic personality, more real, more believable and more wholesome than she was frequently made to appear in Fannie Hurst's sometimes tawdry story.

Miss Dunne no longer may be omitted from the list of our foremost actresses.

So quick has been the grapevine intelligence that "Back Street"—to which John Boles also contributes generously—is an admirable picture that overflow patronage was attracted to the Rialto as early as yesterday's first performance. A box-office line that extended down Ninth street and around the corner into G awaited the opening of the theater, and at the end of the first show a lobby lockout was patiently waiting for seats—recalling those remote days of 1918, when the house was new and led the town in popularity.

The suspicion is beginning to creep upon me that those ostensibly interested persons who were so anxious to have their jottings find their way into print, got their wires seriously crossed as to where the Mesdames Louise Thaden and Frances Marsalis, of "Flying Boudoir" fame, would be during their visit to Washington, and when!

Word finds its way across the water, and reference is not made to that which is falling in torrents outside the window as this is written of a rainy Friday afternoon, that Emlyn Williams, a young English actor, who once was seen in America in a very small part in Mr. James Fagan's "And So to Bed," and who since has established a place for himself on the London stage, has been engaged by Guthrie McClintic to act in New York the role he played in the London production of the late Edgar Wallace's "The Case of the Frightened Lady."

Williams was in the cast of "On the Spot," another Wallace play, and recently has appeared in "Etienne." He also is the author of a successful drama, "A Murder Has Been Arranged," which was produced in St. James Theater, London, and of another play, "Port Said," recently done in the British metropolis.

How he must annoy that indefatigable Nemesis of the alien actor, Congressman Dickstein, busiest of the professional keeper-outers!

Short jolts from a tour of the play places: The supporting ensemble with Sally Eilers, Ben Lyon and Ginger Rogers in "Hat Check Girl," bristling with such personalities as Richard Carle, Helen Chandler, Richard Tucker, Joyce Compton, Arthur Housman and Eulalie Jensen, although their names are not even mentioned . . . Betty Blythe, once a star, similarly doing a meager "bit" in "Back Street" . . . Trying to look in on the dancing at "Arabian Nights," Meyer Davis' new establishment under the Earle, on a Thursday night, when dancing there is only Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday evenings . . . Jim Barton's progressive souse on the stage bill at Loew's Fox, in which he begins slightly jingled and winds up magnificently swackled . . . The triple-time hoofing of the same artist in the same spot . . . The newsreel shot showing Al Smith dropping polls of thought while peddling the old erl as editor of the New Outlook . . . A load of the troupe with Olsen and Johnson at the Earle . . . May Robson's acid-and-iron mother-in-law in "Strange Interlude" . . . The brown boys' "Harlem Fantasy" singing, so the customers can sit back and relax during the prison camp scenes, in "Hell's Highway" . . . Louise Fazenda's funny falls in "Union Wages," the Rialto's comedy . . . Borrah Minevitch's musicianship and Irene Bordoni's paprika . . . The murderous impulses inspired by that wad of gum about the size of a cantaloupe picked up on a perfectly good sport shoe . . . Or maybe it wasn't such a good sport, after all!

The gum was probably dropped by the wriggly young woman sitting directly in front!

Former Follies Beauty Jailed as Disorderly

A former Follies beauty, Anna E. Neibel, is in the District Jail serving a short sentence for disorderly conduct. Miss Neibel is the wife of Ray McIntyre, once a sailor in the United States Navy.

She was arrested on a warrant which her mother secured, and was placed on probation. When she returned to her home and found the door locked she went to the House of Detention to stay for the evening. There she quarreled with a woman inmate, and was taken to the District Jail. Miss Neibel once sued Manuel Herrick, a representative from Oklahoma for $50,000 for breach of promise.

Woman Hurt in Cab Collision.

A woman passenger was painfully injured yesterday afternoon when the cab in which she was riding was struck by another car at Seventh street and New York avenue. The woman, Mrs. Helen Wilson, of the Fairfax Hotel, Twenty-first street and Massachusetts avenue, was admitted to Emergency Hospital suffering from a sprained back and shock.

WASHINGTON AREA REGIONAL TRAFFIC STUDY COMPLETED

Results of Year's Survey to Form Basis for Better Highway Facilities.

After a survey encompassing 250 points on highways within a 30-mile radius of Washington, the Washington regional area traffic survey has been completed. It began on September 10, 1931, and it is estimated several millions of vehicles were observed during the year's study.

Results of the survey will be used to determine the average density of vehicular movement on the highways in the Washington area. The figures are expected to serve as an accurate basis for the development of a comprehensive and connected system of main highways in the area and a priority program of highway construction and betterment.

How Survey Was Made.

Suitable belt lines, relief roads or necessary relocations may be decided upon as a result of the survey, it is indicated. Final figures are not yet available. A corps of experts who have engaged in such studies in many sections of the country are poring over the statistics derived from the survey.

Most of the counts were made between 6 a. m. and 10 p. m., but the remaining hours were also made the subject of observations at the same points. More than 113,000 post cards have been mailed to the Bureau of Public Roads in connection with campaign by motorists, giving information needed in the survey.

Participating Agencies.

Supervised by the Bureau of Public Roads, the survey was conducted at the request of the following agencies, which also contributed half of the field expenses:

The District of Columbia, the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, the Maryland State Roads Commission, the Virginia State Highway Commission, the City of Alexandria, Va., the Maryland National Park and Planning Commission, Arlington County, Va., Fairfax County, Va., Prince Georges County, Md., and Montgomery County, Md.

Commissioners Approve Plans for 2 New Schools

The District Commissioners yesterday approved plans and specifications for two new schools, and the chief clerk of the engineer department was instructed to advertise for bids.

Plans are for a four-room school on Foxhall road, between Q street and Volta place, to be built at an estimated cost of $95,000, and for an eight-room school on the site of the Keene School, Concord avenue, between Blair road and First street northeast, at a cost of $105,000.

Delivery Truck Looted.

Merchandise valued at $175 was stolen from a Woodward & Lothrop delivery truck yesterday afternoon, police were told, while the driver, Albert Carpenter, of Park Lane, Va., was making a delivery at the Westchester Apartments.

NORMA SHEARER-CLARK GABLE
NELSON B. BELL-Post
—"A tremendous forward step in the technique of motion picture preparation and production."
MABELLE JENNINGS-Herald
—"An intelligent screen offering, well thought out and executed with rare discrimination."
ANDREW R. KELLEY-Times
"O'Neill's searching analysis of a woman's soul, of her secret thoughts, yearnings and desires—done with commendable understanding, acted beautifully by Norma Shearer in both voice and expression."
ELEANORE WILSON-News
"Sharp, poignant and uncompromising, it deftly establishes Norma Shearer as one of the first ladies of the screen."
BOB PHILLIPS-Star
"—Has retained all that was essential of psychology and plot in the play. Those compelling characterizations, which saved it from turning into a mere coldblooded, laboratory study of humanity."
